Wholesale Prices Up In January

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices climbed 0.8 per cent in January, the Labor Department reported today. It was the second consecutive month that they had risen by that level.

Most of the January spurt in the wholesale price index came from farm and food products, which rose 1.3 per cent. Raw agricultural products, which comprise most of this category, are not covered by price controls.

The closely-watched industrial commodities index was up 0.5 per cent and consumer goods rose 0.4 per cent for the month.

When adjusted for seasonal variation, January's wholesale prices showed a rise of 0.4 per cent with farm and food products climbing 0.2 per cent, industrial commodities up 0.4 per cent and consumer finished goods 0.3 per cent higher.

On an unadjusted basis, wholesale prices —which often presage changes at the retail level —rose 0.8 per cent in both December and January, the first two full months after the lifting of the 90-day wage-price freeze.

The administration had said prices would rise during the transition period following the freeze.

The sharp rise in the volatile farm price index was due to substantial increases for hogs, cattle, chickens, raw cotton and milk. Meat, poultry and fish prices were also up while fresh fruits and grains declined.

Higher prices for steel and other metals granted by the Price Commission was the chief cause of the increase in industrial commodities.

Lumber and wood products were unusually high for this season, officials said, primarily due to the continued boom in housing construction.

Prices for fuel, textiles, motor vehicles, concrete products and cigarettes also moved up.

In the consumer goods category, which parallels the consumer price index, foods dropped 0.1 per cent after a sharp rise the previous month. Nondurable goods were up 0.4 per cent and durables rose 0.3 per cent.

The overall wholesale price index for January was 116.3, 4 per cent higher than in January, 1971. Based on a 1967 average of 100? this means a selected sample of wholesale goods that cost $10 four years ago would have cost $11.63 last month.

Nixon, Chou In Pledge For Close Future Ties

Fatigue Wears In At Talks

PEKING (UPI) — Chou En-lai pledged tonight after four days of intensive summit talks with President Nixon to "work unswervingly" to promote friendship and normalization of relations with the United States.

Nixon, noticeably fatigued and somber, said in a banquet toast a few hours after the latest meeting with Chou that he hoped "peace and harmony can be the destiny ny of our two peoples."

Nixon expressed hope during his remarks, at the banquet he hosted in the Great Hall of the People, for "a new world order in which nations of people with different systems and different values can live together in peace ... letting history rather than the battlefield be the judge of their different ideas."

The President told Chou and the other 500 guests: "We began our talks recognizing that we have great differences. But we are determined that those differences not prevent us from living together in peace."

In response, Chou agreed with Nixon there are wide differences between the two systems of government but declared:

"It is the common desire of the Chinese and American people to enhance their mutual understanding and friendship and promote the normalization of relations between China and the United States.

"The Chinese government and people will work unswervingly toward this goal."

Nixon, as host at the gala dinner in the two-storied banquet room of the Great Hall, spoke first. He and Chou only a short time before had completed an hour and a half talk that extended the total of their formal negotiations since Monday to 14 1-2 hours.

As he did during a visit to the Great Wall of China on Thursday, Nixon said he hoped that his talks with the Chinese leaders would begin "the long process" of removing a wall of hostility between the two nations.

Chou, who will accompany Nixon from Peking to Hangchow Saturday, said of their discussions:

"There exists great difference of principle between our two sides. Through earnest and

Readers' Views On Nixon Visit

Many Marin and Southern Sonoma residents approve of President Richard M. Nixon's summit trip to Peking, but they're not sure what, if anything, will result from it, the Independent-Journal has learned from a sampling of public opinion.

Interviews with 27 persons picked at random from telephone books or in streets and stores produced 20 reactions favoring the Nixon trip, five opposed and two who would not say whether it was good or bad.

Several citizens voiced suspicion that the trip would do more politically for Nixon in the coming presidential election than it would for the nation or the world. One said she hoped the summit talk would lead to freedom for United States prisoners of war in Southeast Asia, and one Russian-born exile warned that Nixon should do nothing to impair separate, balancing actions of capitalism and communism.

Questioned whether they approved Nixon's journey and what they thought would result, the citizens — who must share, for good or ill, whatever the fateful consequences of the historic presidential journey, gave these opinions:

LaPreal Fouts, "over 40," dry cleaning shop owner, 5 Front Street, Novato — "I feel a little skeptical about it, but maybe it's a good thing. I don't think anything specific will result from it right away. Possibly in the next few months we might see some developments . . . I feel it's going to be a good thing."

James G. Miller, 57, a real estate salesman 1210 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael: "I face the inevitable. You just can't ignore 700 million people." Miller said he hoped for a "better vision" on the part of U.S. and mainland Chinese leaders as a result of Nixon's trip.

Karen Byrne, 31, housewife, 78 Mount Tallac Court, Lucas Valley: approved of Nixon's journey because of the potential "for better U.S.-Sino relations," but wondered whether the underlying purpose of the trip might be to "put a feather in Nixon's cap."

Tom Phelps, 24, methadone patient, Marin Open House, San Rafael: "If it's purely a political move to smile and get pictures taken together, then it's a waste of time. If it's a step toward world peace, beautiful."

Dorothy Dray, 50, housewife, of 83 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael: "It's hard to say. I think there are a lot of things he could be doing over here instead of going to China."

Michael Dalton, 19, hardware store clerk, 1137 Fourth Street, San Rafael: "It's good to get involved with other countries. The Chinese people themselves are getting a look at our country's president and being able to read about him."

Judy Frankel, 18, freshman, Dominican College, San Rafael: "It's not a realistic thing. I don't think his going to China will help relations with other countries. It will create animosity towards the United States in other countries of the free world."

New President For Red China

HONG KONG (UPI)—Tung Pi-wu, 86, has been named acting president of China to succeed deposed President Liu Shao-chi, the New China News Agency (NCNA) disclosed today.

The disclosure came in a message sent from Tung to Sabah al-Salem al-Sabah, the Emir of Kuwait, greeting the Kuwait National Day.

The agency identified Tung as "acting chairman (president) of the People's Republic of China."

Mao Tse-tung is chairman of the Chinese Communist Party.

Growth Control Asked For Novato

By FRANK FARRARA

Novato residents last night recommended planning that would preserve the semi-rural character of the Novato area, limit growth and protect the environment.

They said they want a family oriented residential community, but with some diversification to develop local jobs.

Their hopes for the future were in reports from five neighborhood committees to the Novato Planning Commission, proposing revisions to the Novato Area General Plan.

Committees called for limiting growth, one calling for a maximum population of 60,000 and another for 70,000 to 80,000 in the next 30 years.

"If the community is allowed to develop . . . as permitted in the present master plan, reaching in time a population of 175,000, those values which we feel make Novato a unique and special place to live will be destroyed," Committee Three reported.

The Novato General Plan area extends beyond the present city limits, including Loma Verde, Black Point and the unincorporated area to the southwest.

The residents opposed commercial aviation development at Hamilton Air Force Base, two committees outright, and the others with the comment that limited feeder service might be acceptable.

Harold K. Blue of Committee Four, summed up the sentiment of residents, when he said: "An attempt to build a city like San Francisco isn't what is wanted in Novato."

Planning 6ommissioner Beverly Ehreth said she "was thrilled" with the recommendation for an environmental study to provide the basis for an environmental policy in the general plan. "As citizens we do have the right to control our environment, rather than be manipulated by outside forces," she said.

While the citizen committees generally agreed on growth, environment anF character of the community, they differed on the need for low and moderate income housing, a regional shopping center and a rapid transit system.

Commissioners commended the committees for their work, and said their recommendations will be considered by the planning staff as it prepares revisions to the city's general plan.

About 40 persons attended the session, and it was agreed they would be kept notified as work on the plan progresses, so they would have further chances to comment.

Some of the recommendations of the committees were:

COMMITTEE ONE, covering west of Highway 101 and north of Novato Boulevard, called for a comprehensive environmental study by Jan. 1, 1973.

Until there is a specific environmental policy in the general plan "any future development, which in the opinion of the planning commission, would have a detrimental effect on the environment" should receive an environmental impact study before permission to proceed, the committee recommended.

The rural atmosphere of Novato should be preserved but a population limit shouldn't be established until the environmental study is completed, committee one reported.

"The consensus was that Novato will probably remain a bedroom community while encouraging reasonable development of an employment center for Novato residents," the committee said.

The committee also recommended an environmental impact study before any agreements are made for expanded joint military-civilian use at Hamilton Air Force Base.

COMMITTEE TWO, east of Highway 101 including Bel Marin Keys and Black Point, opposed joint use of the air base "because of noise and other environmental considerations."

NIXON'S 'PRICELESS' GIFT

Porcelain Swans For China's Mao

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)— President Nixon carried a pair of "priceless" life-sized porcelain swans to China as gifts for Chairman Mao Tse-tung, a Memphis porcelain dealer said today.

"The swans are the most magnificant work I have ever seen," dealer Robert Crump told the Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Crump said he is a friend of the widow of ceramic artist Edward Marshall Boehm, maker of the birds and founder of one of the most famous porcelain works in the world in Trenton, N.J.

"There is really no way to place a value on them," Crump told the newspaper. "Offers of $250,000 have been turned down."

The largest of the pair of white birds is the male and it stands 5½ feet tall. The 250-pound sculpture is titled "Bird of Peace, Mute Swans," Crump said.

"Mrs. Boehm (who is carrying on her husband's business) consulted many people, including orintholo gists, and they thought it would be the perfect bird to represent peace," said Crump.

He said the inscription on the gift reads:

"To his excellency Chairman Mao Tse-tung and the people of the People's Republic of China from President Richard Nixon and the people of the United States of America."

Crump said that only four pairs of life-sized swans were produced by the Boehm company. One of the remaining three will be given to the White House, one will be used in a traveling exhibition and the future of the fourth is unknown, he said.

Crump speculated that the fourth pair might be presented as a state gift on President Nixon's upcoming visit to Moscow.

Eighteen other porcelain figures —all but one of them birds—will also be presented to dignataries in China, according to Crump.

Leap From Span's South End Is Fatal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — An unidentified man of about 26 leaped from the south end of Golden Gate bridge today, hit a girder and crashed through a roof in Old Fort Point directly under the span.

The Fort Point Museum was closed to visitors for the day because of the incident.

Belfast Minister Is Shot In Head

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—John Taylor, Home Affairs Minister of the Northern Ireland government, was shot in the head today outside his office in Armagh, police said.

Taylor, 24, is head of Northern Ireland's security network and a prime target for extremists among the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Bombs In Belfast

BELFAST Northern Ireland (UPI) — Explosions and fire hit targets in Belfast and several Ulster cities today in the second consecutive day of bomb and arson attacks in the capital and outlying areas.

An explosion ripped through a bus station in Antrim, severely damaging the building and 13 buses, and fire razed an unmanned customs post near Londonderry, the army said.

Bombs smashed two phonograph record shops in the center of Belfast, touching off bursts of anger among shoppers against the outlawed Irish Republican Army (IRA).

An army spokesman said two men carrying guns planted the Wellington Place bomb and set a five-gallon drum of gasoline beside it to feed flames when the bomb blew up.

Just before that blast, a youth bicycled up to another record shop in Queen's Arcade, a few hundred yards away, police said. He parked and locked his bike than ran.

Police tried to clear the area and the bicycle bomb exploded, slightly injuring a British soldier, a policeman and five civilians. All were treated in hospitals for flying glass cuts, police said.

$5 Million Ransom

BONN (UPI) — The West German government paid $5 million in ransom for the release of the Lufthansa 747 jumbo jet and its 14-member crew hijacked to Aden, Transportation Minister Georg Leber said today.

Leber said a special messenger sent from Bonn paid the money in Lebanon to representatives of a group belonging to the Front For the Liberation of Palestine.

Cancer Detection

NEW YORK (UPI) — Deaths from cancer of the womb can be cut sharply by use of a new system for early detection of the disease, several leading gynecologists said Thursday.

Doctors from medical schools of the Universities of Chicago, Columbia, Texas and Alabama told a news conference that the new system, "the Gravlee jet washer" is efficient, reliable and cheap.

Dr. L. Clark Gravlee, who developed the device over a 12-month period, said early detection of cancer of the womb was critical in treating the disease. He said 3,500 women died of the jisease in 1970.

Gravlee said the only reliable test until now to detect cancer of the womb required surgery. He said his device could be used by general practitioners during routine checkups. He stressed, however, that the washer is simply a detection device, not a cure.

Aid Bill Passes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House has passed 213 to 167 and sent to the Senate a $3.2 billion foreign aid money bill most of it funds that have already been spent because it covers the government business year that started nearly eight months ago.

The amount was $1.1 billion less than the administration asked for, and it included approximately $2.6 billion in economic and military aid and military sales, and about $600 million for allied programs such as the Peace Corps and international banks.

The reason most of the money has already been spent is that Congress passed a continuing resolution to allow spending at previous levels during the tie-up on the bill.

Strike Ends

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's 280,000 striking coal miners voted overwhelmingly today to end their seven-week-old walk-out that plunged the country into its worst industrial crisis in nearly a half-century.

The shutdown blacked out homes, left millions of Britons without heat, crippled industry and threw nearly two million workers out of jobs.

In a rank-and-file ballot conducted by the National Union of Mineworkers the striking coal miners voted by 210,039 to 7,581 to return to the job.

Mayor Killed

MANILA (UPI) — Gunmen shot and killed Cavite City Mayor Manuel S. Roxas and his driver today, opening fire on the mayor's car from ambush.

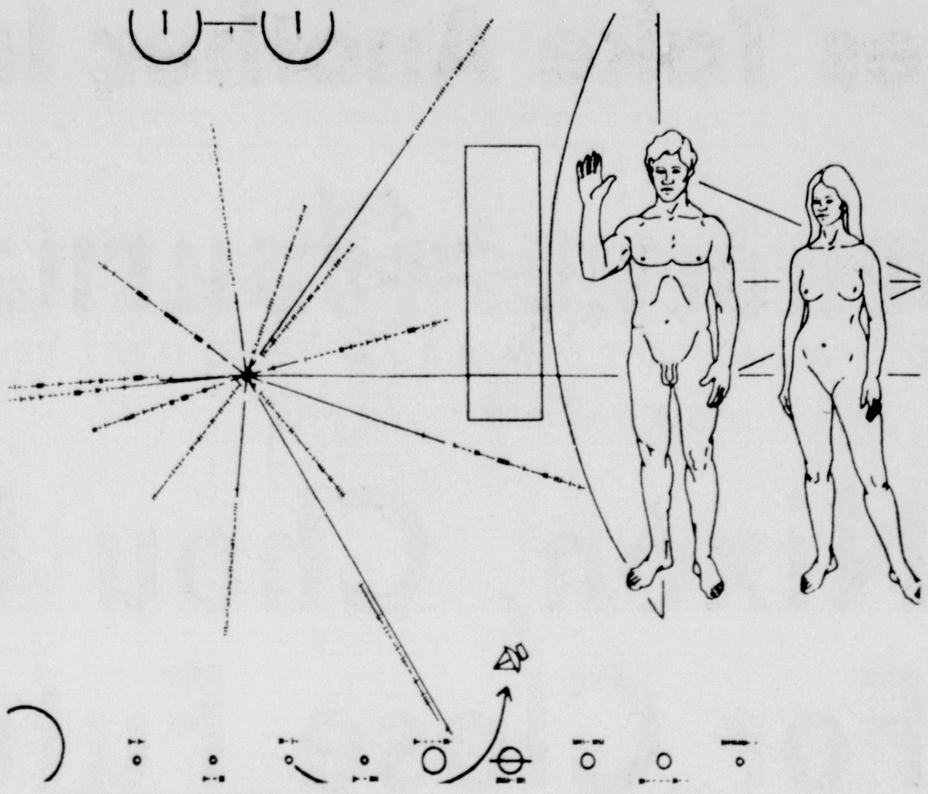

Roxas, elected to his first term as mayor last November, was the third Manila-area mayor killed in the last four months. Police said Roxas and his driver, Jaime Yap, were killed on the spot.

SET FOR LAUNCH — This is a copy of the plaque which will accompany the Pioneer Jupiter space probe. The radiating lines represent the positions of 14 pulsars — cosmic sources of radio energy — arranged to indicate our sun as the home star of the launching civilization. Compromise Senate Plan On Busing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Already on record against busing children for racial balance in schools, the Senate turned today to considering how strong — or weak — the proposed restriction should be.

But there seemed little likelihood that either Southern senators or Northern liberals would succeed in altering a middle-of-the road busing restriction plan jockeyed through the Senate Thursday by leaders hopeful of cooling down the politically hot issue. Some two dozen rival approaches were pending.

Only Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., was thought to have much chance of changing the Senate's mind, with his amendment that would deny federal courts jurisdiction to impose busing plans.

The plan, sponsored by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Hugh Scott, was hooked as a rider to a $24 billion bill to aid colleges and universities that also carries a $1.5 billion section to help local schools meet the cost of desegregation.

Symbolic Plaque For Space Probe

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The Pioneer Jupiter probe set for launch Sunday carries an identification plaque on the chance it might be intercepted by intelligent beings from some other star system millions of years from now.

The plaue uses symbols, including a man with his hand in a gesture of good will, to show to a scientifically knowledgeable civilization when the spacecraft was launched, from where it came and what kind of being sent it. There were no words written on the plaque.

The 550-pound Pioneer spacecraft will be the first manmade object to leave the solar system and coast in interstellar space. It will fly by Jupiter in 22 months and leave the solar system beyond Pluto in 11 years.

The space agency disclosed details of the pictorial Thursday. The pla ue design was etched into a gold-anodized six-by-nine-inch aluminum plate mounted to an antenna support so it will be shielded from erosion by cosmic dust.

Drawings of a man and woman are on the right side of the plaque with a diagram of the Pioneer spacecraft in the same scale behind them. The man's right hand is raised in a gesture of good will.

To the left of the figures are a series of radiating lines representing the positions of 14 pulsars—cosmic sources of pulsating radio energy—which are arranged to indicate our sun as the home star of the civilization that launched the probe.

The space agency said "1" symbols at the ends of the lines represent the frequencies of these pulsars at the time of launch relative to that of the hydrogen atom. A symbol of the hydrogen atom is in the upper left corner.

Across the bottom of the plaque is an outline of the planets as they range out from the sun. A line runs from Earth, the third planet, out past Mars and around Jupiter, the fifth planet, to show pioneer's trajectory.

Heavy Toll Suffered By U.S. Forces

SAIGON (UPI)—Thirty-four Americans were wounded in clashes with Communist guerrillas today, including 21 in a five-hour battle only 42 miles from Saigon and seven in an ambush of a U.S. Army truck convoy in the Central Highlands.

A number of sources said earlier Communists planned a major offensive during President Nixon's trip to Peking but officers refused to define the increased number of attacks as part of a new Communist drive.

The 21 men wounded in the battle of 42 miles east of Saigon were the heaviest American casualties since two Americans were killed and 34 wounded in a fight 34 miles northwest of Saigon on April 17, 1971.

The wounded men were all members of the 1st Battalion, 7th Cavalry Regiment' which was Gen. George Armstrong Custer's outfit at the battle of the Little Big Horn in 1876.

A spokesman said the battle near Saigon started when a U.S. patrol from Artillery Base Cross Sabers, located 50 miles east of Saigon, ran into a guerrilla force.

The Americans called in jet fighter-bombers, helicopter gunships and artillery. The guerrillas broke off contact and escaped into the jungle five hours later. There was no immediate report of guerrilla casualties.

Seven Americans were wounded in the convoy ambush and six others were hurt—five of them by fire from their own helicopters—in other clashes. A delayed report also listed two Americans killed in the crash of an Army observation plane in the Mekong Delta last Monday.

The spokesman said in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today, 110 guerrillas were reported killed, 43 wounded and 16 kidnapped. South Vietnamese casualties included 17 killed.

Black-Controlled Banks' Measure

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation designed to increase the amount of state money deposited in black-controlled banks has been introduced.

The measure by Assemblyman Bill Greene, D-Los Angeles, would put into black-controlled banks a percentage of the total state deposits equal to the percentage of state taxes paid by Negroes. Greene introduced the bill Thursday.

Israel Strikes Lebanon Targets

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli troops, armor, artillery and warplanes attacked Lebanon along a 60-mile front today, in what both Arab and Israeli military sources called the heaviest punitive strike by Israel since the 1967 Six Day War.

Al Fatah guerrillas said as many as 30 Israeli jets struck targets as close as 34 miles from the Lebanese capital of Beirut and followed up with armored regiments into areas near the border. The semiofficial Egyptian Middle East News Agency said 60 Israeli jets struck into Lebanon.

Guerrillas reported six Arab guerrillas killed and three wounded. A Beirut communique said one civilian was killed and a soldier wounded and 20 houses destroyed. Israel said five guerrillas were killed and an unknown number of houses demolished, and the attack force suffered no casualties.

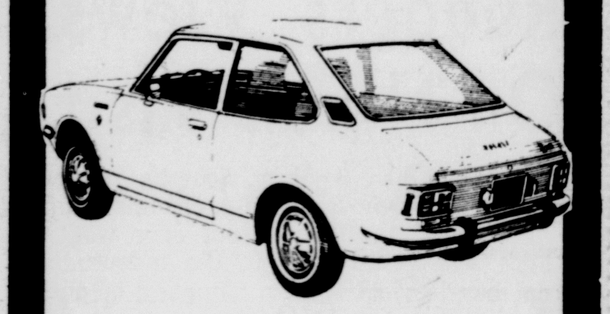

The big Israeli strike coincided with the arrival in Jerusalem of United Nations peace negotiator Gunnar V. Jarring in an attempt to revive his peace mission. His only comment after conferences with Foreign Minister Abba Eban was that he was encouraged that his mission was still alive.

He did not mention the strike against Lebanon.

Lt. Gen. David Elazar, the Israeli chief od staff, warned Lebanon Thursday of possible military reprisal for an ambush in which guerrillas using bazookas killed an Israeli couple returning from a Bar Mitzvah Wednesday night. Another guerrilla ambush soon afterward killed an Israeli soldier and Israel struck back early today.

The Israeli attack brought immediate sharp reaction from Egypt. Government sources quoted by the Middle East News Agency (MENA) said the raids would not have been possible unless the United States supplied Phantom jet fighter-bombers to Israel.

NOVATO

ported as the only general aviation facility in North Marin", the committee reported.

Development of Novato "should be directed toward providing more employment for its residents, and such employment will insure a broad economic mixture in Novato's population."

It advocated a reasonable rate of growth and said "development of bay plains and mud flats should be discouraged."

The committee also complained schools are "not preparing youth to cope with the outside world" and perhaps more vocational counseling and schooling is needed.

It endorsed "a further study of new means of transportation, including a survey of the possible means of financing a system of rapid transit.

COMMITTEE THREE, West Novato, south of Novato Boulevard, recommended that the ultimate population of the community be limited to 60,000 "so its character as we know it won't be inevitably lost and Novato become just another overgrown suburb."

The committee said the growth rate of Novato should be restricted to 2 per cent a year.

On joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base, the committee said: "Because there is no need for two airports to be operating within five miles of each other, all future commercial aviation should be centralized at Gnoss Field and commercial flights restricted to shuttle service within the Bay Area."

If the military is phased out at Hamilton, the land could be used for a college or university, housing, regional park, ferry terminal, research center, industrial park or other nonaviation uses, the committee said.

COMMITTEE FOUR, west of Highway 101 and south of Diablo Avenue, preferred that Novato remain "a city of rural environment with constraint by set quotas."

It recommended preservation of Rancho Olompali as an historic site and a request to the state division of highways to consider using it as a rest stop area.

The committee said it wasn't necessary to "maintain a supply of low and moderate income housing in the city" but that some subsidized housing for senior citizens should be provided.

On a regional basis, it preferred that Novato's role be a "bedroom city," with light industry at Hamilton Industrial Park area.

COMMITTEE FIVE, Loma Verde, Hamilton Air Force Base and Marin Country Club Estates, recommended slow and orderly growth to a maximum population of 70,000 to 80,000 in the next 30 years.

It recommended that the average density in the general plan area be 2.4 units per "buildable" acre, which it described as flat land of less than 30 per cent slope.

The committee also backed the call for a comprehensive environmental study and suggested the city establish a "strong commission of environmental quality."

It strongly opposed "Hamilton becoming a large commercial airport."

Commissioners James R. Gordon and James Picchi were absent.

Two Drivers Are Sentenced

Two persons were sentenced for drunken driving Tuesday by Judge Peter Allen Smith of Marin Municipal Court.

Arthur Francis Hickey, 40, of San Francisco, arrested Jan. 1 in San Rafael, placed on probation for six months and fined $302.

Edward Lilly, 36, of San Francisco, arrested Feb. 20 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year, and fined $225 or must work 80 hours for Marin County Parks and Recreation Department.

RARE COINS TAKEN

Two Robbers Disarm Deputy

A sheriff's deputy who interrupted the armed robbery of a coin shop in Strawberry last evening ended up disarmed, handcuffed and forced to lie on the floor of the shop.

Still missing today were two young robbers and $7,000 in rare coins.

Deputy Bill Dews said he answered a silent alarm at Golden Gate Coins in the Town and Country Village shopping center about 6 p.m. and saw a woman standing in the doorway of the shop.

A voice from inside told her to come in if she wanted to buy something and she entered the store with the deputy following, he reported.

As soon as he got in, Dews said, a man shoved a gun in his side and said, "This is a holdup. No one will get hurt if you cooperate."

"We got a pig," Dews said the bandit told an accomplice in the shop as he took the officer's gun from its holster.

The woman customer, later identified as Donna Sheeny, 36, of San Francisco, was told to handcuff Dews, which she did after protesting she didn't know how.

The officer was forced to lie on the floor behind the counter, he said.

The robbers then left, taking the woan along — but leaving behind the store owner, Fred V. Vellen and a friend of Vellen's, Antone Bernardini — after one said, "bring the broad along because she'll unhandcuff him too soon."

After the two men left, Dews asked the store owner, who had sounded the silent alarm, to unhandcuff him using a key in his pocket. Vellen, however, made two phone calls first, which Dews said allowed the robbers ample time to escape. Bernardini, finally freed Dews.

After Dews summoned help, the woman customer, who had not been taken away after all, returned to the shop.

Dews described the bandits as between 20 and 25 years old. One was blue-eyed with blond hair and the other appeared to be a Latin American, he said.

Center Is Now Tax Exempt

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The Center for Developmental Teaching of San Rafael has been granted tax exempt status, the district office of the Internal Revenue Service announced.

The private high school was granted the tax break after publicly proclaiming a nondiscriminatory admissions policy, the IRS said.

Contributions to the school also are tax exempt now.

Permits Are Approved For Two Businesses

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Zoning Adjustments yesterday approved permits for a machine repair shop and for a dog kennel near Petaluma.

The board approved the request of George M. Shaw for a repair shop for cannery equipment at 7015 Petersen Road, and the request of Gwen H. Luellen for a kennel for six to 10 dogs at 140 Purrington Road.

Endorsed Checks In The Street

Eleven endorsed checks totaling $843 were found at 2 a.m. yesterday on the street in front of the Alibi Club at 1547 Fourth Street, San Rafael, by Robert Taylor, San Rafael street sweeper operator, who turned them over to police.

Police reported that the checks were made out to Clarence L. Feusier of Box 2, Bolinas, who told police that he would pick them up today from the police.

Cash Is Taken From Locked Cabinet

Cash totaling about $75 was reported taken from a locked cabinet at a foster home for girls in Larkspur Wednesday according to police.

Police said Marjorie R. Mulcahy of Group Home at 476 Cane Street, Apt. 4, reported the money had been stolen between Friday and Tuesday by someone who knew where the key was kept.

NIXON

frank discussion, a clearer knowledge of each other's positions and stands has been gained. This has been beneficial to both sides."

Neither Nixon nor Chou provided any clue to any agreements that may have been reached during Nixon's unprecedented visit to China.

But9it was known that agreement in princ iple has beer reached on a greater exchange of persons such as students, newsmen and scholars, increased trade and some form of diplomatic communication in the future, short of full formal relatios.

These details filtered through an extrordinarly tight lid of secrecy that both sides placed on the summit talks. The news blackout on the part of Nixon's official White House party was considered unparalleled in recent presidential history as far as international meetings were concerned.

It has been presumed that a formal communique would be issued at the conclusion of the discussions. But there still was no word tonight —less than 12 hours before Nixon leaves the Chineee capital —when and if a statement would be forthcoming.

Presumably, Nixon and Chou —and possibly even Chairman Mao Tse-tung —might hold further substantive discussions in Hangchow and Shanghai before Nixon flies back to Washington Monday.

Nixon was showing the effects of the strenuous schedule. During a visit this morning to the Forbidden City section of Peking, he appeared tired and drawn. At the banquet, he also was rather somber.

Nixon noted in his toast that in 1976 the United States will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the nation's founding and quoted the words of George Washington's Farewell Address: "Observe good faith and justice toward all nations, cultivate peace and harmony with all."

Nixon then concluded in his own words: "It is in that spirit, the spirit of '76, that I ask you to rise and join me in a toast to Chairman Mao, to Premier Chou, and the people of our two countries and to the hope of our children that peace and harmony can be the legacy of our generation to theirs."

In Chou's response he observed: "The times are advancing and the world changes. We are deeply convinced that the strength of the people &s power ful and that whatever zigzags and reverses there will be in the development of history, the general trend of the world is definitely towards light and not darkness."

The banquet, prepared by Chinese chefs, consisted of famous Chinese dishes but featured imported California champagne, Florida and California citrus and American cigarettes. It climaxed Nixon's five days in Peking during which he and Chou were together for some 30 hours of negotiations and social contact.

Nixon and Chou fly to Hangchow, a resort type port city some 900 miles to the south of Peking, on a Soviet-made Chinese Civil airliner Saturday morning (Friday night U.S. time).

The President and his wife fe will spend a night there and go on to Shanghai, China's biggest city (10 million or more) Sunday, before the flight home Monday on Nixon's Spirit of '76.

Commission Would Move Employees

The Fairfax Planning Commission was unable during a stormy session last night to agree on a recommendation for renovation plans for city offices, but commissioners did agree that city employees should be moved out of existing facilities immediately.

Renovation plans for the building had been referred to the commission by the city council Tuesday.

Planning Commission Chairman E. Ross Parkerson last night termed the plans presented by City Administrator Robert E. Crowe "outrageous."

Secretary Ernestine Healy said Parkerson lost his temper as he objected to renovation of the facilities at their present site at the corner of Park and Bolinas roads, adjacent to Fairfax Park, and refused to discuss the plans.

In the end, the commission directed Mrs. Healy to convey to the city council recommendations expressed by individual commissioners last night.

Commissioners did agree, however, to "back the building inspector and city employees in the interest of health, welfare and safety, and move them out of existing facilities "until the building can be brought up to state and city requirements."

That move came after an angry warning by building inspector Dale W. Hostrup that he would condemn the existing structure. It is not fair to condemn substandard houses in Fairfax while allowing city hall to remain open, Hostrup said. "City Hall violates everything in the code book: wiring, foundation and safety," he said.

He noted that City Clerk Eileen Foster tripped over electric wires strung across the floor of her office yesterday, and told the commissioners, "You work in nice offices and don't care if people down here fall over the wiring."

In connection with the plan, the commission did agree that two houses on Park Road, near a city offices parking area, should be acquired by the city, and that it did not like proposed police parking in front of the building, Mrs. Healy said.

Individual commissioner recommendations to the city council, Mrs. Healy said, included: Charles Eckles' request for more public parking; Harold S. Lezzeni's belief that city facilities should remain on the present site, and opposition by Gloria Duncan and Hugh O. Winn to a proposal for city hall to bridge Fairfax Creek.

The council will resume its discussion of the facilities March 7. The topic has been under discussion for more than five years, a period which included defeat of a 1968 bond proposal for a new fire station and police and city administration building.

14 Hours In Car, Driver Says

A San Francisco man told the California Highway Patrol yesterday he spent 14 hours in his damaged auto after it plunged down an embankment on Highway 1 near the Green Gulch Ranch.

Anastacio Pulido, 26, apparently uninjured in the 2 a.m. crash, declined hospital treatment after the ordeal, according to officers, who could not explain why he had remained in the vehicle until rescued about 4 p.m. yesterday. The highway patrol had no details of how Pulido and the wrecked car were finally discovered.

Officers said Pulido's northbound car plunged 350 feet into a canyon.

Lawyer For Magee Wants Out

The Los Angeles lawyer who has already been paid almost $30,000 for representing San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee during pretrial proceedings since last May now wants out of the case.

Ernest L. Graves, a tall, dapper, gray-haired advocate who has made a specialty of Death Row cases, yesterday told a visiting judge he thought his court appointment was invalid.

"How much money have you collected under this 'void' contract — $30,000, isn't it?" Judge Leonard Ginsburg of Tulare County responded.

Graves answered that he had "endeavored to make myself useful" since his appointment but that he had wanted out since the beginning.

Magee, accused along with Angela Davis in connection with the August 1970 shoot-out at the Civic Center, has refused to cooperate with him, Graves said, insisting he wants to act as his own attorney and continuously firing off his own legal actions.

It was only recently, however, Graves told the judge, that he had come to the realization that federal courts have held the position defendants should be allowed to defend themselves in all cases.

Graves admitted that California high courts have not held this position.

The judge told Graves that Magee has been noted for court disruptions and if he were allowed to represent himself, he could stall the case forever.

Graves suggested a "backup" attorney who would take over on occasions when Magee is removed from the courtroom, as he was yesterday when he continued interrupting the judge.

The judge took Graves's request under submission.

OBITUARIES

Josephine Stewart, 67, Dies

Josephine J. Stewart, 67, retired Petaluma secretary, died yesterday at her home at 325 Eucalyptus Road, after a short illness.

Mrs. Stewart was born at Point Reyes Station, but had spent nearly all her life in Petaluma. She worked as a secretary and bookkeeper for the Pacific Telephone Co. for more than 30 years, retiring in 1960. Her husband, George Stewart, died last year.

She is survived by five sisters, Margaret Grosch of Petaluma, Sister Mary St. Julian, principal of St. Vincent's High School, Petaluma; Sister Mary Eduardus of San Francisco, Anne Gillespie of San Bruno and Rosalie Kelly of Fairfax.

Reuiem Mass will be offered at 11 a.m. Monday at St. Vincent De Paul Church, Petaluma. Recitation of the roasry will be at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Sorensen Funeral Home. Burial will be private.

Burglary Suspect Is Bound Over

Bertha Marie West, 18, of Oakland, has been bound over to Marin Superior Court on a burglary charge stemming from the theft of a quantity of clothes from the Emporium in Northgate.

She is to be arraigned Monday.

Miss West and Tinicia Brown, 22, of Richmond, were arrested last July 3 after a guard told police they took clothing and more was reportedly found in their car. Miss Brown is still awaiting a preliminary hearing in municipal court.

Redwood Club Slates Films

The Redwood High School Film Club will show two oldtime films, "Duck Soup" with the Marx Brothers and a short feature starring Buster Keaton entitled "Cops", March 3.

The films will be shown in the Little Theater at 8 p.m.

The club hopes to showcase films not shown in movie theaters and with minimum prices.

Inmate At Quentin Dies In Hospital

A 63-year-old San Quentin inmate died in the prison hospital yesterday, apparently from a heart attack, according to prison information officer, Joseph R. O'Brien.

Calito Chin had been ill most of the time since he was imprisoned in January 1970 for murder and robbery convictions in San Francisco, O'Brien said.

Hub Policeman Wounds Right Hand

A San Anselmo police officer was treated at Marin General Hospital after he was accidently shot in the hand on his day off Wednesday.

Patrolman Louis Landini, 21, suffered a "penetrating wound" to the right hand, the hospital reported.

San Anselmo police said Landini was examining a gun at a friend's house in San Rafael when the weapon accidently discharged.

W. L. ZIEGLER

William Lee Ziegler, 60, a Petaluma machinist, died yesterday at a Santa Rosa hospital after a brief illness.

Ziegler was a native Californian and had worked at various machine shops around San Rafael for many years. He moved to Petaluma eight years ago and lived at the Hotel Petaluma. He was the husband of the late Frances Ziegler.

Funeral arrangements were pending today at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma.

MRS. YOUNG

Service has been held for Gladys M. Young, of Point Reyes Station, who died Tuesday in a local convalescent hospital following a brief illness. She was 81.

She and her husband, Selden R. Young, had lived in Marin County for 22 years. She was a retired teacher and last taught at Berkeley High School. She was a native of Guthrie Center, Iowa.

She belonged to the Morning Star Chapter No. 61 OES of Petaluma, Chapter E.N.; PEO, Sisterhood of San Francisco, the National Retired Teachers Association and the Pi Beta Phi Sorority of Simpson College, Iowa.

She is survived by her husband, and a sister, Bethine Bryson of Saskatchewan, Canada.

MRS. TOMBOLINI

Giorgina Tombolini, a 50-year resident of Marin, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a long illness. She was 77.

Born in Port of St. George, Italy, she emigrated to San Francisco in 1921. She moved to San Anselmo about a year later and lived there until falling ill in late 1w70. Her last San Anselmo address was 41 Tamalpais Avenue.

She was a parishioner of St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo.

Her husband, Giusseppe, who died in 1951, had been a fish salesman.

Surviving are a daughter, Oneglia Tobin of San Rafael, a son, Fred Tombolini of Vallejo, and four grandchildren.

Mass of the Resurrection will be offered at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at San Anselm's. A Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo. Entombment will be at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

MRS. VOORHEIS

Memorial service for Ann C. Voorheis, stepmother of Patricia V. Leister of Novato, will take place tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Chapel of the Hills in San Anselmo.

Mrs. Voorheis, who died Jan. 31, is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Laura Millik of Williamsport, Md. Memorial gifts to the Hanna Boys Center, Sonoma, are preferred.

GENERAL VIEW — Smoke and flames pour from Sao Paulo's largest department store. The blaze yesterday forced trapped shoppers to jump from windows of the 25-story structure. At least nine persons perished in the fire. Helicopters rescued about 400 from atop the builing.

Copters Save 400 In Sao Paulo Fire

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)— A fleet of helicopters braved soaring flames to land atop a 25-story building Thursday and lift to safety more than 400 persons trapped by the blaze.

The building, which housed a department store and offices, was completely gutted and officials said today there was no hope for survivors although they expected to find more bodies inside once the fire cooled.

Police said there were nine confirmed deaths from burns or injuries caused when the terrified occupants leapt from the building. More than 400 persons were injured, many when they jumped from the lower floors to the street below.

More than 12 hours after the blaze started it still raged out of control.

Sixteen helicopters braved the flames and smoke to land on the top of the Pirani building and airlift hundreds of persons trapped there to safety. It took them six hours, sometimes with flames all but surrounding ttem, for the helicopters to get everybody safely off the roof.

"It was a miracle how many people they togk off the roof," said Odair Guerra, 21, a Brazilian air force recuit who helped in the airlift carried out by air force, municipal, state and private helicopters.

Guerra said "the helicopters could not at first get to the roof because the flames were so high," but finally managed to land on a heliport atop the building. He said a number of people taken to safety were hysterical and others were suffering from smoke inhalation.

The fire in the 10-year-old building broke out about 3:15 p.m. on the second floor. The first five floors housed a department store while the rest of the building was devoted to office space.

There was no indication of arson, fire official said.

Lower Gas Rates

Marin City, Novato and Petaluma natural gas customers will be enjoying slightly lower utility rates as a result of an increase in the numbers of gas users, according to a Public Utilities Commission spokesman.

CRASH INTO A SNOWY GROVE

Approval For Cotati Apartments

The Cotati Planning Commission last night approved plans for 40 apartments on Lovmark Lane.

August Lovmark told the commission he plans to build 10 four-unit dwellings and will include a park for residents, swimming pool and barbecue area. He said the new buildings will be similar to existing ones on the property.

City Clerk Carol Bonfigli said the commission ordered additional landscaping and said paving work on Valparaiso Avenue must be completed as part of the project.

The planning commission also approved revisions in the proposed zoning ordinance and sent it to the city council for consideration and approved the request of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Perry to add 12 mobile home park spaces to the seven existing on seven acres at 30 Page Street.

The commission recommended that the city council appoint Archie Stewart, owner of Archie's Glass Shop, to fill the commission vacancy.

Inverness Faces New Waste Plan

I-J Special Report

CONCORD — The Regional Water Quality Control Board yesterday adopted stringent restrictions to prevent the Inverness Sewer Improvement District from discharging any wastes into Tomales Bay.

The standards require the improvement district, which is operated by the North Marin County Water District, to discharge its effluent only into a diked disposal area. Failsafe provisions were ordered to prevent any flow into the bay, according to William Gingrich, water quality board spokesman. The plans call for a capacity of 9,000 gallons of waste daily, to handle sewage from 55 living units.

The water quality watchdogs also granted one more year to the last remaining Bay Area user of barge dumping at sea. The Oakland Scavenger Co. was given permission to continue dumping cannery wastes 20 miles outside the Golden Gate. The board ordered special monitoring to determine good as well as harmful effects of the dumping on fisheries, Gingrich said.

The California Attorney General's office reported to the board that the Bolinas Community Public Utility District has been given an extension by the courts until April 14 to submit a feasibility report on its preliminary plan for sewage disposal. The plan had been ordered after failure of efforts to consolidate sewage treatment for Bolinas and Stinson Beach.

Hike For Help May Draw 5,000

Sunday's Marin County Hike for Help may draw as many as 5,000 participants, according to Mike Harris, spokesman for the sponsoring Marin County Charitable Foundation and Project Hope.

Signups for the marathon walk for charity will begin at 8:30 a.m. at the College of Marin Gymnasium on Kentfield Avenue, with the hike to begin at 9 a.m. Hikers will cover a looping 20-mile course to San Rafael, Fairfax, and back to the college.

The hikers will carry pledge cards signed by sponsors guaranteering to donate a set amount for each mile walked.

Half the funds raised will be disbursed by Marin Charitable Foundation to support local programs. The remainder will be divided between the mercy ship Hope and the Project Hope program for Indians in Arizona.

Pledge cards and information are available at the fund-raising campaign's headquarters in the administration building of the former San Rafael Military Academy, Fifth and Cottage avenues, Harris said.

Wealth Spreading In Education Studied

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration is seriously considering a plan not only to equalize the amount of money spent on schools in each state, but to make sure as well that each state overall will be spending about the same as any other given state, education commissioner Sidney P. Marland said today.

Marland said, for instance, that New York State currently spends about $1,400 per school child while Alabama spends about $500. He added:

"Some effort must be made at least to modify these differences. At this time the administration is dealing only with the in-state equity issue. The interstate issue will, I believe, be confronted eventually."

President Nixon said in his State of the Union message that he would propose a system to relieve the burden of property taxes—the major source of school funds—on middle income families and older Americans. But he did not spell out the details.

The administration has shown strong interest however in a value added tax—a national sales tax—that would yield about $18 billion a year by placing a levy on goods at each stage of production and distribution. But all administration spokesmen for the tax have gone out of their way to say a decision to request its enactment has not been made.

Marland's latest insight on administration tax reform thinking was first disclosed to the American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City, N.J., on Feb. 15. He amplified in an interview with UPI.

Marland said some of the school spending differences among states is caused by geographical variations in school and living costs and some by different levels of educational services.

"But a considerable portion is due to simple difference in wealth," he added.

Privileges Hinted In 'Seven' Trial

HARRISBURG, La. (UPI)—The Harrisburg Seven defense implied today that a key government witness was given unusual privileges in Lewisburg Penitentiary in 1970 once he became an FBI informant.

The implications came during cross examination of Robert L. Hendricks, former associate warden at Lewisburg, about Boyd F. Douglas. Douglas is expected to be the star witness in the government's attempt to prove that the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan and six other antiwar activists plotted to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger.

Hendricks was asked whether he knew that while Douglas was a "study release" prisoner at Lewisburg, he had an apartment in town, a charge account, a phone in the apartment, once got a $1,500 check and rode in private cars. Under the "study release" program Douglas was authorized to leave prison during day hours to attend classes at Bucknell University.

Hendricks answered "no," or "not to my knowledge" to all such questions.

Federal Judge R. Dixon Herman reminded the jury that the questions were not evidence — only the answers.

The government charges that Douglas smuggled letters to and from Berrigan, who was also a Lewisburg inmate, and that the letters contained threats to kidnap Kissinger and blow up Washington heating ducts.

"Did you know that Douglas had liquor in his apartment?", asked Defense Attorney Ramsey Clark.

"No," Hendricks replied.

"You don't have liquor in prison do you?" Clark asked.

A prosecution objection cut off the answer.

Delay On Court Consolidation

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors has decided to delay until July 1 the consolidation of all municipal courts.

The Southern and Central Judicial districts were set to consolidate on March 7, but the board heard that administrative problems would result and agreed to the delay.

The administrative consolidation is aimed at improving record keeping facilities. The merger would not remove any of the criminal or civil proceedings from the Petaluma courtroom.

Directors Say No To Takeover

Ross Valley Sanitary District directors unanimously voted Tuesday night against proposed takeover of their district by the Marin Municipal Water District, staff aides reported yesterday.

The county Local Agency Formation Commission will hold a hearing March 8 on the motion by the Marin County Board of Supervisors to dissolve the sanitary district and give the water district its functions.

The sanitary district board ordered a resolution drafted proposing an alternative — creation of a county sanitation district encompassing Ross Valley and possibly other districts under consideration for dissolution or merger in Central and Southern Marin.

Extortion Note Plot Revealed

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A 66-year-old man who said he is a Hungarian-born Jew is charged with trying to extort $13 million from the city's largest synagogue by threatening to bomb the building.

Marvin Von Steiner denied any part in the plot when he was picked up by police Thursday. On the contrary, he said he often attended the services because it was "a good place to meditate."

The first extortion note, demanding $3 million, was tacked to the door of the Wilshire Boulevard Temple two weeks ago, police said. When it was ignored, another note appeared on the door, raising the demand to $13 million.

TALE OF A LONG-NOSED LIAR

The fire eater, David Suhl, holds an animated conversation with Pinocchio, played by Alan McDermott, in the children's tale, "The Adventures of Pinocchio." The marionette who came to life only to find his nose growing longer with each lie visits the Marin Veterans Memorial Building at 2 p.m. Sunday in a production by Marion Hayes Cain which features the Magic Circle and Winifred Baker's Children's Chorus.

Fight Warming Up Over Fairfax Zoning

A battle is warming up in Fairfax over the city's proposed new zoning ordinance.

Max Friedman, owner of Marin Town and Country Club, has prepared a notice concerning the ordinance and said he intends to mail it to every registered voter in Fairfax.

The Fairfax City Council will continue a public hearing on the zoning proposal at a meeting March 7.

A section of the proposal calls for rezoning the town and country club property to prevent its development for residential use.

The city council already has rejected a request from a group of citizens organized into a committee to Preserve Land and Nature (PLAN) that the council adopt immediately that section of the zoning proposal dealing with Friedman's property.

In response to the council's action, PLAN qualified the rezoning proposal as an initiative measure on the April 11 ballot.

In his notice, Friedman said the zoning ordinance proposal "was devised by a few to harm me, the business I operate and the opportunity to sell my property for a better use and beneficial development."

"Hundreds of you," he warned in the notice, "will be hurt and damaged in the process. Your property too could be restricted, condemned and made unsalable."

Friedman urged Fairfax residents to review the new zoning ordinance proposal to determine how it "will affect you and your property."

The PLAN group organized to push the rezoning of the town and country club property after reports Friedman was negotiating with a development corporation which intended to construct 450 apartment units on the site.

Innocent Plea In Checks Case

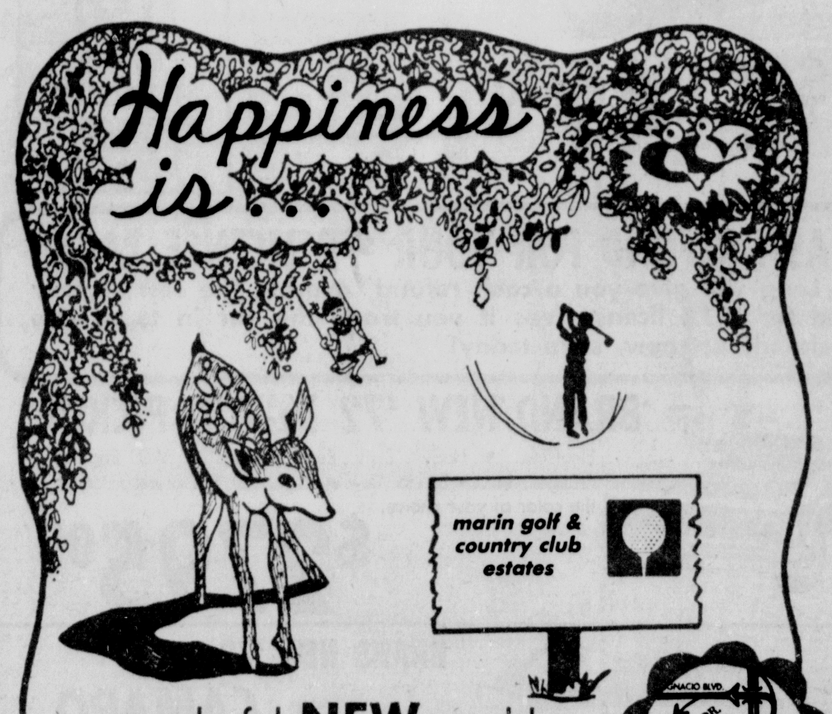

Kurt Martin Schuster, 18, of Santa Rosa, has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to two felony bad check charges and one of possessing marijuana. He is to be tried the week of April 17.

Schuster was arrested Feb. 1 after he cashed a $250 check on his father's account and then returned later in the day and tried to cash another check for $500. A suspicious teller called police, who arrested the youth, who, they said, also had a small quantity of marijuana with him.

ANGELA SPEAKS — Angela Davis (right) attended her first news conference since being released on bail and told an audience of 200 newsmen and supporters in San Jose that her release on bail was due to the power of the people. With her yesterday (left to right) were: attorneys Howard Moore and Margaret Burnham, partially hidden, and Angela's sister, Fania Jordan.

Angela Meets The Press; Jubilant About Release

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)— Angela Davis appeared jubilant at a news conference Thursday following her release on bail from 16 months in jail and a celebration by her supporters who said "We did indeed hug and kiss all night long."

"I feel fine. I feel better than I have in 16 months," the former UCLA instructor, released on $102,500 bail Wednesday night, told a packed gallery of newsmen at her defense committee headquarters.

Miss Davis said she would rest in privacy at an undisclosed location today and prepare for the start of her murder, kidnap and conspiracy trial Monday.

The 28-year-old avowed Communist charged with supplying the guns in a Marin County courthouse escape attempt and gunbattle in 1970 said her release was due to the "vower of the people," and said efforts must be intensified to free "all political prisoners."

Franklin Alexander, co-chairman of the United National Committee to Dree Angela Davis, said her first night of freedom was spent celebrating.

"There was a party for close friends. There were a couple of bottles of champagne. And we did indeed hug and kiss all night long," he said.

Miss Davis said her release was a "true victory for people struggling everywhere."

Younger Wants A Rehearing On Death Penalty

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Two Republicans have launched an uphill drive in the Democratic-controlled legislature to prevent defendants such as Angela Davis and Juan Corona from being freed on bail during their trials.

Meantime, Attorney General Evelle Younger says he will seek a rehearing of the state Supreme Court's historic ruling to abolish the death penalty.

He told a news conference Thursday he will seek the hearing on ground that such a decision properly belonged to the state Legislature. If necessary, the state will appeal the case to the U.S. Supreme Court, Younger said. A spinoff of the court's landmark decision was to revoke the prohibition against the granting of bail to persons accused of capital crimes.

Miss Davis was freed on $102,500 bail Wednesday. The attorney for accused mass murderer Juan Corona has made a similar motion for his client. Corona is accused of murdering 25 migrant workers last spring.

Alioto: No Secrets In Fee Sharing

VANCOUVER, Wash. (UPI) —Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco said Thursday there was nothing secret about his sharing attorney's fees with John J. O'Connell while O'Connell was attorney general of Washington State.

Alioto said fees shared with O'Connell and George K. Faler, who was an assistant to O'Connell, were "recorded in my books and reported to the federal government."

Alioto's comment came as he resumed his opening statement to the jury in trial of a $2.3 million civil lawsuit four weeks and a day after he was interrupted. He planned to finish the statement today.

He, O'Connell and Faler are defendants in the suit.

Superior Court Judge Stanley C. Soderland reconvened the trial Thursday morning on orders of the state Supreme Court. Soderland was named to succeed Judge Donald L. Gaines, who died Feb. 1 after presiding over 18 weeks of the trial. The trial had been in recess since Jan. 26 when Gaines became ill.

Commenting on the fee sharing checks to O'Connell and Faler' Alioto said, "I didn't send them to their homes. I didn't use a disguised address. I didn't pay them in cash. I paid them in checks right to the attorney general's office."

The sharing of fees with O'Connell and Faler is one of the bases on which the state of Washington and 12 publicly owned utilities seek refund of $2.3 million they paid Alioto for serving as their attorney in antitrust suits in the 1960s before he became mayor.

The other is that the state and utilities were not told about removal of a $1 million ceiling on Alioto's fee.

Muskie, Wallace Draw Ovations In Chicago, Atlanta Speeches

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

There were standing ovations on the presidential campaign trail for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie in Chicago and Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in Atlanta.

Muskie, in an unscheduled appearance before Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and Cook County Democratic committeemen, said he hoped the party would unite behind one candidate before the national convention.

Wallace brought the members of the Georgia Legislature to their feet three times Thursday, had them laughing at his jokes and cheering at his stand on campaign issues —particularly attacks on busing to achieve school desegregation. Wallace, one of the first politicians to oppose school integration, said he believed busing was "psychologically damaging."

Sen. George S. McGovern's Illinois campaign chairman, William Rosendahl, was critical of Muskie's appeal for early selection of a party candidate. "To lock up the nomination now violates the tradition and the spirit of the Democratic party," Rosendahl said.

Muskie and Wallace weren't the only Democratic candidates to receive warm support Thursday. Rep. Shirley Chisholm was applauded by students at Miami-Dade Junior College as she resumed her campaign for Florida's March 14 primary, and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay drew placard-waving backing in Sacramento at the end of a two-day swing through California.

President Nixon and McGovern drew the top spots on the Republican and Democratic ballots for California's June 6 primary. Their followers gathered enough signatures of registered voters on nominating petitions to enter the primary within 24 hours after qualifying began Wednesday.

McGovern was also in New Hampshire, telling 250 teachers in Manchester that the federal government should pay one third of the cost of public education to avoid increases in real estate taxes.

In Florida, Mrs. Chisholm chided "middle and upper class white Americans" for ignoring narcotics abuse when it affected primarily the poor, and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey urged Polk County Community College students to work for change in America through commitment, knowledge and nonviolent action.

Humphrey, who introduced the legislation that created the Peace Corps, proposed in Lakeland, Fla., today that a domestic Peace Corps be created.

Trial Slated On Stolen Property

Stone Marston Uhl, 20, of San Geronimo, is due to be tried the week of April 17 in Marin Superior Court on burglary and stolen property charges.

He has pleaded innocent to charges of burglarizing a house on Shell Road in Mill Valley on Nov. 23 and concealing stolen property the same day.

GOLDEN HINDE REPLICA PROGRESSES

Work progresses on the full-scale replica of Sir Frances Drake's warship Golden Hinde, commissioned by Marin resident Art Blum and several associates. General manager of the $500,000-plus project, Blum now waits for this bow segment of the keel to be enclosed in hull ribbing at the J. Hinks and Son shipyard in Appledore, England, where the ship is being built. The horizontal beam near the top of the keel is where the wooden sculpture of a hind's head will be placed to serve as the ship's beakhead. Whem completed, the ship will be berthed in San Francisco.

Regional Park Plan Endorsed

Directors of the Marin Conservation League have endorsed formation of a regional park district in Marin, although they say priority should be placed on open space acquisition.

The board, at its monthly meeting, approved a policy statement which suggested that subregional open space districts be made part of the countywide park agency.

Open space, the group said, deserved more attention that development of major recreational facilities.

Supporters of the park district are circulating petitions to put the issue to Marin voters in the fall.

Artists Select New Officers

Vicky Warner of 175 Shevelin Road, Novato, has been installed as president of North Bay Artists for 1972.

Sylvia Campbell was installed as vice president; Nelle Miller, treasurer, and Lois Kreischer, secretary, last Sunday.

Lee Brugaletta is show chairman; Barbara Thor, exhibits; Herta RothschIld, publicity; Gretchen Maitland, ways and means, and Frances Ewing, historian.

Restricted Marin Growth Is Sought

Marin Alternative has recommended that the Marin countywide general plan be written to restrict the county's population growth and that developers be made to compete for approval of their plans.

An extensive set of recommendations, drafted over a period of months by the Environmental Task Force, was adopted by the membership of Marin Alternative Wednesday, according to chairman Thomas H. Thorner. They will be presented at future hearings on the countywide plan by the county planning commission and board of supervisors.

Marin Alternative also will call for creation of a county environmental protection agency "with teeth in it" as a watchdog on developers, Thorner said.

The group decided to sponsor a daylong public forum sometime in April on the so-called Clean Environment Initiative set for the June statewide election, Thorner said.

New Lead-Free Gasoline Idea

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Proposed government regulations to curb air pollution envision a new kind of service station where the gasoline that powers old cars could poison new ones.

The station would have three pumps. One would dispense regular gas and the second "premium," just as today. But the third would pump lead-free gasoline through a smaller nozzle designed for a smaller fuel tank opening on new cars starting with 1975 models.

Nozzles on the "regular" and "premium" pumps would not fit new cars. As an extra precaution against pumping leaded gasoline into a new car, the lead-free gasoline would be clear while the leaded gasoline would be colored. A station could be fined $10,000 a day for pumping leaded fuel into a new car.

Students Back Legalizing Pot

The Executive Council of the Associated Students of College of Marin has unanimously endorsed an initiative to legalize marijuana in California, according to president Gregory C. Fearon.

Petitions will be circulated at 8 p.m. today and tomorrow during concerts in the Fine Arts Theater at the college, he said.

The initiative effort needs 325,000 signatures of registered voters to qualify for the November ballot.

WINTER'S MOOD

A photographer yesterday caught the mood of leaden winter skies in Goldsboro, N.C. Etched against a winter twilight a lonely figure makes its way home across the cold steel bands of a railroad track with a suggestion that the tracks probably lead to a warmer climate.

What Readers Think Of Nixon's Visit

Spencer Sias, 21, student and an editor of the College of Marin Times: "I think it is a good election move he made. I hope China takes it seriously as a peace thing and I hope Nixon takes it seriously as a peace move." He hoped the outcome would be "honest communication to replace the existing politics of namecalling."

Boni Mahoney, 25, veterinary clinic receptionist, 883 Vallejo Avenue, Novato — "I think it's great. We all hope something good will come from it ... particularly better relations between the two countries."

Germaine Dingus, 36, housewife, 572 Whitewood Drive, Terra Linda: "I'm not really sure. I don't know if it's just political or whether something else is going to come out of it. I'm not into the China thing that much, so I really don't know. I just don't know how much the Chinese are on the up and up."

Barbara May, 27, housewife, 1980 Indian Valley Road, Novato: "I think it's fine, as long as someone doesn't shoot him (President Nixon) in the process. It depends on how good the security is around him. I think it's very good for public relations. I'm not really sure — I don't think the majority of the average people will ever really know what good will come out of it."

Cassandra Skaggs, 62, no occupation, 134 Palm Avenue, San Rafael: "Between two countries, someone has to make a move. Things can't go on as they are now. I think that perhaps we'll have more respect for each other, if nothing else. I can't look forward to any harm coming from it."

Doris Pollock, 49, secretary, 73 Angela Avenue, San Anselmo: "I have reservations on the president's trip to China. I am inclined to say I don't approve. I do resent paying for Mrs. Nixon's hair dresser and the cost of the whole trip. The president does handle himself well in foreign affairs and I think we should give him the chance to see if something can be worked out.

"The best thing that could come out of it would be to normalize things between the two countries, open up trade and travel. I am just glad I don't live on Taiwan. I suppose that formal recognition of Red China is inevitable."

Robert C. Johnson, 64, retired warehouse foreman, 11 Midway Road, Larkspur: "In a sense I approve of the president's trip. He is trying to make things a little better than they have been. The most important thing to come out of the trip will be to make China a neutral country with the United States and start better relations with each other. I do not think it will go as far as formal recognition at this time."

William (Bill) A. Essertier, 21, student, College of Marin: "I haven't really given much thought on President Nixon's trip to China, but I think it is a great lead for us to make the move. It is a good move on the president's part — even though it is just a political move.

"The only good that will come out of it is a better relationship and understanding. I don't think we will get any economic benefit. It will be like Russia, we will understand each other and leave each other alone."

John Barry, 70, insurance agent, 155 Pixley Avenue, Corte Madera: "It's a great idea. I think this country has had its head in the sand about many parts of the world. We don't live in isolation any more like we used to. The more friends we have, the more peace we are going to enjoy.

"I think it would stabilize relationships between China, and the United States and if that happens, other benefits follow — trade and that sort of thing. Also less worry about Chinese aggression and a possible pacifying influence on the Soviet Union."

Rose Mary Doy, 28, housewife, part-time student, Park Circle, Woodacre: "I think it is really good because our world is getting smaller all the time and I think cross cultural communication should happen."

She thought it strange that the United States has shut out the Chinese culture for the past 22 years. "It would be nice if the trip led to true peace."

James Scott, 18, student, 15 Theresa Court, Novato: "If they accomplish something toward a peace movement, this would be great."

Philip Coady, 53, securities firm representative, 747 Bradley Avenue, Novato: "I think basically it's a really great idea. You can't ignore people because you don't agree with the way they operate. If it reduces the tensions between the governments, if nothing else, it would be very important."

Gloria Burnett, "over 21," housewife, 1287 Leafwood Drive, Novato: "I have a cousin who has been a prisoner of war for five years and it was three years before we knew if he was alive. I'm hoping it will mean the release of prisoners."

Phoebe Goodwin, 47, housewife, 817 St. Francis Drive, Petaluma: "It isn't a bad idea for him to go there although I doubt very much if anything constructive will come out of it. However, if the ugly American image prevalent in most foreign countries, particularly those that are communist, can be improved it will at least be a step in the right direction. Anyway, it should be an interesting trip since few people know very much about China."

Ronald E. Belford, 29, insurance agent, 410 Petaluma Boulevard South, Petaluma: "I think it's really great. I think it will at least open up the lines of communication. As a leader in world affairs, the United States should do everything possible to promote world understanding."

Kazuko Munetake, 25, secretary, 31 Straub Lane, Petaluma: "Yes, I guess I approve of it. I keep hoping something will happen, but I doubt it."

Boris Simonow, 55, service station operator, at 340 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley: "I don't approve of the trip. I left Russia to get away from the communists. I don't like communists. I was born in Russia ... and lived 17 years in Chile (now ruled by a Marxist president) and have been in the U.S. seven years. I don't think I should talk about Nixon. I'm not an American citizen, I'm a stateless man. A lot of Russians in San Francisco don't like the trip either. They think capitalism and communism are balancing forces ... that should be kept separate."

Anne Westbrook, 42, bakery co-owner, 363 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley: "I approve of the trip. I think it will bring about a better world situation. It's time to talk over our problems. It can't hurt to talk. I hope the trip might benefit the entire world, not just America, and might better the situation with all communist nations. I don't think we'll see a definite, fast reaction, but it (the trip) shows we're willing to make a move to talk over world problems. They (the Chinese) wouldn't come to us so we had to go to them."

Marcia A. Johnson, 22, insurance supervisor, 31 Manzanita Avenue, San Rafael: "I think it's fine for Nixon to go there. I'd like to go there too. His going may help me travel to China. He's furthering my own purposes. Other than that, I can't see what difference it (the trip) will make in my life. I think the trip will open China up for tourists, but the sure thing is that Life magazine is going to make a lot of money with a special China edition."

EOC Asked To Clean Up Funds Mess

Directors of the Marin Council for Civic Affairs have called upon the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council to tighten up fiscal practices in the wake of the agency's financial muddle.

Ezilda Lucheta, secretary of the council, said the group voted Wednesday night to send a letter to Robert P. Simmons, EOC board president, pointing out a "lack of administrative policy for accounting procedures and continuing fiscal review."

Regional headquarters of the federal Office of Economic Opportunity announced a full-scale audit of EOC books last week after it was disclosed the Marin Agency had spent nearly $63,000 in poverty funds that should have gone to Orange County without being able to explain on what it was spent. It also was revealed last week that the EOC had a $30,000 operating deficit.

The civic affairs group, while endorsing the EOC's goals, urged in its letter that "steps be taken to incurse that confusion that has existed during the past will not continue during your forthcoming program year.

"Immediate minimum action must be the establishment of a budget which shows all anticipated income and expenditures properly assigned to their respective program areas. Also, a system of continuing fiscal review of income and expenditures must be instigated."

In other businesses Wednesday, the council board nominated Betty May Forry of Marinwood for appointment to the next Marin County Grand Jury. Marin's Superior Court judges are seeking jury nominations from various county groups and agencies.

Beautification

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman John Stull, R-Leucadia, introduced a bill Thursday declaring it is the intent of the legislature to preserve the beauty of California's coastline.

Pat Buys Pajamas For Nixon

PEKING (UPI) —Pat Nixon bought her husband a pair of $8.50 silk pajamas on a Peking shopping trip today. Then she tried out her Chinese in a visit to a children's hospital, where she watched three small girls undergo acupuncture treatment.

It was Mrs. Nixon's busiest day since she came to China for President Nixon's summit conference with Chinese leaders. Earlier, she joined her husband for a tour of the Forbidden City, home of Old China's emperors, viewing the historic site in a storm that piled snow ankle deep.

The First Lady bought the pajamas at the Friendshop Shop in downtown Peking. She also was attracted by the sight of a jade ring, but when told it cost $80,000, threw up her hands.

"It's beautiful but, oh, no!" Mrs. Nixon exclaimed.

Mrs Nixon called on the President's Marine aide, Maj. Jack Brennan to try on the pajama tops to see if they would fit her husband.

She also purchased a dozen coffee cups and saucers with a large coffee sugar and creamer in the Chinese blue and white "rice pattern." She paid $13.76 for the set and said it was for her daughter, Mrs. David Eisenhower, "who always has Navy wives stopping in, and she doesn't have enough cups."

While Mrs. Nixon was looking at bolts of silk fabric, a stocky redhaired woman entered the shop, stared at the First Lady, then turned away. The woman was Mrs. B. C. Tolstikov, wife of the Soviet ambassador to Peking. She left a few moments later.

Nixons See Past In Forbidden City

PEKING (UPI) —President Nixon took a break today in his wearying 20th Century diplomacy to marvel at the Forbidden City, where almost five centuries of emperors shaped Old China's history from thrones of gold.

Escorted by Yeh Chien-ying, China's leading military figure, Nixon and his wife spent 90 minutes touring the Imperial Palace's living quarters and three throne rooms. The palace, in the heart of Peking, now is a museum.

The Nixons, bareheaded and smiling despite heavy snow and temperatures in the 20s, walked and drove through about 40 of the 250 acres in the palace grounds. Several hundred Chinese tourists —families with small children, teen-age girls and off-duty soldiers —looked on quietly curious.

Nixon broke into a broad smile when he saw the main throne in the Hall of Supreme Harmony, elaborately fashioned atop a six-foot dais and backed by an elaborately carved screen.

In the third throne room, only a few yards away, Mrs. Nixon showed special interest in a collection of art works and imperial treasures dating thousands of years into China's history.

"She took a more female interest in what would be lovely in the home," said UPI reporter Helen Thomas, who accompanied the presidential party. "Nixon seemed more interested in the emperor's court, where he received ambassadors and that sort of thing."

The palace has stood in its present general form since 1407, when it was constructed by the third Ming emperor, Yong Le. Surrounding the palace itself was a walled area, into which the Chinese people were forbidden to go, called the Purple Forbidden City. The color purple was associated with the North Star, and was used to show that the imperial residence was the center of the cosmos.

Buildings inside the Forbidden City were gradually opened to the public after the Manchu Dynasty fell in 1911, and now can be seen for an admission charge of less than 5 cents. But the imperial living quarters continued to house royalty until 1924 when the final emperor, Aisin-Gioro Pu Yi, left China.

Bill Asks For Interpreters

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill which would require all counties to provide court interpreters has been introduced by Assemblyman Dixon Arnett.

Arnett said Thursday the foreign language translators would assist persons in criminal cases and provide free interpreting services for indigent persons involved in civil actions.

Arnett said the law currently provides the interpreters only in counties with populations of more than 90,000.

Glum Mood In Japan Over Visit

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan is as nervous as a new bride and as hurt as a rejected suitor over President Nixon's trip to China but it's top men can't officially say a word against the visit.

Nixon's trip is especially tough on Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, 70, who has been trying to mend the longtime rift between Japan and China for several years. Each time he tries, however, Chinese officials say the two countries will never be friends as long as Sato is in office.

In this mood earlier this week, Sato glumly watched television coverage of Nixon's arrival in Peking. His reaction, according to Japanese news reports, was a sarcastic comment.

"Well, Nixon himself says it's the great event of the century, so perhaps it may be true. Circumstances do not permit me to say," Sato was quoted as saying.

There has been no official comment on the trip and none is expected.

At the same time, there have been definite Japanese moves to expand their relations and perhaps shed some of the dependence on the United States which has grown since World War II.

For one thing, there has been a noticeable thaw in relations with the Soviet Union.

Trial Date In Marijuana Case Is Set

Walter Jerome Haas, 21, of San Rafael and three friends are due to be tried the week of April 24 in Marin Superior Court on marijuana charges.

Charged with possessing pot along with Haas are Rebecca Whit Burgwin, 21, and Charles Frederick Weck, 21, both of San Rafael, and Sereno Samuel Scranton III, 22, of Santa Barbara.

The four young persons were arrested by drug agents Nov. 9 after two persons arrested in Oregon with $18,000 and a small quantity of hashish told officers Haas had sent them to buy a boat.

After a search warrant was obtained for Haas's home, agents seized 10 pounds of suspected pot. The other three persons also were living at the house, according to agents.

Rail Crossing Fund Allocated To Novato

California's Public Utilities Commission has allocated $5,775 to aid Novato in increasing rail crossing safety.

The city and railroad have agreed to share equally in the construction of two flashing light signals with automatic gates at the intersection of Lamont Avenue and the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks. Cost of construction was estimated to be $24,600, according to the commission.

The commission's allocation will pay half the city's share of construction of the project. This money will come from the PUC's Crossing Protection Fund, which was established by the legislature to assist cities and counties in providing increased protection at highway grade crossings.

As recently as last April two Novato teen-agers were injured when their car was struck by a freight train on the Northwestern Pacific's tracks. That incident occurred at a different intersection, Lamont Avenue, which was protected by flashing lights and an alarm bell at the time.

Although both Paul A. Otis, 17, and Debbie Pond, 17, were injured critically, they survived.

An Arrest On Armed Robbery

Donald Lynn Keopke, 24, of 10 Jesse Lane, Petaluma, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of armed robbery.

Keopke was booked into Sonoma County Jail for arraignment today in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court. Petaluma Detective William Reed said Keopke was arrested after he was questioned at his home about the Feb. 4 robbery at the Fast Gas Service station, 2601 Lakeville Highway.

He reportedly led police to a spot where he had discarded a ski mask used in the hold up. Reed said a .22-caliber revolver believed used in the robbery was found at his home.

Jaycee Chaplain Will Be Speaker

Pat Parnell of Sacramento, state chaplain of the Jaycees, will speak at a prayer breakfast of the Novato Jaycees at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow at Sambo's restaurant.

The breakfast is scheduled as a prelude to the Novato Community Congress, which starts at 8:30 a.m. at Novato High School.

President Worth (Skip) Fenner said the Jaycees also will operate a car wash at the Novato Chevron Station, Seventh Street and Grant Avenue Saturday, starting at 9 a.m., with the proceeds to go to community projects.

Behr To Conduct Forum Thursday

State Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, will conduct a forum Thursday in Strawberry to discuss issues and problems with southern Marin residents.

The gathering will take place at 8 p.m. in the Strawberry Community Building, 118 East Strawberry Drive.

Behr said, "Any question by a citizen will be acceptable and I will do my best to provide the answer." He also said staff members would record questions needing research and report back to the questioner at a later date.

Safer Way To Cross Is Sought

Two Tiburon residents — Carolyn Schoenstein and Anne Johnson — have begun circulating petitions asking that the California Division of Highways find some way to make the crossing of Tiburon Boulevard safer for children.

The two are asking concerned citizens to sign the petitions and send them directly to district engineer T. T. Lammers at the Division of Highways, Box 3366-Rincon Annex, San Francisco.

They say there have been "many instances of near misses of our children by drivers who have ignored the directions of the crossing guards" posted at crosswalks."

Special areas of concern are the boulevard's intersections with Jefferson Boulevard, Rock Hill and Lyford drives and Avenida Miraflores.

Tidal Lock Plans

Preliminary plans for a tidal lock at Bel Marin Keys will be presented by consultant John Blume and associates at a special meeting of the Bel Marin Keys Community Services District at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Bel Marin Keys Community Center.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Two San Rafael Restaurants To Observe Birthdays In March

Restaurants are very conscious of their anniversaries.

The primary reason is that the first year is a touch-and-go period. Will they make a success - or will they fail?

That first year becomes a measuring stick for each subsequent year of a restaurant's operations. Every succeeding year, they believe, must show an improvement over the first 12 months, or the restaurant's chances for survival are slim.

During March, two San Rafael restaurants are weighing their progress. But they have occasion to celebrate in every sense of the word, because both have done exceptionally well.

The Grotto on Lincoln Avenue observes its fourth anniversary on March 1, next Wednesday. Before Stan and Ursula Valan opened in 1968, people had talked about the opportunity for a good seafood restaurant in San Rafael - but no one had done anything about it. The Valans listened to the talk and acted.

From what actually was a standing start they have done amazing things and their place invariably is well-filled. The menu has grown from a few standard dishes to include a number of Grotto specialties as Mrs. Valan taxed her mind for new ideas.

Her latest menu includes several of these specialties, which have proved to be most popular. Two that I have tried and have found satisfying to a high degree are the Hawaiian brochettes and a new beef ragout. There are others.

Next Wednesday you can expect Ursula to provide something "extra" to diners of the evening. It won't be a free dinner, or a bottle of champagne. But the last I heard she was talking about a complimentary shrimp cocktail for every diner that night, and a plate of hors d'oeuvres on every table.

ANOTHER MARCH ANNIVERSARY is that of Le Chalet Basque at Santa Venetia. It comes a week or 10 days later in the month and I haven't yet discovered what Raymond and Eugnie Coscarat have in mind for their customers - but I know they'll think of something.

Le Chalet Basque has a few more years to its credit that the Grotto - 10 full years to be exact — so the Coscarats have settled into a long distance stride.

Born in neighborhing villages in the Pyranees Mountains on the French-Spanish border, they had never met until they came to this country about 15 years ago. That event was to take place in San Francisco at a Basque party. They married in 1959 and in another three years decided to take on the tiny Gambit in Santa Venetia. That first year for them must have been a difficult one. The Gambit didn't have much room in the first place and it needed a lot of dressing up before it was attractive enough to draw in many Marin customers.

Le Chalet Basque was remodeled several times - or it might be more accurate to say that for the first four years it underwent an almost continuous remodeling process. Its major change took place in 1966, followed a year later by the acquisition of a general onsale liquor license. Prior to that it had been able to serve only wines and beers.

I am told there is still more remodeling to follow. Raymond never quite runs out of ideas for changes, but he is taking longer to think them out.

Did I mention that this place specializes in French and Basque food? You'll enjoy it.

Artist To Exhibit

Paintings by Marin County artist Nan Fowler will be exhibited at the Palate Restaurant on Throckmorton Street in Mill Valley beginning tomorrow. The exhibit will run approximately two weeks.

SIZZLER FAMILY STEAK HOUSE apparently has designs on opeing another restaurant in Marin County. From present indications it seems that Nellen Avenue in Corte Madera is the chosen area. There is now a Sizzler in Novato.

RANCHO NICASIO has a new banquet room, or will have when it is completed. It's called the Trophy Room and will seat 45 or 50 persons.

THE RICE TABLE in San Rafael is now closed Mondays and Tuesdays instead of Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Indonesian dinner are served throughout the rest of the week from 5:30 to 10 p.m.

JEAN AND JIM McKEE love to have special parties at their 721 Lincoln Avenue restaurant in San Rafael.

If they don't think of some excuse for one, ideas generally come in from the outside. Latest to be planned is a "leap year party" - which of course will be next Tuesday (and that excuse won't be good for another four years).

Hours will be from 7:30 p.m. until closing - whatever that time may be on this occasion. There will be a buffet dinner and tables will be shifted around for dancing. And there will be prizes presented to the ladies.

THE DINING ROOM at Peacock Gap Country Club, San Rafael, is now closed on Mondays. Lunches are served throughout the rest of the week from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. (with brunches on Sundays). No dinners are being featured at present, except to special groups by advance reservations.

PROBABLY BETTER KNOWN to Marin restaurateurs than their regular customers is Gerald Yvernault, who has been Northern California manager for Kobrand, U.S. importer for Ginestat and Louis Jadot wines from France.

He did so well here in the strong competition of a natural loyalty to our California wines that the company has promoted him to national wine sales manager and is moving him and wife Dominique to New York.

There will be a bon voyage party for him next Sunday at Le Camembert in Mill Valley - which has been handling his wines - naturally.

LAST WORD we had from Harry Marsden was that he was bending every effort toward an opening of the new Au Relais Restaurant in Sonoma by the first of March at 691 Broadway. This is in the downtown area and will offer several new attractions, including a general onsale liquor license. Au Relais was formerly on Arnold Drive.

IN SAN FRANCISCO, plans have been announced by Edward Sullivan, vice president and general manager of the 700-room Hyatt House scheduled to open later this year on Union Square, for two new restaurants.

They are II Fellucca, named for small sailboats once used by Italian fisherman in San Francisco, and the One Up, a steak and chops restaurant which will have a view of the Golden Gate from its perch on the 36th floor.

II Fellucca will be a specialty restaurant featuring seafood from around the world for lunch and dinner, and lox for breakfast.

The One Up will be arranged in seating groups, each served by a group host, who will have freedom to develop and serve his particular specialties.

Two Stabbings At High School

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Two Lincoln High School coeds were stabbed Wednesday near the school library in separate, minutes-apart incidents.

Principal Harvey Christensen said Paula Cuddy, 17, was stabbed in the back and admitted to San Francisco General Hospital with a punctured lung. Linda Saito, 15, was stabbed in both the right and left upper arms. She was treated at Mission Emergency Hospital and released.

Christensen said Miss Cuddy told him she was stabbed after three girls demanded money and Miss Cuddy told them she had none. "Oh yes you do" one of the three shouted and then one of the girls stabbed her, Christensen said.

A similar incident occurred to Miss Saito.

Honors Due 70 Boys At Banquet On Monday

Approximately 70 boys, aged 7 to 15, will be honored at the Marin City Boys Club's fourth annual awards banquet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

Gene Washington, wide receiver for the San Francisco 49ers, will be guest speaker for the event, according to Manford Chandler, club director.

The club's boy-of-the-year will be named at the banquet and awards will be presented for basketball, baseball, boys of the months and best sportsman.

The dinner will include ham, turkey, baked potato, green salad, ice cream and cake, wine and coffee.

A no-host cocktail hour will begin at 6 p.m. and the program is scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets may be purchased from the club.

Further information may be obtained from Chandler at the club, 640 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

29,000 Held By Indonesia Communists

DJAKARTA (UPI)—Communist political prisoners still held in Indonesian detention camps number 29,152, says the official news agency Antara.

Quoting the deputy commander of the Indonesian national security agency, Gen. Sumitaro, Antara said prisoners detained for suspected involvement in the 1965 Communist-inspired coup attempt numbered 146,000 in 1966.

SUBSTITUTE FOR MOTHER

With a stocking cap substituting for its mother's pouch, keeper Mary Ann Moore comforts a 7-month-old baby kangaroo at the St. Louis Zoo. The young female has been cared for in the animal nursery at the zoo since its mother died at birth. The nursery will be its home for at least another six months. (UPI Telephoto)

Welfare Chief Ordered To Right Fund Problem

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — State Welfare Chief Robert Carleson has 30 days to determine the huge, but unknown, price tag of a ruling by a panel of three federal judges.

The judges said Thursday Carleson disobeyed a court order and directed him to comply with due process before cutting aid to needy children.

The panel stopped short of citing Carleson for contempt, as urged by the plaintiffs, but said his action was "abdication of responsibility."

Carleson was directed to report within 30 days on what he has done to make sure that the notices to welfare recipients comply with requirements of due process.

He also was ordered to rescind all past determinations, suspensions or reductions in benefits without "full compliance" with previous court orders.

The number of such cuts was believed to be large but unknown to state officials. the practices differed in each county.

Carleson, the state director of social welfare, was told to report to the court within 30 days just how great the administrative and financial burden on the state and counties would be because of the ruling Thursday.

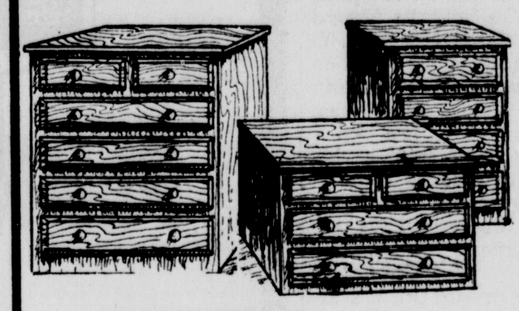

In Sacramento, Carleson insisted he had complied with the requirements of due process when he instructed local welfare directors on how to serve proper notice to recipients that their aid was being reduced or terminated.

Under terms of the state new welfare reform law, an estimated 100,000 families would have suffered reductions or termination of their grants in the Aid To Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program.

War Inspector

SAIGON (UPI) —The U.S. chief of naval operations, Adm. Elmo R. Zumwalt, arrived here today for a three-day "routine update" on the status of the Vietnam War, Navy spokesmen said.

Citations Rise In Corte Madera

Parking citations are up almost five-fold and tickets for violations of driving laws increased even more dramatically over a year ago in Corte Madera because of a police crackdown, it was revealed yesterday.

Police statistics show 96 illegal parking citations were issued in January, compared to 20 in January 1w70. Driving violations cited totaled 45 last month, compared to 7 the previous January.

Chief David L. McIntosh blamed the low figures last year on a shortage of men, but said there has been a crackdown since September. An officer now spends two to three hours a day searching out parking violations in contrast to last year when officers responded only to complaints, he said.

Increased attention to vehicle violations had been sought by homeowners groups and businessmen, who complained commuters were parking in two-hour zones near their shops.

Police figures also showed 41 arrests on 91 reported crimes in January. Sixteen of those arrested were juveniles. Most frequently committed crimes in January were burglary and shoplifting, 11 cases each, and vandalism, which was reported 10 times.

Early-Day Mill Valley On Display

An exhibit of photographs of early-day Mill Valley citizens is on display in the foyer of the Mill Valley Public Library through March 11.

Some of the pioneers pictured came to Mill Valley when the total population was 50 or 60 permanent residents; others came from San Francisco after the 1906 fire and earthquake. All have tape-recorded their reminiscences for the Mill Valley Library Association's oral history committee, a group working to preserve the town's early history.

Tapes of the interviews can be heard at the library and typed transcripts are available for circulation.

More interviewers are needed. Volunteers who can work with the committee for one or two hours a month should leave their names with librarian Alberta L. Hankenson, she said.

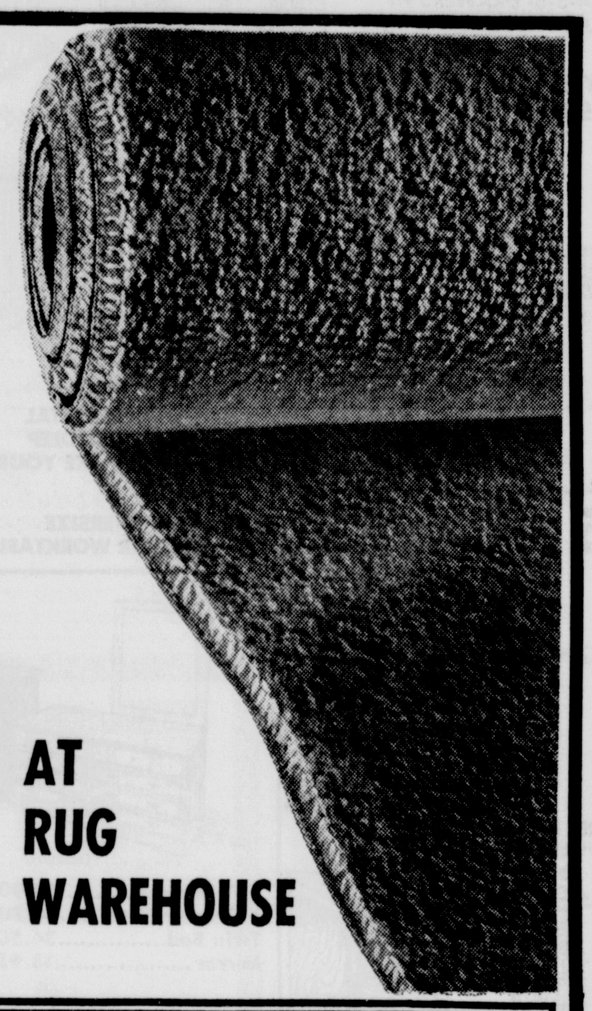

To Vacaville For Evaluation

Bruce David Morawe, 28, of no known address, has been sent to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville for a 90-day presentencing evaluation after pleading guilty in Marin Superior Court to a Mill Valley burglary.

Morawe, who acted as his own attorney, entered the guilty plea before Judge Samuel W. Gardiner Wednesday. He said he had earlier burglary convictions.

He was arrested Oct. 31 after police stopped him to question him about a burglary in a residence on Lovell Avenue. A wallet taken from the residence was in his car.

Women At Hamilton In Major Positions—Autos To Protocol

By DOROTHY NEWELL

The hood of a bus was raised and the engine, battery, water in the radiator and the level of the oil were all inspected. From there, the inspector turned attention to a taxi which was to take VIP's to the city.

These were only two of the 300 vehicles at Hamilton Air Force Base inspected each year. However, in this case the inspector was not a man as usually seen in a service station but a blonde-haired 26-year-old woman in the Air Force who is the vehicle operations officer.

That is not the only previously male job now held by a woman at Hamilton. Protocol, that all important segment of military life which deals with proper procedure for every occasion, is also headed by a young woman.

Billie J. Martin, who has the distinction of being one of five women in the Air Force to complete the motor vehicle management officer's course at Chanute Air Force Base in Illinois, is vehicle operations officer at Hamilton.

STAFF SGT. CAROLYN Tonnemacher is the first woman at Hamilton to serve as protocol officer. The young, married woman will leave the service this year to join her husband, Richard, in civilian life in Marin County.

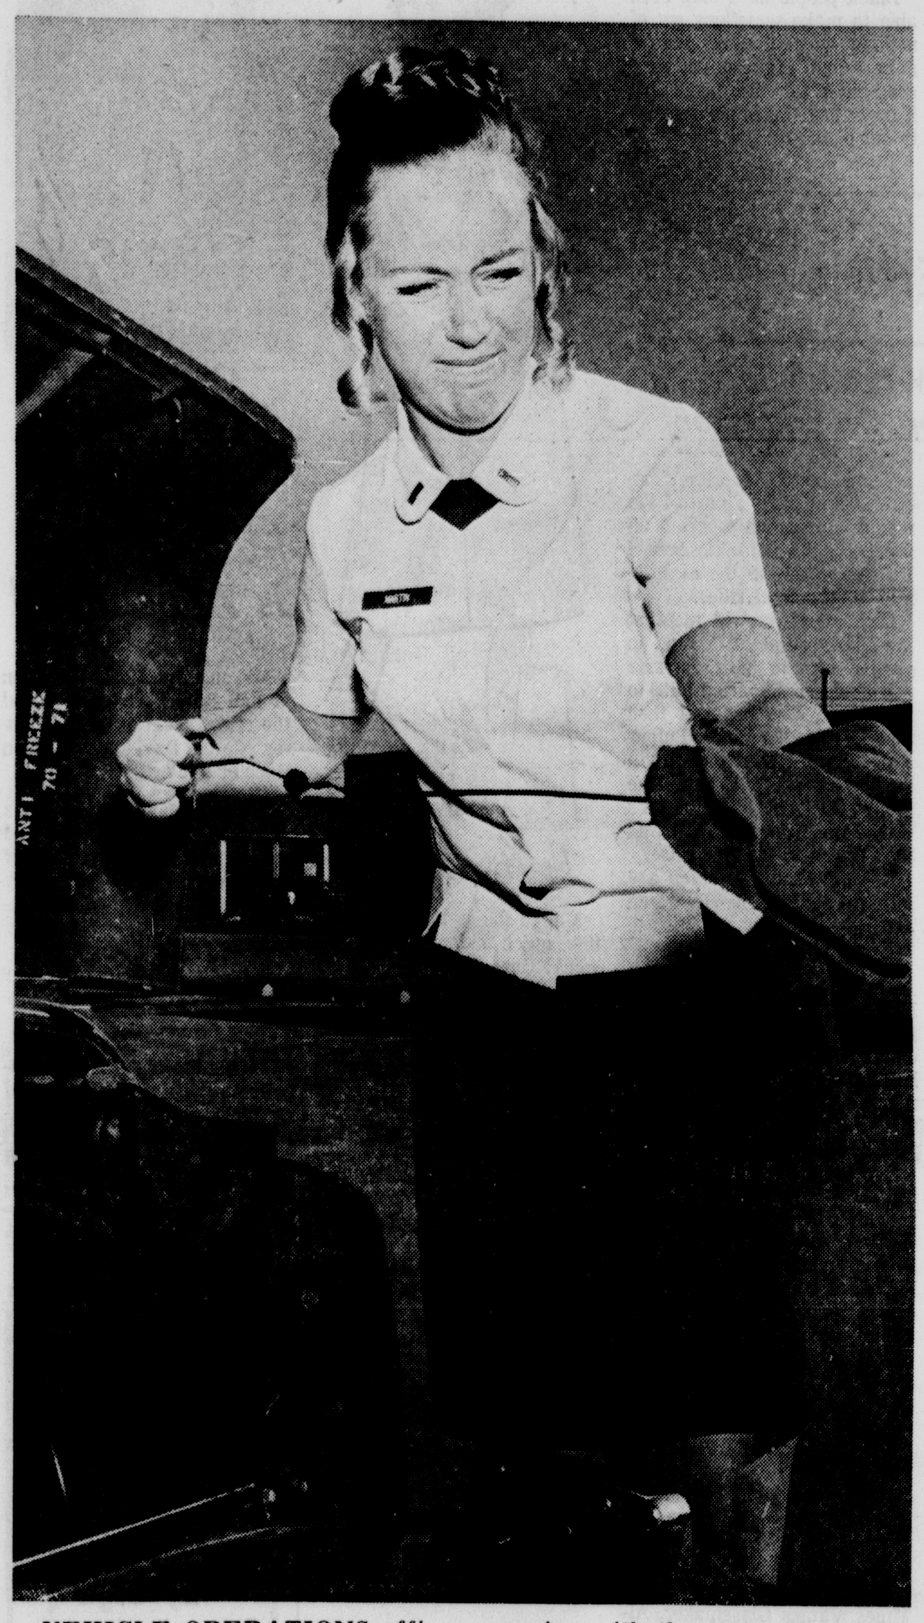

Lieutenant Martin, who says she "grew up in the service," received her officer's training at Lackland Air Force Base. Her father, William R. Martin, is a retired Army major.

Billie Martin joined the service on April 9, 1971, following five years of college. She attended Sullins College in Bristol, Va., and was graduated from Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, Va., where she majored in interior design.

Her preference in the service was intelligence, but she did not have the requirements of mathematics and language, so she was offered a place in trasnportation.

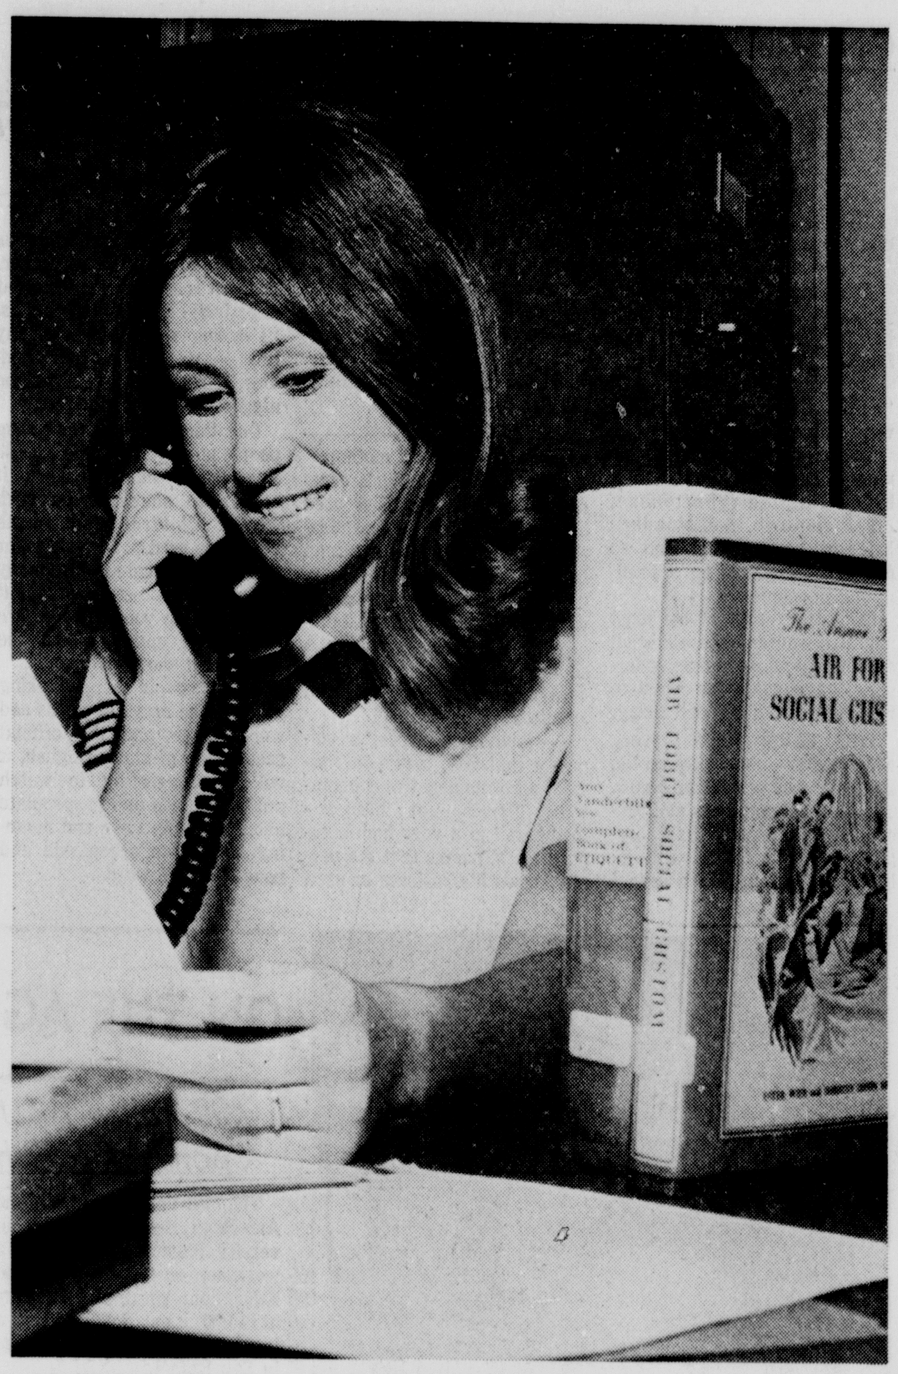

She has direct supervisory responsibility for administering and managing the base motor vehicle fleet. She says her de-

ANOTHER FIRST at Hamilton Air Force Base is a woman protocol officer. Staff Sgt. Carolyn Tonnemacher's principle job is to find housing and transportation for VIP's who arrive at the base. She will be leaving the Air Force in July and she and her husband, a native Marinite plan to live in Marin County.

GROUP THERAPY

Agency To Conduct A Divorcee Program

By JOAN LISETOR

The Family Service Agency of Marin will be the first family agency in the Bay Area to sponsor a program, geared to divorced and separated persons when its divorce group therapy and group career workshop sessions begin next month.

Divorce group therapy will be led by Mel Krantzler, who leads similar groups at Ross Psychiatric Center and the Marin Jewish Community Center. The first of 10 90 minute sessions will be held March 13 at 7:30 p.m. at the agency office in San Rafael. Since it is geared to help during a crisis period the sessions are for men and women who have been separated or divorced for less than two years.

According to Krantzler, his role as a divorce counselor is to help men and women cope with the trauma of divorce or separation and accept the fact that they are single again, which should be used as an opportunity rather than a tragedy.

"After divorce or separation a person has a choice. He is free to move either in the direction of isolation and self-pity or in the direction of self-actualization and inner peace, which will result in enriching relationships with others," Krantzler said.

GETTING PARTICIPANTS to accept the single state and not view themselves as I-am-waiting-to-be-married-again persons, are goals of the therapy sessions.

When the conflicts of separation have been resolved a person often requires vocational guidance, according to Chester Villalba, executive director of the Family Service Agency.

"The world of work-career goals, training and interesting jobs — offers the positive contact to enhance an individual's sense of :alue to himself and to society," Villalba said.

The first group of career workshops will be held March 17 at 6:30 p.m. The second begins April 14 also at 6:30. Both are four sessions.

Goal of the career workshops is to help participants know themselves better as total persons, to clarify the values and priorities of their lives and to assess the degree of commitment they are willing to make to the world of work, according to Villalba.

"Often a woman has the training but lacks the confidence to be self sufficient. She wonders where to go to tap her potential," Krantzler said.

ALTHOUGH THE workshops are specifically designed for recently divorced or separated persons, men and women who have been divorced longer or are facing a crisis in their marriages are eligible for the service. Any person who has experienced the break-up of a close relationship may also need to discover his job potential and explore new areas for a career.

Workshops will offer realistic assessment of the job potential of each participant, facts of the current labor market, resources for getting good training at minimal or no cost, and advice on how to look for jobs and how to apply properly for the desired job, according to Villalba.

"Middle management jobs have opened up for women as a result of the women's liberation movement," Krantzler said. "Now women must strive for these jobs."

"The movement has led to a revolution of rising expectations. Women are no longer willing to settle for so-called "women's jobs" like low-paid clerical and typing work," Villalba said.

"By keeping the groups small and very inexpensive we can offer the maximum potential for resolving these kinds of problems."

"Participants will receive individual attention but benefit from the group experience by sharing their problems and seeing others who have had similar experiences and resolved their problems," Krantzler said.

"It helps to know you are not unique."

To Clean Spots

Grease may be removed from garments by applying nonflammable dry cleaning fluid to stain areas. Wet stains with cold water and rub dry detergent into the stains. Let stand five minutes, then launder in the hottest water the fabric will allow with one-fourth cup nonchlorine bleach, one-fourth cup detergent and one-fourth cup of a super cleaner, a detergent company suggests.

Marin Women

Vows Are Repeated In Ross Residence

Esther Bullard of Ross became the bride of Anthony A. Turrietta of San Rafael at a ceremony Sunday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. W. Bullard Jr. of Ross.

Esther's attendant was her sister Elizabeth Bullard of Berkeley. Barth Goelz of San Rafael served as best man for the bridegroom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Bullard home.

The couple will make their home in San Rafael.

Esther, qo is the daughter of Mrs. Bullard and the late Mr. Bullard, is a graduate of Sarah Dix Hamlin School in San Francisco and attended the College of Marin.

She is the sister of Brian Bullard of Ross and Edward D. Bullard of San Francisco. Mrs. E. D. Bullard of Kentfield is her grandmother.

Anthony is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Turrietta of Albuquerque, N.M., and the brother of Capt. James Turrietta of Hawaii, Orlando Turrietta of Fairfield and Jonathan Turrietta of New Mexico.

Anthony is a Sir Francis Drake High School graudate. He attended the Collage of Marin, was graduated from California State College at Hayward and received the master's degree from San Francisco State College.

Marinites On Hostess Committee

Mrs. George A. Barnwell of Novato and Mrs. W. W. Collier III of Corte Madera are on the hostess committee for the dinner meeting for alumnae and parents of Temple Buell College. The dinner will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco. College president Dr. Dumont F. Kenny will speak.

Temple Buell College for Women is located in Denver, Colo.

A GOOD AVERAGE

A Consumer Council That Works

By Josephine Ripley
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

"We'll go to bat for you," the Virginia Citizens Consumer Council, Inc., promises local consumers. And it does.

It is one of some 50 citizens consumer organizations in the United States, all of which have a good batting average.

Most of them, like the VCCC, sprung up after the boycotts of 1966 when housewives rose up in protest against spiraling food prices. They are still active and effective.

For example, these are some of the areas in which the VCCC has been engaged in recent months:

GROUND MEAT. The council's supermarket committee made a survey. Was ground sirloin really sirloin? In only one case was this found to be true. Ground meat was ground meat. The only real difference, it turned out, was in the fat content.

As a result of the survey by the council, most ground meat in supermarkets in the Washington area is now graded and labeled lean, extra lean, or regular ground beef — according to the fat content.

Most ground meat is 85 per cent meat and 15 per cent fat, or the ratio may be 75 to 25 per cent.

MRS. DORIS BEHRE, the council president, regards this as one of the projects that "really paid off."

Open dating on milk and milk products. As a result of consumer pressure, most of the big supermarkets in the Washington area are now dating milk. The date when the milk is no longer considered "fresh" is stamped on the top of the carton. On cottage cheese or yoghurt, it may be found on the bottom of the carton, if the store has adopted the practice.

Canned baby formula. The council has been working with the Virginia Department of Agriculture and Commerce on this in a drive for open dating. This canned food may become spoiled after 18 months. Some cans have been found that should have been removed from the shelves in 1963.

Legislation for open dating has been introduced in the Virginia Legislature. Some companies have been dating cans for the past two years. The council has alerted members to buy cans that have a date on the bottom, not a code.

TOYS. the VCCC pitched in on the toy-safety drive of the Bureau of Public Safety. A council committee compiled a list of 15 guidelines for buying toys, had it printed and placed in department and toy stores.

The council had requests from mothers for speakers on toy safety. A speech was prepared by a writer member and delivered by members of the speakers' bureau.

Seller-beware stickers. The council put out a "consumers care — sellers beware" sticker to paste on complaint letters, defective merchandise, outdated food products, and other appropriate surfaces. A booklet of stickers was sold for $1. Orders came in from more than 40 states. The project brought in almost $2,000, providing money for other projects.

Just to give cooperative sellers a well-deserved pat on the back, the council has just put out a new sticker that reads: "When business cares — consumers are aware." This has not yet become a best seller, Mrs. Behre reports.

These are but a few of the activities in which the council is engaged. It has some 600 members, about 100 of whom are actively working for the council on their own time — as much as they can spare of it.

THEY ARE all volunteers and receive no pay. They include lawyers, teachers, writers, researchists, public speakers, typists, and perhaps most important of all — housewives.

Dues are $3 a year for individuals, $25 for organizations.

The council has no office. It prefers to spend the money on projects instead.

It maintains touch with consumers through its "dial-a-consumer" service. Brief messages of consumer interest are recorded weekly and can be heard around the clock. Up to 2,000 calls have been logged in one week. The service has been operating for the past three years.

When asked how to start a consumer organization, Mrs. Behre replied:

"A consumer organization should be formed in response to a need for it. There must be such a need to justify its existence.

"Then, if the need is there, you must find a way to meet it, and get the story across that you are available to work toward its solution."

The next job is one of survival. "You must have a strong grass-roots base," she says. "That is the whole reason for our success. We have true member involvement. Everyone does his thing."

Lawyers offer their services on legal matters. They work when they can.

Teachers may give night classes on consumer education. Researchers go from store to store comparing merchandise and prices. Writers work on booklets and publicity material.

THE COUNCIL has a speaker's bureau and members with experience in this field speak to clubs and other groups on consumer matters.

Housewives, with expertise in any field, give what time they can to the work of the council.

There is work for all — and everyone "can do his thing." The council is involved, to a degree, in some 15 projects or issues.

Mrs. Behre gives testimony before congressional committees, makes speeches in many parts of the country, and teaches courses on consumer education.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Husband On Witchcraft Kick; She Doesn't Know What To Do

DEAR HELEN:

My husband, age 45, a professional man, has pierced his ear, is wearing an earring and is uncommonly interested in witchcraft these days.

I was looking in the bottom drawer of an old file yesterday and came across some brass vessels, a red velvet-covered book (locked), and my mortar and pestle which I had formerly used for garlic-smashing.

I panicked. I screamed and called him weird. He refused to explain why he'd pierced his ear (which is still draining and looks infected but he won't see a doctor). Nor will he tell me what he's going to use this other stuff for.

He is not a "hippie" in appearance or philosophy. Naturally he won't see a psychiatrist as he insists he's perfectly normal. Should I see one instead? — NOT A WITCH

DEAR NOT:

With all the witch and warlock talk going around these days, it's no wonder people start delving.

My suggestions: Don't panic. Show interest in this new "experiment." Get your husband talking about it. After that, you'll know whether he's gone overboard or is just dipping his toes into supernatural waters. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

You seem to think it's just fine for men to ogle girlie magazines, and even go to topless bars for business cocktails. It's women like you who perpetuate the myth that men have a natural-born right to these pasttimes, while women should sit by and slowly die inside.

I, too, think "Hurt" should get a magazine of nude male pictures — I mean very nude — pore over them in front of her husband, leave them out when his friends are around. I wonder how broad-minded he'd be then.

Whether you realize it or not, it does make a woman feel inadequate and unlovely when her husband eyes the nudies. I know. I've been there. — M.Y.

DEAR M:

A woman who is sure of her husband seldom feels inadequate when he occasionally picks up a girlie magazine — unless he's stupid enough to make comparisons. Nor would he be jealous if she scanned nude male pictures, though he might consider her off balance, women supposedly being turned off by this sort of viewing.

... Which brings up another question: Why is it that girlie magazines are accepted on middle-class coffee tables, but if a wife hauled out a male-nudie magazine, wow, would the whispers ever start? More double standard, no doubt. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

About the husband who told his wife, "I'd rather see a salmon in that kind of a net," when he saw the braless woman in the see-through crocheted dress: If she was overage and overendowed, he probably spoke the truth — better a salmon than a couple of flounders.

But a cute young kitten in a net see-through can make a wolf out of any old goat. If he pretended disinterest, he was probably still sneaking glances — and trying to impress his wife. — TOM McK.

DEAR TOM:

And you ought to know. Right? — H.

partment is the service station of the Air Force.

APPROXIMATELY 300 vehicles a year are inspected by the lieutenant, 72 of them every three months, including every type of vehicle from a taxi to 10-ton trucks. She checks everything from the oil to the tires.

M/Sgt. Frank P. Wall Jr., surface transportation superintendent with vehicle operations, said that there are more people stopping by the inspection station since Lieutenant Martin took over as transportation officer. Twenty-six male civilian employees and 23 military personnel work at the center.

Billie Martin will be married this month to William E. Irons, an officer stationed at Mather Air Force Base, whom she met while attending Officers Training School at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas.

Sergeant Tonnemacher came to Hamilton on Dec. 31 but will leave in July when her tour of duty is over. Her job is mainly telephone work as she makes reservations for housing and transportation for VIP's who arrive at Hamilton. She says she was fortunate in serving overseas, both in Thailand and Okinawa. A native of Oklahoma, who wanted to "to go places," she met her husband while she was in Okinawa and they were married in Hawaii. Her husband is a graduate of Terra Linda High School and is attending College of Marin.

Carolyn is taking advantage of the Project Transition at Hamilton, which prepares military personnel for civilian work. She works at the hospital two half days a week to help her decide if she wants to study nursing when she leaves Hamilton.

Terra Linda Winner

Susanne E. Upshaw is the Terra Linda High School winner of the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow contest for senior girls. She will compete for the state title with seniors from California high schools on the basis of her written test.

ON BEING BLACK

A Fascinating Cultural Phenomenon

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"Number 17 is a bad mother——," exclaimed an excited spectator seated near us. "He has really got his s— together!"

The young man was referring, with the greatest of admiration, to one of the basketball players who was dazzling the crowd with fantastic 25-foot hoop shots.

My 8-year-old, not batting an eyelash, said, "I think that's part of that black English you were talking about."

The current recognition, exploration and documentation of black English (ghettonese, black rhetoric, non-standard English, black slang and so forth) continues to be a fascinating phenomenon.

Ironically, some of the most negative words — those labeled obscene by white middle America — have undergone complete metamorphosis, as used today.

THE TERM "mf" is very widely used —especially on the streets and on school campuses. To allay existing fears and preconceived notions, it has absolutely nothing to do with its literal definition, i.e., a sexual encounter with one's mother.

"Mf" is used negatively occasionally, but mostly it is used lovingly and with great admiration, especially when one man is complimenting another man. "A bad mother——" is a person who does something outstandingly well -- like a musician, a superb athlete; or in any other area where expertise has been acquired.

S— is another four-letter vulgarity that has, today, lost almost all of its negative connotation. "He's got his s— together!" is a very high compliment. It means that the person knows his business or area of expertise and is "tcb" — taking care of business.

Then there is the both famous and infamous word — nigger. Today it is seldom, if ever, used negatively. Such statements as, "I've known this nigger all my life — we're boon-coon buddies," or simply "I love the nigger" are common.

One thing certain, the young people have got our (the over-30 age group) number when it comes to shocking us with words. Children and adults have long used "bad" words for their shock value. In many cases the tactic still works, but as usual, the young people are not at all uptight about the words that shock us.

With the rapid changes taking place in the arena of words and word usage and the official recognition of black English, it will be interesting to watch public reaction and to speculate about the future use and meaning of today's acceptable and nonacceptable words.

THE DEVELOPMENT of black English has fantastic possibilities. Number one, it can be used as a "tool" and/or a "common meeting ground" for teachers and pupils to help black children learn what is now called standard English, so they can "tcb" when called upon to do so when in the company of standard English-speaking people. Number two, it is a highly literary and creative art form that should be heralded and displayed. Number three, being bilingual or verbally ambidextrous (with black English as the other language) is simply additional expertise for both the black child and the black (and white) teacher.

Black people have long been able to make something out of nothing — chitterlings out of guts —and make something good out of something bad. Can it be we have taken the obscenity out of the obscene?

ON THE AGENDA

Mill Valley AAUW Branch To Sponsor Workshop On Education

The Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women will sponsor a workshop on "Early Childhood Education: Whither?" Tuesday at 10:30 a.m., followed by a luncheon, at Dominican College in San Rafael.

This is a fund-raising event to benefit the AAUW fellowships program for graduate women students.

Members of the workshop panel are Marsha Allen of Alpha Schools, San Rafael; Edith Fecskes, beginning school, Marin City; Joseph H. Denhart, Children's Centers and preschool program, Marin County Schools; Faustine Bray, Island Nursery School, Mill Valley; and Barbara Jenkins, Mill Valley Co-operative Nursery School, College of Marin.

Panel moderator will be James A. Collins, superintendent of the Mill Valley Elementary School District.

Speaker following the 12:15 p.m. luncheon will be Marlowe Teig, director of the Center for the Study of Instruction, Harcourt Brace Jovanovich.

Chairman for the event is Mrs. Ross Shade, who will be assisted by Mmes. Michael Praszker, James Leonard, Rahn Ruedy and Eugene Benton.

Mrs. Praszker is reservations chairman.

A WINE tasting and art exhibit will be sponsored by St. Anthony's Church in Novato at the Holiday Inn in Terra Linda from 5 to 7 p.m. Sunday. It will benefit the building fund of the new church, which opened in August.

The art exhibit will include paintings from a San Francisco collector and Marin County artists. Messrs. and Mmes. Art Irwin and George Hatt of Novato are chairmen. Tickets are available at St. Anthony's Rectory.

AN INVITATION to visit the Bayside and Martin Luther King Schools Tuesday has been accepted by the Sausalito Woman's Club. This is a part of the public information program offered by the Sausalito School District to advise the community of school activities.

Club members will meet at the clubhouse at 10:15 a.m., to go by bus to visit Bayside School classrooms from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. The bus will then take them to the Martin Luther King School, where lunch will be served at 12:15 p.m. The group will visit this school's classrooms from 1 to 2 p.m. and then return to the clubhouse.

Reservations chairmen are Mmes. William R. Berkman and Raymond Roy.

LIVE OAK Camp 7224, Royal Neighbors of America, will hold its annual "butterfly" potluck dinner Monday at 6:30 p.m. at Hermann Sons Hall in Petaluma. A hot dish, salad or dessert for the traditional buffet will be provided by the members.

Members who have "butterfly friends" will present thank you gifts during the name revealing ritual. Mrs. Jessie Hopkins, chairman, has compiled a list of new names which will be drawn for the coming year.

Chairmen of the dinner are Mrs. Hopkins and Mmes. Robert Hebert, Ed Normi and Peter Ross.

INSTALLATION OF new members will be held by Tri-Gamma Sorority at its meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Robert Corbett in Novato.

Completing their pledges are Mmes. James Glassmaker, Albert Globe, Dewayne Lockhart, Robert Musante and Thomas Rosen. Mmes. James Schyberg, president, and Robert Webb, vice president, will be in charge of the ceremony.

Following the installation, members will have dinner at La Petite Auberge in San Rafael.

A FUND-RAISING bridge luncheon will be held by Baywood Unit of the Marin Foundation, Friends of Arequipa, on Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. The party, for members and friends, will be held at the home of Mrs. Carl D. Ringchop in Terra Linda.

A HAM and egg Heart Sunday public breakfast will be held from 7:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday at Scout Hall in Mill Valley, sponsored by Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305 and Mt. Tamalpais Lodge 399, Internatiocal Order of Odd Fellows.

How To Tell Egg's Quality

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stringy white pieces in egg white are a sign of quality, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture USDA Consumer and Marketing Service.

They are chalazas, a thick, white rope-like material that appears on opposite sides of the yolk during formation of the egg. The chalazas — pronounced ka-lay'-za — anchor the yolk in the thick white. Prominent chalazas indicate high quality.

The service also says egg whites that appear greenish or straw-colored instead of crystal clear are not only safe but also nutritious. The colors are due to the riboflavin, or vitamin B2, which is an essential nutrient.

STEAM CANNON — Steam, instead of gunpowder, was used to shoot a ball from this cannon of Da Vinci's design. It was designed to shoot a ball two thirds of a mile.

MACHINE GUN — One of Da Vinci's interests was weaponry. He invented this triple-tier machine gun to achieve greater firepower.

Da Vinci Models In Show

By ADA GARFINKEL

There are few people in the Western world who have not heard of, nor seen, reproductions of Leonardo da Vinci's famous paintings of the Mona Lisa and the Last Supper.

However, not many persons may be aware of Leonardo's genius in other areas as an inventor and engineer far ahead of his time.

A current exhibit at the Ross Valley Clinic at 1350 South Eliseo Drive in Greenbrae is filled with examples — 22 models — of da Vinci's ideas.

Born in 1452 during the height of the Renaissance, when Italy was bursting with vitality, da Vinci had an insatiable curiosity that led him to numerous discoveries which he recorded in "mirror" writing and illustrations.

His findings covered such far-reaching and diverse fields as architecture, engineering, city planning and traffic control, anatomy, botany, optics and music.

It is from these notebooks that the Department of Arts and Sciences of the International Business Machines Corp. has created working models which include both practical and theoretical devices, and which are beautiful enough to be sculptures.

The exhibition, however, is intended as a spur to creative curiosity — primarily for children. The models are in bright colors, low enough to be easily reached. Handles may be cranked; gears may be meshed, and levers pulled — by adults, too!

Among prototypes for present-day usage are models of a helicopter, a jack-lift, a gear sysem, a hydraulic screw, a scaling ladder, a conical, turtle-like military tank, an automatic plumb-bob, and a hygrometer to test humidity.

And the lines and sheer visual beauty of the cut-away section of his double-hull ship and swan-like keel take it a step beyond functionalism into pure aesthetics.

Perhaps most advanced of all is da Vinci's premise that the ideal city should have a "double set of streets —an upper one for free circulation, and a lower one for vehicular traffic and house services." To support this, there is a model of a double-decked bridge — the upper level for pedestrians, and the lower for vehicles.

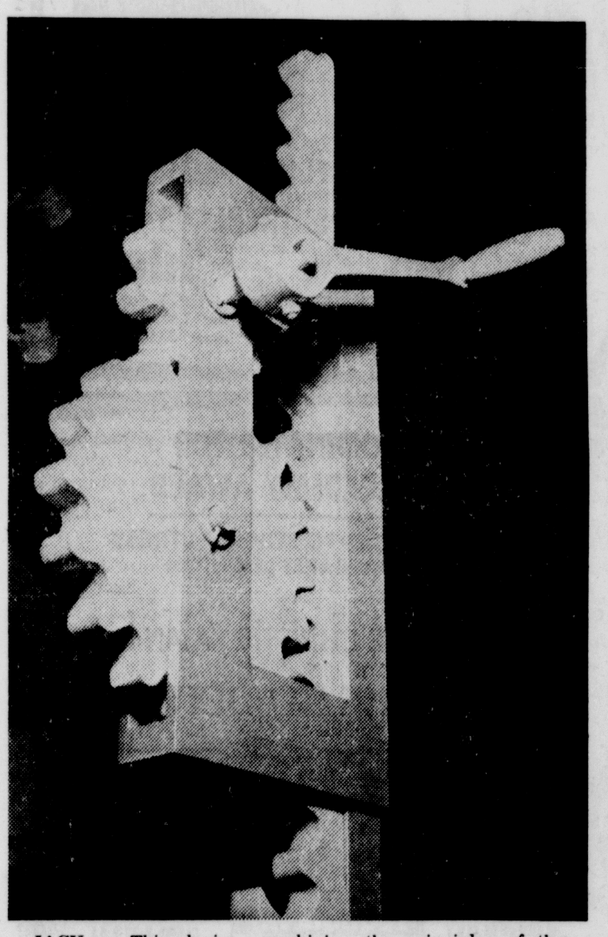

Announcements of the exhibit, which will remain through March 4, have been sent to various educators in Marin, and handbooks are available to teachers, according to Ronald C. Dobler, administrator of the clinic. It is his hope that teachers will arrange field trips for their classes.

As a special courtesy to all visitors, there is a summary statement of the exhibit. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturday.

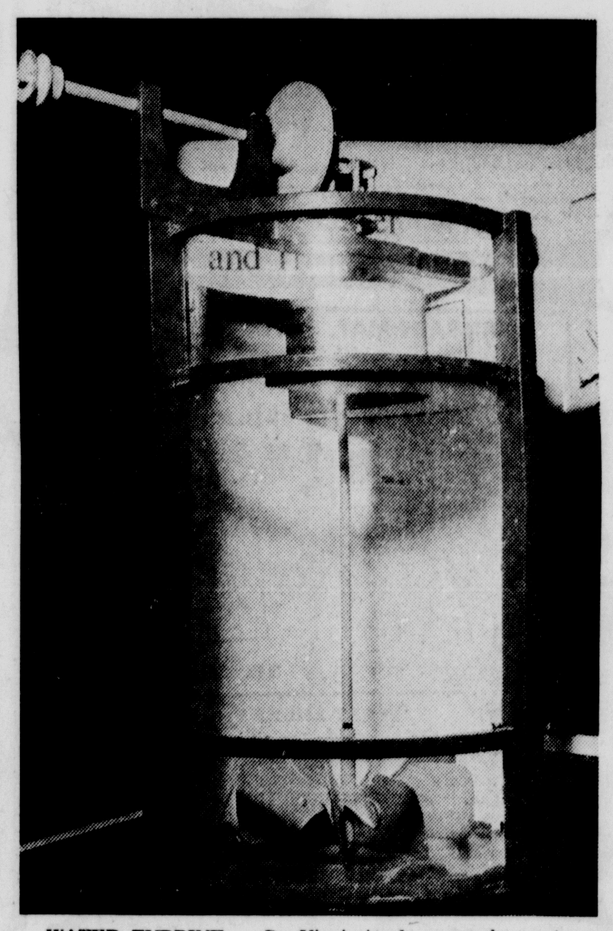

From Marin, the exhibit will travel to Idaho State University at Pocatello.

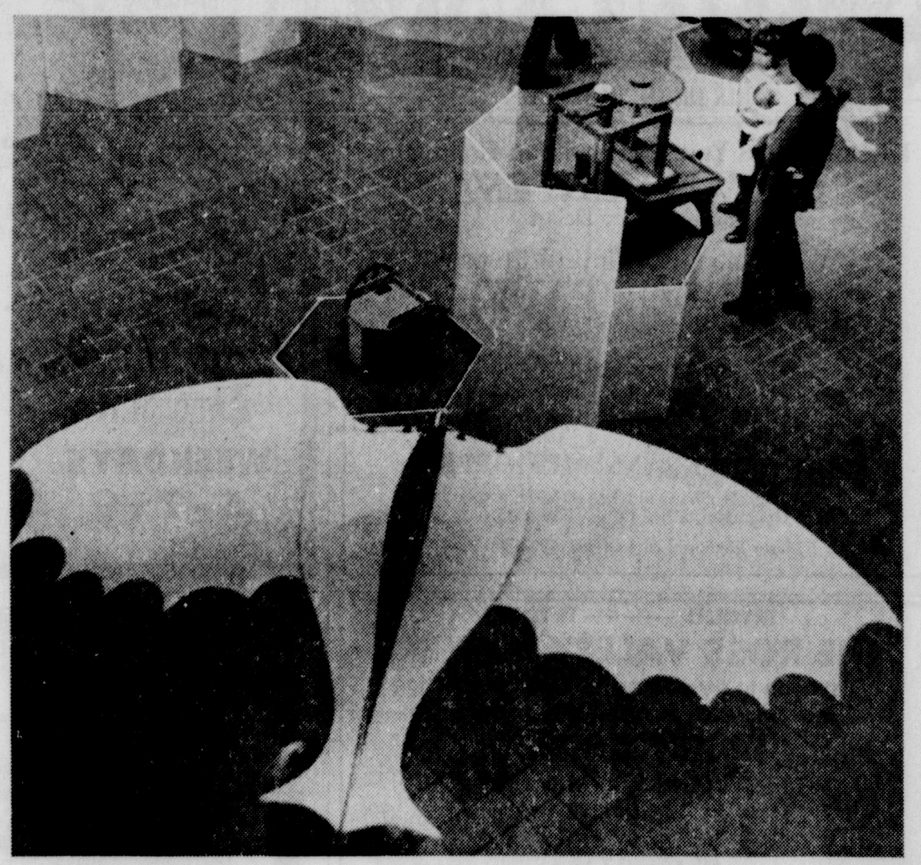

TANK FORERUNNER — Da Vinci's version of the armored tank was invented long before the tank had practical use in modern warfare in World War I.

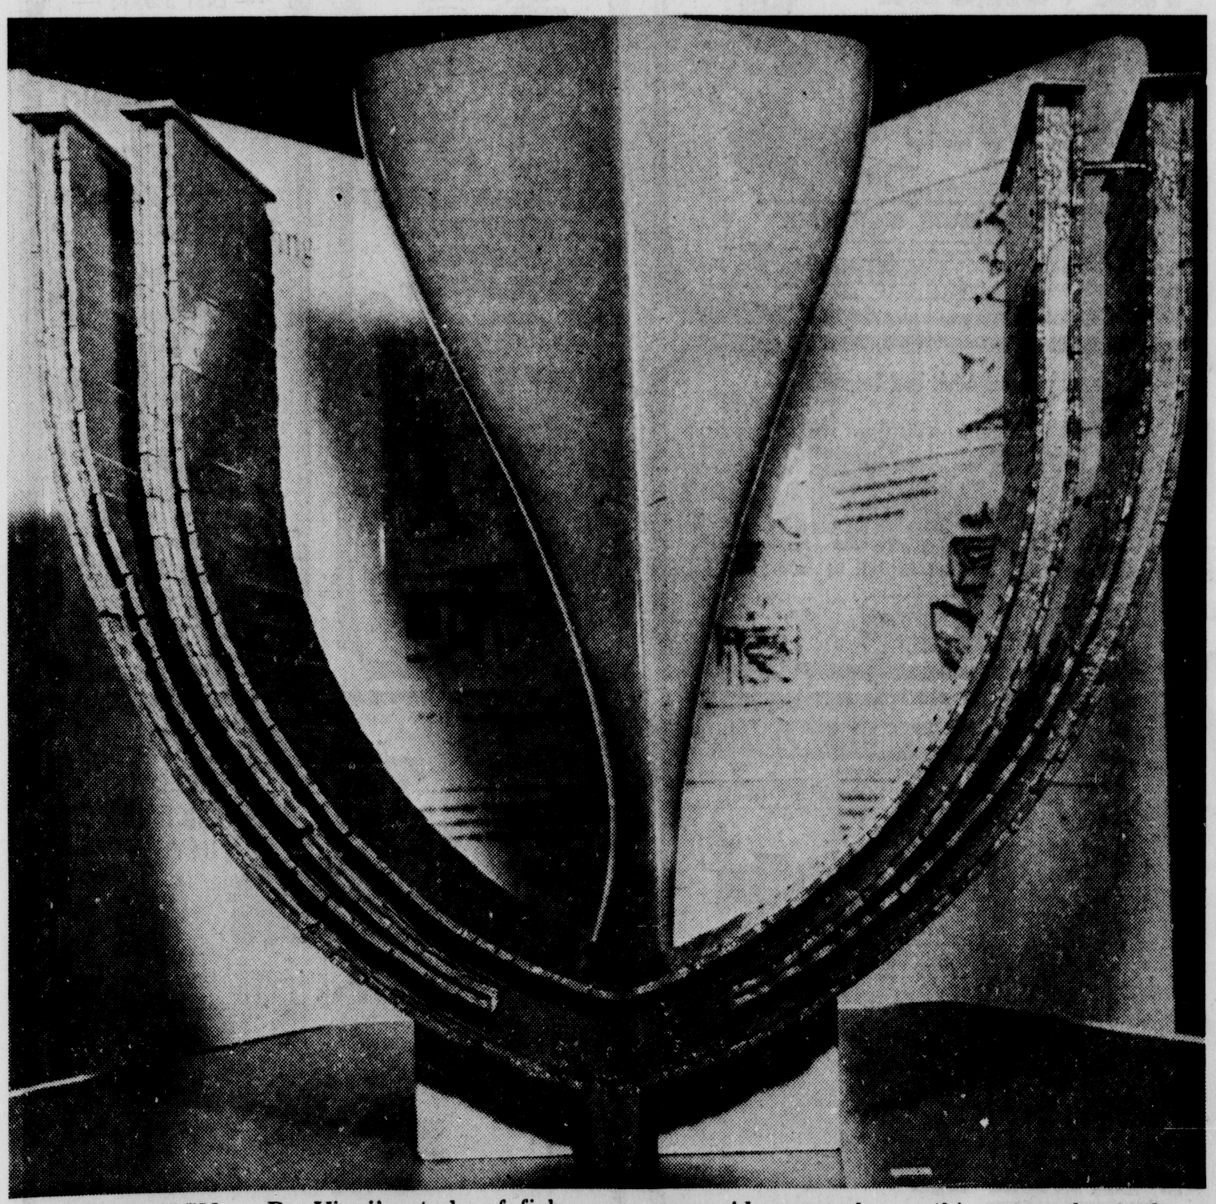

JACK — This device, combining the principles of the pulley, the screw and rachet, is the forerunner of such things as the modern automobile jack.

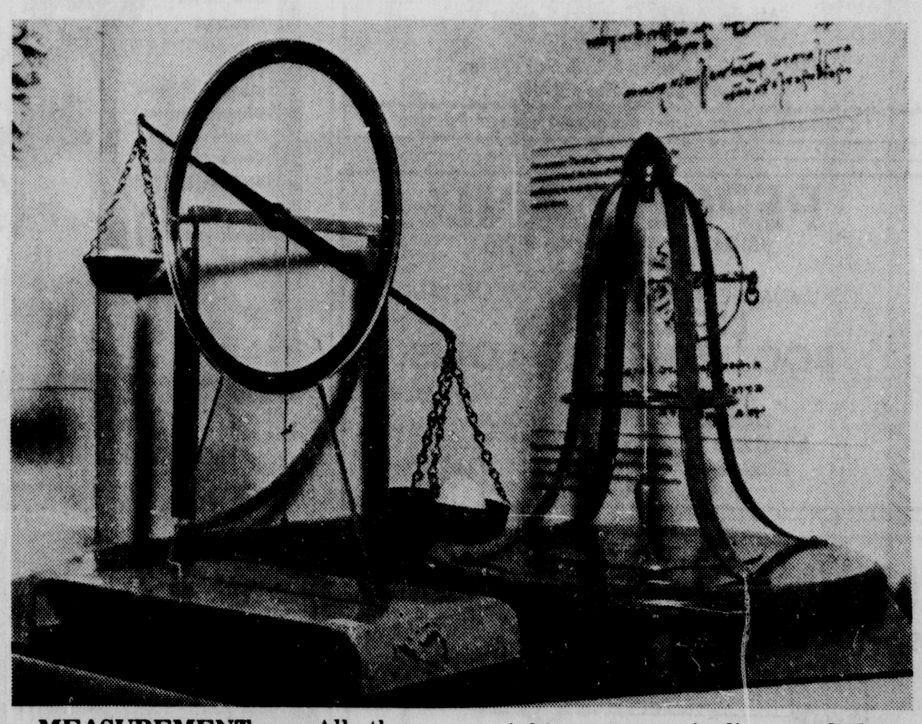

WATER TURBINE — Da Vinci simply encased a water wheel which produced a hydraulic screw — forerunner of the water turbine.

FLYING MACHINE — Da Vinci's idea for a flying machine involved using muscle power to flap the wings built on a wooden framework.

HULL DESIGN — Da Vinci's study of fish shapes and the action of water gave him many ideas, such as this one, about the shape that a ship hull should take.

Posts Are Filled For Campaign

Anne L. Ellingwood has named three persons — George L. Ellman, Karen O'Connor and Gordon Strawbridge — to posts in her campaign for reelection to the Tiburon City Council.

Ellman, of 1090 Vistazo East Street, will serve as chairman of the campaign committee; Mrs. O'Connor, of 9 Mara Vista Court, as coordinator of Miss Ellingwood's neighborhod coffees, and Strawbridge, of 1921 Mar West Street, as treasurer.

HOT LICKS FOR CHILD CARE

Dan Hicks and His Hot Licks, a Sausalito-based group, show off the string instruments and campy fashions that characterize their stage performances. The group will appear at 8 p.m. today and tomorrow in the Fine Arts Building Theater of the College of Marin to raise money for a proposed child care center at the college. Also appearing in the concerts, sponsored by the Associated Students of College of Marin, will by Woodnymphs and Curly/Mark. (Photo from Blue Thumb Records)

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from California and National Parent-Teacher Assn. Magazines and Parent's Magazine unless otherwise noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael City Library.

FAMILY

"Blue Water, White Death" — An expedition which starts at South Africa, then on to Ceylon and Southern Australia in hunting man-eating great white sharks. Fascinating documentary.

"The Boy Friend" — A delightful spoof of Hollywood musicals of the 1920s. Twiggy in her screen debut is charming.

"RA Expedition" — The research and building of reed boats and the incredible 3,270 mile expedition to prove the theory that Egyptians reached the West Indies 2,500 years before Columbus.

"Snow Job" — The spectacular skiing sequences which were photographed in the Alps are so breathtaking that this film would be better had it been treated as a sports documentary, instead of a robbery plot.

"Song of the South" — Reissue of Disney's 1946 rendition of the Uncle Remus tales.

"Wild Country" — Pleasantly familiar formula of pioneer family's move to the West. A disney film with plenty of action.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Cactus Flower" — A middle-aged playboy dentist drafts his proper nurse to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated -ituation with his mistress. Sophisticated comedy.

"The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight" — The Mafia is spoofed in this slapstick comedy with offensive language from Jo Van Fleet. Small-time gangsters try to kill leader of rival mob but get bogged down in details.

"Kelly's Heroes" — An irreverent World War II satirical private enterprise comedy about a group of misfits who execute the theft of $16 million in gold bullion from the Germans while on a three-day pass. Considerable violence.

"Kotch" — This human comedy is about a grandfather who leaves the hoe of his son to set up housekeeping for a young, unmarried, pregnant teen-ager. Highly entertaining.

"Murders of the Rue Morgue" — A gory tale loosely based on Edgar Allan Poe's short story about the search for the killer of members of a "horror theater" troupe in 19th Century France. Much blood and violence.

"When 8 Bells Toll" — Assigned to break a ring hijacking ships, for the gold bullion on board, an intelligence agent masquerades as a marine biologist in Scottish waters.

"Who Slew Auntie Roo?" — A rather overheated horror tale about a batty American lady who lives in a gothic English mansion, worshipping the rotted corpse of her long dead daughter.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Claire's Knee" — French film is a study of uncontrollable love. Characters discuss their feelings and their insight into their own motivation is keen. English subtitles.

"French Connection" — An exciting suspense thriller about two relentless narcotics detectives trying to crack an international heroin smuggling ring. Much violence.

"The Go-Between" — A turn of the century English love story between a highborn girl and a tenant farmer as seen through the eyes of a 12-year-old boy who serves as their messenger. Beautiful photograph. One very explicit sex scene.

"Summer of '42" — Three 15-year-old boys at a summer resort island during World War II are obsessed with sex and its mysteries. How they are enlightened is handled as low key drama. Very frank language.

ADULTS ONLY

"($) Dollars" — Masterminding a robbery of safety deposit boxes of several thieves and racketeers by a prostitute. Considerable violence and tension. Sex antics gives it the rating.

"Klute" — Psychological mystery with a sordid background of the brutally realistic picture of the life of a high priced call girl. Very slow moving. Much profanity, nudity, sex.

"Together" — A summertime romp at the estate of an acclaimed pioneer in sexual guidance. Uninhibited and unclad couples demonstrate their host's theories. (Catholic Film Newsletter).

Food Prices In Bay Area Up During January

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Food prices at San Francisco Bay Area groceries increased by three-tenths of 1 per cent during January, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics said Wednesday.

The price index for San Francisco, Alameda, Contra Costa, San Mateo and Marin counties now stands at 117.9, an increase of 5.4 per cent from January of 1971.

That means food that cost $10 in 1967 now costs $11.79.

In January, meat prices rose 1.6 per cent, bakery prices went up 1.4 per cent, fruit and vegetables declined 3.2 per cent and dairy products declined one-tenth of 1 per cent.

New Stop Signs Due In Petaluma

New stop signs will spring up soon at two intersections in Petaluma, police said.

Four-way stop signs will be erected at Sixth and B streets and at Sixth and D streets.

Concert Sold Out

The University of Nevada Concert Jazz Band performance at 10:45 a.m. Tuesday in Angelico Hall at Dominican College in San Rafael has been sold out, the college has announced.

Radio Program Wins Award

A radio program, largely the work of four Marin County residents, has won an award in the 1972 Ohio State Radio-Television competition.

The program, "The Age of American Inventiveness," was one of an historical series sponsored by Standard Oil Co. of California.

Edward Franklin of 476 Laurel Aven ue, San Anselmo produced the series. Local performers in the show were KSFO's Terry McGovern of Kentfiald; KKHI's Bill Hollenbeck of 114 Harvard Avenue, Mill Valley, and Susanne Franklin, a professional model and wife of the producer.

Widow Charges Privacy Invaded

The Independent-Journal yesterday was sued yesterday for almost $5 million in connection with an obituary which reported the criminal past of a Corte Madera man who died last October.

Charging invasion of privacy was the widow, Virginia A. Hendrickson, and her seven children.

In a suit which also named as defendants reporter Mary Leydecker and 10 John Does, including the city editor, Mrs. Hendrickson claimed she and the children had suffered embarrassment, mental distress, suffering and humiliation because of the article.

After her husband, John R. Hendrickson, 52, died on Oct. 21, Mrs. Hendrickson said she asked a mortuary to place a paid death notice in the I-J but said she requested that a news story not be run.

The suit said that when a reporter, Mrs. Leydecker, called Mrs. Hendrickson's attorney, James M. Fletcher, to make inquiries about the dead man's life, he also asked that no details be published.

Hendrickson, who was convicted in 1960 of an embezzlement of a Long Beach bank and served a federal prison term, had led an exemplary life since his release on parole in 1965 until his death, Fletcher said. He had met all the conditions of his parole and had supported his family as a salesman in the heating inudstry.

Details of the father's conviction had been kept from the youngest child, a junior high school student, the suit said as well as many friends and coworkers of the family.

When told by Mrs. Leydecker that she had no authority to keep the details out of the paper, Fletcher said he then talked to the city editor, Robert M. Strebeigh, who "acknowledged and admitted that the publication of the incidents would cause great humiliation, pain and suffering . . ."

However, according to the suit, the city editor said he intended to publish them anyway.

After the obituary ran on Oct. 23, the suit claimed, not only the younger Hendrickson children but also many other persons learned for the first time details of Hendrickson's conviction.

Mrs. Hendrickson asked $1.5 million damages for herself. Varying amounts were asked for the seven children, five of whom are adults. The total asked was $4,950,000.

Murder Conviction

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— Jesse Lewis Jones, 22, Chattanooga, Tenn., was convicted of first degree murder by a jury of nine men and three women Thursday night in the shooting of a bartender during a robbery.

Vice President Choice Held Important One

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California voters of both parties take the choice of the vice president on the national ticket seriously, the California Poll reported today.

It said 52 per cent of those questioned thought that the selection of the number two man was "very important" and another 33 per cent saw it as "somewhat important." Only 12 per cent called the choice "somewhat unimportant" or "not important at all."

Of those who call themselves Republicans, 86 per cent chose the first two categories and 13 per cent the latter two. Those who call themselves Democrats were 87-10 on the question.

Naked Man Linked To False Alarm

San Rafael police today are seeking the bare facts on a naked young man who apparently turned in a false alarm.

A somewhat shaken local resident told police at about 6 a.m. that he had met the young man near the Mayfair Market. According to the witness, the man police are looking for is 18 to 20 years old, about 5 feet 4 inches tall, with dark brown hair.

He asked the local resident "Where is the fire alarm?" Shortly after this happened Fire Station 2 received a false alarm call from their Grand and Mission Street firebox.

Last seen, the undraped man was strolling westbound on Fourth Street.

Apartment House Equipment Stolen

Four fire extinguishers and three light fixtures were taken from a Larkspur apartment house sometime prior to Tuesday, Larkspur police reported yesterday.

Police said the fire fighting equipment valued at $78 and the fixtures worth $30 were taken from the hallway of apartments at 475 South Eliseo Drive belonging to city councilman Neil R. Brixon.

Remapping Panel Bill Introduced

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman William Ketchum, R-Paso Robles, has introduced legislation that would create a commission of 12 superior court judges to reapportion the Legislature and congressional districts in California.

The proposed constitutional amendment would be voted on by the people if it wins legislative approval.

The measure introduced Thursday requires that each reapportionment be completed by the commission no later than July 31 of the year immediately following the year of each federal census.

TAM'S PRINCIPAL

Leadership Shift Looms

By LARRY MOWELL

Plans are afoot in the Tamalpais High School District to demote Tamalpais High School principal Raymond J. Bell by creating an "educational leader."

Supt. Wilbur D. Hawkinu today denied that his plan to split Bell's functions and make the new man Bell's superior is a demotion for the principal.

But Bell saw it differently when asked if he is being demoted. "Sure," he said. "I don't want to make any statement on it at this tme, but there is no question about it."

Hawkins aims to create a new top administrator to concentrate on educational planning and development, matters he indicated were lagging under Bell's administration. He said the educational leader would also be responsible for the physical plant and operation of the school, though performance of those chores would be left to Bell.

Bell would still be called principal and receive his present salary of $25,000 a year despite being stripped of his educational duties, according to Hawkins.

The superintendent called Bell "an exceedingly competent general administrator," but said setting educational goals has lagged behind, because Bell "just hasn't had time."

RAYMOND J. BELL
Demotion

Bell admitted that "a realignment of my time would be appropriate," and said he had planned to shift some of his duties to subordinates next year to free him for educational planning.

The superintendent said Bell could apply for the new top spot, also a $25,000 job, but he is recommending that Bell have the subordinate position. Bell said he won't seek the new job.

Hawkins has been meeting with administrators and the instructional policies board at Tam to explain the plan and was to meet with the entire faculty at 12:30 p.m. today. He said the plan may be presented to the district board for approval March 6.

A vacancy in the Tam administration has existed since the death of assistant principal Mary M. Baker Jan. 17, giving Hawkins a chance to create the new administrative position.

He said another assistant principal wouldn't fill the bill because "I think it is virtually impossible for a principal of a school to be in charge of all the facets that need to be done at a school and at the same time provide the kind of leadership that I am talking about in master planning."

Bell commented, "I do disagree with the superintendent's judgment on this in that less than two years ago the staff and students and community participated in defining my job description and selected me for the position — and I feel that I have done a good job at it in not only providing stability to the school, but also in leadership to allow progress to happen."

Hawkins' controversial decentralization plan last year called for elimination of principals prompting critics to charge it was aimed at Bell and Redwood High School's Donald Kreps. It was later changed to leave the two principals, but eliminate the post at Sir Francis Drake where the principal was due to retire. Bell, then president of the Tamalpais Administrators' Association, opposed the plan.

Hawkins said the educational leader would be the superior of the redefined principal because "if you have to make a choice between general administration and education, there is no doubt where my priorities are."

He said he wants an educator who can resolve the social problems at the school, decentralize decision making, find goals and let the public know what they are, but said the leader's duties will be decided by a committee representing school groups and the public.

"I don't want him even to fool around with the budget, construction program and other administrative duties," the superintendent said.

A similar arrangement exists at Sir Francis Drake High School where Thomas M. Lorch is the educational leader, but that school has an assistant principal for the jobs that would be left to Bell at Tam. Redwood High School still has the traditional principal system and Hawkins said he has no immediate plan to change it.

Bell, 44, began teaching at Tam in 1951 and was named dean of boys in 1964. He became assistant principal in 1966 and three years later took over the top post.

Gas Rates To Drop In Three Cities

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin City, Novato and Petaluma natural gas customers will be charged slightly lower utility rates as a result of an increase in the number of gas users, according to a California Public Utilities Commission spokesman.

Eugene Raleigh, information officer for the commission, said the added customers make it less expensive to supply service.

He estimated annual gas rates in affected areas would drop a total of $40,600. Most of that rate decrease, $39,600 will be spread among 3,515 domestic users, and will result in an average rate drop of about $1 per month.

Ninety-one commercial customers will benefit from the remaining $1,000 in rate decreases.

Park Proposed For Pioneer Black Town

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill making a nearly-abandoned pioneer black community part of the state park system has been introduced.

Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, said Thursday the Tulare County community of Allensworth was the first all-black community in California.

Brown said putting the town into the state park system would "recognize this contribution to California's past by black people who were not slaves." The community was founded by Colonel Allensworth, a retired U. S. Army officer.

Author Sees Birth Of 'Superindustrial Society'

By RICHARD G. SMULLEN

Author Alvin Toffler prescribed politics as a possible remedy for "future shock" last night. He spoke for about two hours before an audience of approximately 1,600 persons at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

"Future Shock" —the title of his recent book on the accelerating rate of change in the modern industrial world — he defined as a "massive adaptational breakdown," an incapacity to deal with the pace of events and what lies ahead.

Toffler said the basic problem facing modern man is a breakup of the industrial society "into which most of us were born," and the emergency of a "superindustrial society."

"The superindustrial revolution," he said, "is the deepest, most wrenching revolution in world affairs since the Neolithic revolution" when a wandering hunter society converted to an agricultural society.

Toffler said many facets of modern life are based on the assumptions of the industrial age and that, while they served their purpose well in that age, different priorities must be established for the future.

This shifting of priorities, he said, requires not a personal but a political solution. He listed three areas as critical in the political future — education, technology and nationalism.

The author said a true revolution is needed in eucation. He called schools a "beautifully engineered" social tool to create people to live in industrial society, teaching the virtues of moving on command and taking orders without talking back."

Unfortunately, Toffler maintains, schools are still turning out graduates for a society which is now passing. "If I'm right, we're making people to work in a world that's cracking up."

Another pillar of education, the historical approach, is more useful in a society not changing as rapidly as modern man's, he said. It may be "mislocating kids in time." Education, he said, should be future-oriented.

He stressed the need for teaching "values" in the educational system of the future, as a basis for making the rapid, complex decisions necessary in superindustrial society.

Toffler suggested control of technology will become another heated political issue. He said the problem will be to take technological control out of the hands of small groups, where it now lies, and put that control into the hands of the general public.

He called congressional defeat of the supersonic transport project "the most optimistic event of the last decade." The important fact to Toffler was "that the struggle took place at all. This was the first time a major piece of technology was debated and scrutinized years before it arrived on the scene." He called it only the first of a series of technological battles to come.

Noting that the technology of the next two decades will include genetic engineering, he said social implications would make control of that technology a major political issue.

Toffler also noted he believed the future would see the breakup or shrinkage of the nation-state power structure as it exists today. The author envisioned some of the power now wielded from world capitals flowing downward in political systems as people demand more control over their destinies.

He also suggested some of the nation-state power would be distributed into supranational bodies, to deal with world problems like pollution of the oceans.

Toffler called for "anticipatory democracy" to begin looking 10 and 20 years into the future, now, and create that future, through politics. "We may live in a time when utopianism s the only practical answer," he said, citing the need to "invent our future and infuse the consciousness of the future into our lives."

"Only in this way can we meet the challenges of the future and prevent the massive adaptional breakdown that I call future shock."

Tours Jail

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Sheriff Richard Hongisto toured the county jail Thursday in the midst of a one-meal hunger strike and promised to seek more funds for better food for inmates.

ABAG's Budget $1.287 Million

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — By a split vote, the Association of Bay Area Governments last night raised dues for member cities and adopted a $1,287,500 budget for fiscal 1972-73 at its general assembly meeting in the Jack Tar Hotel.

The assembly unanimously voted to take on the task of persuading the Bay region's local government agencies to take a second look at their differing population growth policies, and seek agreement on the ultimate urban population desired for the Bay Area. The resolution was an outgrowth of a daylong symposium on urban growth problems, sponsored by the association.

In the membership fees vote, participating cities split 34 to 11 in favor of raising the minimum dues to $110 per city or 4 cents per capita, whichever is greater. The annual dues formerly were a minimum of $10 or 3 cents per capita for the cities. The seven voting counties unanimously favored the dues increase, according to Lizette Weiss, the association's information officer.

The counties' per capita dues will remain 3 cents, but the minimum also was raised to $120.

Approval of the budget was by exactly the same margin, although some of the cities switched votes compared with their action on dues.

Councilman David Martin, chairman of the finance committee that steered the budget and dues increase to adoption, stressed that the additional levy on ities would be minimal in terms of the state and federal funds it would make available. The dues will raise $340,000 of the almost $1.3 million budget; the balance comes from state and federal sources.

The general assembly confirmed election of Fremont City Councilmen Donald Dillon as president and Contra Costa County Supervisor Warren Boggess as vice president. Outgoing president was Ignazio A. Vella, Sonoma County Supervisor.

Tentative Pay Pact For Kaiser Workers

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — A tentative pact granting an 8.2 per cent pay hike to hospital workers has been reached by the workers' union and representatives of Kaiser Foundation hospitals and clinics.

Robe rt Hughes, spokesmar for the health plan that runs 11 hospitals and numerous clinics, said today Kaiser agreed to the wage demands of Hospital and Institutional Workers Union, Local 250.

The union was seeking an 8.2 per cent raise ut previously won from other Bay Area hospitals, but Kaiser had been offering only 5.5 per cent.

Ratification elections will be held at the affected hospitals during the next two weeks, according to the union.

About 150 of the union's 3,800 members work at Kaiser hospital in San Rafael and clinics in Marin, Hughes said. The union represents about 40 per cent of Kaiser's employees, he said.

Negotiations had been held since the old contract expired Nov. 1. The union membership had decided not to strike unless talks were broken off.

The tentative agreement hammered out late Wednesday also involved fringe benefits for the employees at Kaiser facilities throughout the Bay Area and Sacramento, but Hughes declined to say what they are pending the ratification elections.

10 Pct. Pay Hike Is Sought

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The California State Employes Association has asked the federal Pay Board to approve proposed pay raises averaging 10.7 per cent for state employes.

In a telegram to the board Thursday, CSEA General Manager Walter W. Taylor noted civil service employes did not receive a raise in 1971 and state college and University of California faculty did not receive a wage boost in 1970 or 1971.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has proposed a 5 per cent boost for civil servants and a 7.5 per cent raise for college and university faculty. Bills providing the 10.7 per cent raise starting July 1 for civil servants and faculty have been introduced in the legislature.

Tournament For Golfers Is Canceled

Golf widows of America may take heart from San Anselmo. The city's chamber of commerce yesterday canceled plans for a proposed golf tournament, due to a lack of enthusiasm.

Esther Squire, chamber secretary, said the chamber's board canceled the May 5 tournament because "there didn't seem to be too much enthusiasm."

Only one or two of the board's 15 members are golfers, she said.

Instead, the chamber may sponsor a hole-in-one contest, Mrs. Squire said.

The board yesterday also agreed to expand from 15 to 20 members in an effort to get more merchants on the board, Mrs. Squire said.

Auto Crash In Canyon Hurts Four

Four youths were injured in an automobile accident today on a fire trail in the Black Canyon area, above Dominican Drive in San Rafael.

Barry V. Aycock, 19, of 227 Margarita Drive, San Rafael, was reported in good condition at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital with a cut above his nose.

Aycock was driving the car at about 1:36 a.m. when it left the road and rolled over, according to San Rafael police, who said fog may have obscured visibility at the time.

Police said three passengers in the car were injured, but none required treatment, according to a hospital spokesman.

Passengers were William Purkey, 17, of 625 Morgan Drive, Novato; Brendan Faville, 17, of 42 Capilina, Novato, and Bruce Sisco, 20, of 64 Montego Key, Ignacio.

Saturday Duty At Post Office

The Corte Madera Post Office has announced postal clerks again will be on duty Saturday morning beginning March 4.

Window service will be provided from 8:30 a.m. to noon at the post office, 7 Pixley Avenue, behind the main fire station.

Saturday service was cut in 1970 as an economy measure.

Jury Trial Set In Marijuana Case

A jury trial has been set for the week of March 17 in Marin Superior Court for Bradley Martin Zappa, 23, of Santa Venetia, accused of possessing marijuana.

Zappa was arrested Oct. 14 near Terra Linda by a sheriff's officer who said Zappa had a plastic bag in his car containing 33 grams of suspected pot.

Responsibility Of Papers Cited In Advertising

LANCASTER, Pa. (UPI) — Newspapers have a moral responsibility to their readers for the advertising they accept, Virginia H. Knauer, President Nixon's consumer adviser, said today.

"The public relies on the integrity of its newspapers," Mrs. Knauer said in remarks prepared for a display advertising conference of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers Association.

"The fact that your newspaper carries an advertisment is a kind of endorsement of that ad in the view of your readers. It is pointless to argue that the public's assumption is technically incorrect," she said. "If your readers are stung by an advertisement they don't just blame the advertiser. They blame you."

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Guess who was born today, Feb. 25, and became famous as:

1. A great Italian opera singer? Acclaimed as the greatest living tenor of his time, this man had a voice so powerful it brought down the house with cheers but in San Francisco in 1906 he got an unexpected encore — an earthquake: (A) Enrico Caruso; (B) Mario Lanza; (C) Lawrence Tibbett.

2. A Spanish explorer of North America? Seeking the fabled Seven Cities of Cibola, this 30-year-old adventurer led a 300-man expedition north from Mexico in 1540, finding the Grand Canyon, Zuni pueblos, and buffalo, but no gold: (A) F.V. de Coronado; (B) Ponce de Leon; (C) Hernando Cortes.

3. A talented American playwright? Seeing Unhappy people and wanting to cheer them up, this talented woman (65 today) wrote a play about an invisible rabbit called "Harvey" that still makes people laugh 30 years afterward: (A) Thornton W. Burgess; (B) Lois Tweedle; (C) Mary Chase.

4. A black American Olympic champion? A gold medal winner in the 1968 summer Olympics, setting a new record in the 400 meter dash, this San Jose State track star accepted the award with a black power salute: (A) Lee Evans; (B) James Hines; (C) Ronnie Ray Smith.

ANSWERS

1(A) (Enrico Caruso); 2(A) (F.V. de Coronado); 3(C) (Mary Chase); 4(A) (Lee Evans).

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South's Quick Finesse Spells Doom For A No-Trump Contract

During World War II, a capricious government sent me to the Sahara Desert for a few months and later to Burma, thus enormously improving my bridge game. I learned that anybody who's looking for rain will do better in Burma than in the desert. You'd be surprised to discover how many bridge players don't work out as basic a probability as this.

FINESSE TRY

South won the first trick with the ace of clubs and immediately went after the diamonds by trying a finesse with dummy's eight. East craftily won with the king of diamonds, but this fine play was not actually necessary to defeat the contract: South had already beaten himself by choosing to look for rain in the desert.

East returned a club to the king, and South reached his hand with the ace of hearts. Declarer continued with a diamond, trying a finesse with dummy's nine. East won and led another club, whereupon West defeated the contract with four club tricks.

WRONG HOPE

South played the hand in the hope that West had the K-10 or the Q-10 of diamonds, or perhaps the doubleton K-Q. His chance of succeeding was less than one in four.

After winning the first trick with the ace of clubs, South should lead the king of hearts. Each opponent is likely to play low if the missing six hearts break 3-3; but each will begin a high-low if the suit breaks 4-2. In any case, South continues with the ace of hearts.

CAN MAKE GAME

If the queen or ten of hearts drops, declarer can easily make game with four heart tricks. If only small hearts drop, South can still decide whether to switch to diamonds or go on with the hearts. The combined chance is more than twice as good as just going after the diamonds.

Vet Arrested For Ripping Down Of Photo

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A disabled World War II veteran was arrested Thursday when he ripped down a photograph he considered obscene at the Civic Center Art Gallery.

Thomas Woody, 49, was booked on charges of entering a public building with intent to deface or remove property and of malicious mischief. He was freed on his own recognizance.

The photo, one of 19 on display at the gallery, depicts a framed Army discharge paper with the words "bull——" written across it.

EMMA AND PHAEDRA

Actually, as often as not we call Emma Mrs. Peel (after the television character) or even M.P. Emma is just about a year old now, and a prettier Calico you've never seen. Her silky, downy coat, intelligence and bright eyes leave no doubt she's a superior cat. Her playmate since childhood (they were raised together) is Phaedra, a sleek, svelt black cat who looks like a miniature panther. We're going to Europe soon and must find a good home for Emma and Phaedra, preferably one in which they can stay together. Both of these well behaved cats are spayed and healthy. As they say in the car ads, they must be seen to be appreciated. Call 457-3980.

Teacher Is Reinstated By Court

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A permanent injunction has been filed in federal court reinstating Jack Kurzweil, a college engineering teacher who is married to Bettina Aptheker, daughter of a Communist Party philosopher.

Judge Alfonso J. Zirpoli signed the injunction in U.S. District Court, affirming his previous order that Kurzweil, 33, could not be fired from San Jose State College. The order also reinstates Kurzweil's tenure rights.

In making his original order, Zirpoli said no evidence was presented that Kurzweil had injected politics into his course in electrical engineering.

Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke of the California State College System had overruled a recommendation by the San Jose president in 1970 and refused Kurzweil tenure.

Kurzweil joined the San Jose facilty in 1968. His wife was active in campus disturbances at the University of California in Berkeley.

Contract Plan For Instructors

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission has recommended that professional instructors in the recreation program be allowed to negotiate contracts.

Nancy Urbani, commission secretary, said the action came Wednesday after a discussion in which commissioners felt the tennis instructor, Eileen Chavez, and the ballet teacher, Angelika Gafni, are underpaid. Each is paid $5 an hour without contract.

The commission also asked the town council to give youth advisor Rick McMullen a raise from $2.50 an hour to $3.50 by changing his title to recreation supervisor, she said. He directs teen-age activities, she said.

NOTICE OF IMPROVEMENT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on Monday, the 13th day of March, 1972, at the hour of 8:00 o'clock P.M. of said day, there will be a hearing on the Resolution of Intention, as amended, for the East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 1, City of San Rafael, Marin County, California, and on the Amended Engineer's Report filed pursuant thereto. Said hearing will be held at the meeting place of the City Council of the City of San Rafael, in the Council Chambers, 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California. The purpose of the hearing is to consider any and all protests that may be filed against the improvements and acquisitions to be made, the extent of the assessment district, or the proposed assessment.

The Resolution of Intention, as amended, provides for the construction of certain improvements and the acquisition of necessary interests in real property in said East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 1, City of San Rafael, Marin County, California. Said Resolution of Intention, adopted on the 18th day of January, 1971, as later amended, and the Amended Engineer's Report filed pursuant thereto on the 7th day of February, 1972, in the office of the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael, are referred to for all matters in connection with said proposed improvements and acquisitions.

Any persons interested in objecting to the proposed improvements and acquisitions, the extent of the assessment district, or to the proposed assessment, may file written protest with the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael at or before the time herein fixed for hearing. All protests must be in writing and addressed to the City Clerk, City of San Rafael, 1400 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, California.

NOTICE IS HEREBY FURTHER GIVEN that on Monday, the 13th day of March, 1972, at the time and place hereinabove set forth there will be a hearing on the proposed formation of a levee maintenance district to bear the cost of the levee along the outer bay perimeter of the properties within the boundaries of said assessment district; that the area to be so assessed is as shown on that certain map entitled, "Boundary Map of Levee Maintenance District, East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 1, City of San Rafael, County of Marin, California," on file in the office of the City Clerk of the City of San Rafael and more particularly described as follows:

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
JUNE 30, 1971

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS
Marin Hospital District
San Rafael, California

We have examined the balance sheet of MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL as of June 30, 1971 and the related statements of revenue and expense and changes in fund balances for the year then ended. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly the financial position of Marin General Hospital as of June 30, 1971, and the results of its operations for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

MARIN GENERAL HOSPITAL
NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
JUNE 30, 1971

NOTE 1 — UNRESTRICTED AND RESTRICTED FUNDS:

To more clearly indicate the total funds of the Hospital available for general operations, the assets, liabilities and fund balances previously designated as the general and plant funds have been combined and reclassified as of July 1, 1970 as follows:

Unrestricted fund — This fund includes all of the assets of the Hospital available for or used in current operations, including fixed assets formerly shown in the plant fund.

Building improvement and equipment replacement reserve fund — This fund includes those assets which have been designated by the Board of Directors to be held for the purchase of fixed assets. The fund is, at June 30, 1971, principally comprised of unexpended funded depreciation.

These changes had no effect upon the results of operations for the year.

NOTE 2 — FEDERAL AND STATE MEDICAL CARE PROGRAMS:

A substantial portion of patient revenue is derived from the Federal Medical Program (Medicare) and the California Medical Assistance Program (Medi-Cal). The Hospital has generally credited income with the estimated amounts to be realized under the cost reimbursement principles of the programs. At June 30, 1971 the amounts receivable in excess of provisional payments received under both programs for the fiscal years ended June 30, 1968 through June 30, 1971, inclusively, were as follows:

Medicare	$308,000
Medi-Cal	115,000
	$423,000

Deferred Medicare and Medi-Cal revenue of $207,000 at June 30, 1971 results from timing differences in recognition of expenses for financial and cost reimbursement purposes. The provision for depreciation is computed using the straight-line method for financial reporting while an accelerated method was adopted beginning with the year ended June 30, 1970 for cost reimbursement purposes.

The Hospital had, at June 30, 1971, non-interest bearing interim financing advances under the Medicare program totaling $176,000.

NOTE 3 — PENSION PLAN:

The Hospital has a contributory pension plan for its eligible employees. The total pension expense was $151,776 for the year ended June 30, 1971 which includes amortization of prior service cost (unamortized balance $199,285) over a period of 25 years. The Hospital's policy is to fund pension costs accrued. At January 1, 1971, the assets of the pension plan exceeded all vested benefits.

NOTE 4 — PROPERTY, PLANT AND EQUIPMENT:

Depreciation aggregating $275,791 for the year ended June 30, 1971 was provided by use of the straight-line method. Estimated useful lives range from 40 years for buildings to 8 to 20 years for equipment.

NOTE 5 — OPERATIONS OF COMMUNITY MENTAL HEALTH CENTER:

The Community Mental Health Center is operated under terms of a contractual arrangement between the Hospital District and the County of Marin whereby the county reimburses the District as follows for county patients:

(1) Inpatient — All costs in excess of amounts billed to patients and other third parties, or in the case of county patients, for charges at standard rates.

(2) Outpatient — All costs except depreciation related to the outpatient facilities and equipment (which depreciation totaled $12,051 for the year ended June 30, 1971) reduced by amounts received from patients.

The amounts included in revenue were as follows:

Inpatient:
Amounts billed to patients, county and other third parties at standard rates		$ 863,554
Excess of costs over amounts billed to patients and other third parties at standard rates (received or receivable from County of Marin)		87,125
		950,679
Outpatient:
Costs of care provided, received or receivable from County of Marin		934,593
		$1,885,272

At June 30, 1971 the Hospital had non-interest bearing interim financing advances from the County of Marin for outpatient costs totaling $80,000.

NOTE 6 — COMMITMENTS:

At June 30, 1971 the Hospital was obligated for uncompleted contract costs in the amount of $20,229 for the acquisition of a linear accelerator.

The Board of Directors has approved various projects for remodeling and expansion for which bids had not as yet been let at June 30, 1971. Costs to construct and equip such projects are estimated to be $345,750.

Average annual rentals under various equipment leases amount to $37,500. The total commitment under such leases at June 30, 1971 was approximately $188,000.

Grant Will Aid MS Virus Study

AN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)— The University of Michigan has received a three-year, $95,728 grant from the National Multiple Sclerosis Society to attempt to identify virus as a possible cause of the disease which has crippled an estimated 500,000 Americans.

Previous studies, including the discovery of high levels of measles virus antibodies in multiple sclerosis victims and their families, have led to the suspicion that this virus is in some way implicated in the disease.

There's no need for a women's liberation movement in the sport of bowling, at least not in Marin County. At the four Marin lanes, women league bowlers outnumber the men. And through their own organization, they have a decisive and progressive voice in bowling affairs in the county. Independent-Journal Marin Magazine editor Don Keown takes a look at the county's women bowlers tomorrow — who they are, why they bowl, and how their association functions for the betterment of bowling.

Roy Farrington Jones is a member of an old, established Marin family, and as such takes an active interest in the preservation of the county's history and its unique environment. He is a Ross town council member, too, with some very definite ideas on civic affairs, and outspoken in voicing them. And he is also the subject of tomorrow's "Profile of a Marinite" feature in the I-J's magazine. Reporter Larry Mowell has written the story about this interesting Marinite and his provocative ideas.

Bay Growth: Rotten Core For A Healthy Apple?

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — Continued population growth, predicted to triple the Bay Area's populalion by the year 2020, was both damned and praised yestarday.

Spokesmen for conservation and for development took predictable if eloquent stands, but the new voice of the urban poor also was heard objecting that both sides were ignoring the more important issue of the nation's diseased cities.

"Can you have a healthy apple if its core is allowed to rot?" challenged M. Carl Holman, president of the National Urban Coalition.

The debate came at a "symposium on population growth and the Bay Area's future" held by the Association of Bay Area Governments at the Jack Tar Hotel. Several hundred persons attended the afternoon session, which opened with a keynote address by presidential counselor Robert H. Finch.

Arguing for tough planning to control growth was Daniel B. Luten, geography professor at the University of California, Berkeley, and a Sierra Club consultant. Arguing against controls on growth was O. G. Linde, president of the Southern Pacific Land Co., one of the state's largest land owners and developers.

Asserting that Californians were rebelling against continuous growth, Luten cited last year's defeat of the Marin Municipal Water District's proposed aqueduct from Sonoma County, the rejection by Bolinas and Stinson Beach of a big sewer project on the ground it would generate growth, and Petaluma's proposed limit of 500 new homes a year.

"When a man tells you that growth is good, look him in the eye and ask him how much of that good will end up in his pocket," Luten said. At the end of continuous growth, he said, "all that can grow is friction and litigation."

But Luten argued against controlling population by limiting water, sewers, electric power and immigration. "None of these, I think, will work." If growth is to end, he said, planning schools must produce men who do not believe in growth. "Planners, all of them, relish growth, are for it."

The Association of Bay Area Governments' own plan for the region, Luten said, made no effort to restrain growth.

Linde, jabbing at "once-obscure scientists" now famous for predicting environmental disaster, warned that stifling growth will damage the economy of the state. "Many Americans, to put it bluntly, are economic illiterates," he declared. "Growth can only be planned for and guided," and cannot be stopped.

He claimed the environmental organizations were "much more successful" then business in getting their proposals through the Legislature and objected to what he termed "a natural tendency to make business swallow an unfair share of the costs of controlling pollution."

Linde insisted that "the age of expansion has not yet come to an end."

Holman, arguing suburbs are sucking a disproportionate share of tax revenues from cities, lamented that "the hardest problems never get involved in planning. Planning to the core city," he said, "means freeways through their neighborhoods."

Controlling growth, Holman said, will do nothing to solve urban poverty, and thus "comes at a very bad time."

A related theme was sounded by Finch, who cautioned "you can't make urban problems go away by trying to get away from them. You can't move away from them, at least not for very long."

As for growth, Finch noted, a group of scientists at MIT recently concluded that every computerized study of world systems found "continuation of the prsent world philosophy of growth, ended in collapse."

He, like Luten, urged ABAG to scale down its regional plan to reflect a desired level of population growth — instead of basing the plan on the expected growth.

"It would be a sad and ironic thing if this administration's faith in the ability of local government to govern were repaid by small-minded, toe-dragging local governments which turned out to be no bolder or innovative or creative than the Washington bureaucracy has so well proven," Finch cautioned.

The measure of ABAG's population forecasts was given by Alameda County Supervisor Joseph P. Bort. He said that existing zoning of land in the nine-county region could raise the population from its current 4.6 million to over 40 million.

The region's population is expected to almost double by 1990 and to triple to as much as 14 million by the year 2020 — or more than the current population of the New York City area.

The prospect of zero population growth was discounted by George H. Brown, director of the U.S. Bureau of the Census. He predicted steady growth at the rate of 1 per cent a year into the distant future.

SPORT NOTES

Soccer Interest Is Put To Test

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Marin Youth Soccer Association officials will find out how much Marin County interest there is in that sport on the afternoon of Sunday, March 12, when the University of California and Stanford booters go at each other on the College of Marin turf.

It will be a practice game, but if it draws enough of a crowd, the Marin soccer people will try to get a regular Pacific-8 soccer match involving either Stanford or Cal later on in Kentfield.

"We expect a crowd of 2,500 to 3,000," said Robert A. Braghetta, San Francisco stock broker who lives in Ross. Braghetta is handling much of the advance publicity for the March 12 game and the other day he came by to pile my desk with rosters, pictures, programs, and flyers that the soccer people are circulating around the county to advertise the match.

"To my knowledge," said Braghetta, "this will be the first time two big four-year universities have played each other in any sport in Marin County. It should really be a good soccer game."

Tickets for the game are nominally priced at $1.50, with youngsters 16 and under getting in for 50 cents. Proceeds are headed for the Marin Youth Soccer Association, which began last year and involved 125 boys, aged 8 to 14, who live in the Ross area. The program is expected to grow to include 300 boys this year. Braghetta said youth soccer programs are being considered in Greenbrae, Corte Madera, Mill Valley and Kentfield.

Some of the kids will get their chance at halftime of the 1 p.m. Stanford-Cal game when 10-to-12-year-olds of Ross take on Mill Valley youngsters of the same age.

What I like about the Marin Youth Soccer Association is spelled out in its motto: "Every boy has a starting position." In other words, there are no substitutes and no boys sitting on benches. There are 11 members on a team and all play a full game.

"We're not trying to develop Olympic stars," said Braghetta. "We're just trying to expose the kids to soccer and let them have fun."

ROSS AND SOCCER must go together. Latest news out of the exclusive Cate School in Carpinteria, Santa Barbara County, reports that Alec McAndrew of Ross won his letter as captain of the varsity soccer team. A senior at Cate, McAndrew is headed for Amherst College in Massachusetts after graduation from Cate.

JIM PETERS is off to a grand start as a catcher on the St. Mary's College baseball team. The former College of Marin baseball-football star is batting .312 after six games and one of his hits won a game for the Gaels, a 13th inning single which broke a 5-5 tie with the Cal Bears. Gael coach Doug Weiss has been impressed with his junior catcher and was quoted in St. Mary's latest news release: "Peters looks like a major league prospect."

PAUL LEE, former prep at Terra Linda High and brother of Boston Red Sox hurler Bill, is also off to a good start this season, hitting .381 after six games as an outfielder for the University of California, Santa Barbara, team. Half his eight hits were for extra bases, a homer, triple and two doubles. He also had six runs batted in.

Wrestler Hughes Out Of Tourney

Three of Marin County's best wrestlers will not be making the trip to Concord tomorrow for the North Coast Sectional championships, thus weakening what would have been the strongest Marin contingent in history.

Most conspicuous in his absence is Dave Hughes of San Rafael High School, who was accorded a good chance to win the state championship. He twisted his right knee Saturday in winning the 148-pound title in the Division I meet.

Also missing will be Novato stars Dave Hutton, who finished second at 130, and Alan Brazell, third at 123. "They had problems making weight and getting time off from their part-time jobs," said coach Ralph Cutler. "Besides, Dave has an injured thumb."

Marin's best chance now rests with Brian Jordan (168) of Terra Linda, who was undefeated until placing second in Division I.

Tomorrow's field will consist of 16 men in each weight class — six from Division I, six from Division II (North Bay area), and four from the far northern portion of the state. The top five will qualify for the Northern California invitational meet March 4 at Hayward State College.

Weigh-ins will occur at 8 a.m. tomorrow and first-round wrestling will commence around 10 a.m.

Other Marin entrants are Mike Weinstein (115) and Bob Spain (178) of Terra Linda, Jerry Ford (130) and Craig Marshall (178) of Tamalpais, Lyn Cason (194) and Pete Mumma (heavyweight) of San Marin, Kurt Belter (198) of Novato, Wolf Kristensen (157) of San Rafael and Ellard Roush (194) of Redwood.

Drake Confronts Novato

Drake and Novato high school will play tonight for the unofficial title of "team of the future," while league champion Tamalpais nervously will try to ascertain if it is the team of the present, as the Marin County Athletic League basketball season concludes with a slate of four games.

The schedule finds Drake at Novato, San Marin at Marin Catholic, Redwood at Terra Linda, and San Rafael vs. Tamalpais at College of Marin, all at 8 o'clock.

Novato (5-8) can tie Drake (6-7) for fourth place by defeating the Pirates. The Hornets have been coming on strong in the last two weeks, and Tuesday handed Tam its only defeat in the league, 57-52.

The best thing about the surge, from Novato's viewpoint, is that most of its heroes will be back next year. The Hornets lose star forward Marty Moroski, but retain the other four starters — Willie Barnes and Joe Powell up front, Joe Robinson and Tom Conklin in backcourt.

Drake will lose four important seniors after tonight's game, but a wealth of talent will return, including an entire forward wall of John Channell, Tom Carlisle and Greg Shaw, all juniors; and talented sophomores Ric Herbert and Dan Trimble.

Tamalpais, meanwhile, is fretting over its chances this year in the post-season Tournament of Champions March 9-11. Star forward Will Garner, the league's leading scorer, pulled an abdominal muscle last Friday, missed Tuesday's loss to Novato, and is doubtful for tonight.

Coach Bernie Schneider would like to play Garner, to prevent him from getting rusty, but doesn't want to aggravate the injury. "It's a day-to-day thing," Schneider says.

Tam's opponent, San Rafael, apparently has recovered from a horrendous mid-season slump that saw the Bulldogs lose five of six games and plunge from contention. San Rafael (8-5) has won two straight to clinch third place.

Marin Catholic (5-8) could tie for fourth place with Novato and Drake if Novato defeats Drake and the Wildcats top San Marin. Marin Catholic received a boost yesterday with the announcement that San Marin would forfeit its disputed Jan. 28 overtime victory over the 'Cats.

Porter Scapegoat, Says His Attorney

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Richie Phillips says his client Howard Porter is a scrapegoat being asked to pay for the ills of a system he didn't create and cannot control.

The National Collegiate Athletic Association has said in court that Porter is a liar—a college basketball star who signed a pro contract one month, denied he had signed it in a affadavit the next month, and went on with his career as an amateur.

Porter and the American Basketball Association thus became the object of the first suit ever filed by the NCAA, which is seeking $216,663 in damages because of the ex-Villanova star's alleged actions.

Porter, now with the Chicago Bulls of the NBA, led Villanova to a second place finish in the 1971 NCAA tourney. The school's tourney place and some $70,000 in its share of receipts were later forfeited.

Phillips thinks that the NCAA's suit is an example of "hypocrisy."

"The NCAA for years tacitly condoned professionalism within its own ranks," Phillips said Thursday. "Burying its head in the sand while recruiting and assistance infractions have come to be the rule rather than the exception.

"A competent investigation into collegiate athletics might send a championship trophy to Bedford, Mass. (home of Tufts College)," Phillips said.

SHOOTS RECORD 65

Gene Littler Grabs Gleason Golf Lead

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—Golfers are not known as good early risers, but Gene "the Machine" Littler is one veteran tour pro who didn't mind getting up early at all on Thursday.

Littler teed off at 8:30 a.m. before the wind started to blow and fired a course record 65 to take a two-stroke lead over Bruce Crampton going into today's second round of the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Inverrary Golf Classic, the richest tour event of the year.

Although Littler liked the morning calm, Jack Nicklaus and Lanny Wadkins didn't seem to think it was worth getting up that early.

Nicklaus teed off at 8 a.m. and said later: "I wasn't quite awake yet."

On the second hole, he hooked his drive out of bounds and took a second double bogey—a seven. But then he settled down and finished with a par 73, well in contention for the $52,000 first prize in the 72-hole tournament.

Napa's Ron Cerrudo fired a 72 and is 7 strokes back.

Oakland Manager Williams Angry

COVERING THE BASE — Oakland A's rookie pitcher Jim Panther (42) took a toss from coach Irv Noren during a drill yesterday in the East Bay team's baseball spring training camp in Mesa, Ariz. Infielder Bert Campaneris (19) watched as the pitcher and coach worked on covering first base.

(UPI Telephoto)

Unexcused Absences Draw Ire

MESA, Ariz. (UPI)—The Oakland A's first workout of the spring was a good one but manager Dick Williams was a bit miffed because of several unwarranted absences.

Williams sent his pitching and catching crops threw a three hour drill at Rendezvous Park in the initial workout Thursday and said he was pleased with what he saw for an opening session.

However, the A's skipper was a bit miffed because among those who didn'tmake the first workout were pitchers John (Blue Moon) Odom and Jim Panther.

Holdouts Vida Blue and Darold Knowles, as expected, were not on the scene. Both still are haggling over 1972 contracts. Ken Holtzman, the slim lefthander the A's picked up during the winter from the Chicago Cubs in exchange for outfielder Rock Monday, didn't make it as well, but Williams gave him permission to report late because of illness in his family.

As for Odom, who had an operation on his pitching elbow during the off-season, and Panther, a rookie trying to win a big league job, Williams was mystified.

"I don't know where they are," said Williams, "but I hope they show up soon. Both need as much work as they can get, especially Odom."

Back in Oakland, the A's reported no progress has been made in trying to sign Blue, who won 24 games last year and was voted the American League Cy Young Award and Most Valuable Player honors.

Owner Charlie Finley is in Oakland trying to sign Blue, who is at his mother's home in Mansfield, Ala., and has left word with Finley to do all his talking with Los Angeles attorney Robert Gerst, Vida's agent.

Finley said he will not budge from his "final" offer of $50,000 while Blue and Gerst reportedly are holding out for $85,000.

Boxing Fix Probe Starts

WINNIPEG, Canada (UPI)—A government inquiry was underway today into a claim by Detroit heavyweight Jim Christopher that he threw the bout against Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo Monday because his life had been threatened.

In a signed statement to the Manitoba Boxing Commission, Christopher said a man he could not identify had threatened him in his hotel room just prior to the fight.

"He said if I wanted to get back to Detroit alive, the fight was to be won in two. No hits to the face of George. If you want to get home alive, get the hell out of here," Christopher said.

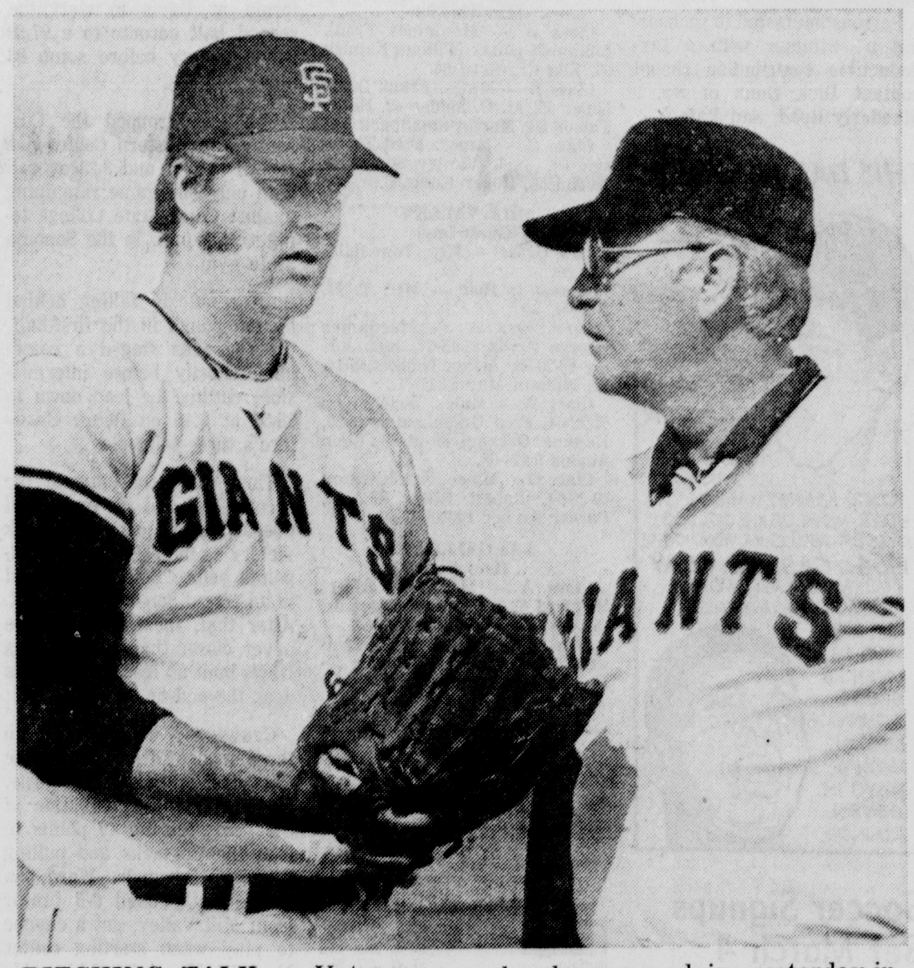

Larry Desjardins, minister responsible for the Manitoba Boxing and Wrestling Commission, received the statement Thursday and ordered an immediate investigation into the four-fight card.

Chuvalo knocked out Christopher at the two-minute mark of the second round with a hard right to the ribs and a solid right to the head. It was the third time in 31 professional fights that Christopher had been stopped.

In the main event, Stewart Gray, 27, of Toronto was sent reeling unconscious to the canvas early in the seventh round of his fight against Canadian light heavyweight champion Al Sparks of Winnipeg. Gray died of head injuries 24 hours later.

The two other preliminary bouts ended in second round knockouts. Nafis Ahmad of Toronto knocked out Sam Poke of Detroit and Mohammad Ali Kamaric of Regina, Canada, knocked out Jessie Fagan, also of Detroit.

"The whole thing could turn out to be quite a mess," Desjardins said. "Referee Steve Trojack suspects another fighter also took a dive on the card." He did not elaborate.

PITCHING TALK — Veteran pitcher Sam McDowell (left) listened intently while San Francisco Giants' baseball manager Charlie Fox gave the tall lefthander some advice yesterday in Casa Grande, Ariz. McDowell is scheduled to be the Giants number two pitcher in the starting rotation behind Juan Marichal.

(UPI Telephoto)

FOX'S BATTING PLAN

Mays Slated To Lead Off

CASA GRANDE, Ariz. (UPI) —The San Francisco Giants' No. 1 batter this year will be Willie Mays, making him the oldest and richest leadoff man in baseball.

Manager Charlie Fox said Thursday that Mays, 40, who has a $165,000 contract this year, will replace Bobby Bonds in the number one slot "at least for the first month or two."

"It is not that Bonds didn't get the job done last year," Fox said. "I've studied Mays' statistics of last year and I feel they fit perfectly the requirements of a leadoff man."

Fox said there might be changes later, but for now, behind Mays, he is thinking of Tito Fuentes hitting second, Dave Kingman third, Willie McCovey fourth, and Bonds fifth.

"We'll give the Mays thing a fair trial," Fox said, "and stay with it if the pressure of hitting behind or in front of McCovey doesn't become too intense."

Mays led off once before with the Giants under former manager Clyde King and didn't like it.

Asked if Mays knew about being the new number one man, Fox said:

"No. But Willie told me last year he'd hit where I thought it would help the team most and I presume that still is his attitude."

Open Skeet Shoot At Hamilton Field

Hamilton Air Force Base's Rod and Gun Club is sponsoring a skeet shoot, open to the public, Saturday and Sunday at 9 a.m. at the club's skeet range off Perimeter Road on the base.

The shoot will feature a round of 50 targets in the .410 gauge shotgun category and 100 targets for 20 gauge shotguns Saturday. Sunday there will be a 100 target round for .12 gauge shotgun shooters.

CARDS SWAP CARLTON FOR WISE

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals today traded pitcher Steve Carlton to the Philadelphia Phillies for righthanded pitcher Rick Wise.

General manager Bing Devine said the deal was a straight one-for-one transaction. Neither player had agreed to contract terms with his former club.

Carlton, a southpaw, had a 20-9 won-lost record last year, the best for the Cards. Wise won 17 and lost 14 in 1971 for the Phillies.

Trio To Play

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Evansville (Ind.), Assumption and Tennessee State have accepted invitations to participate in NCAA College Division regional tournaments March 8-10.

Warriors Decision Detroit

OAKLAND (UPI) —One reason the Golden State Warriors have been winning of late is that they don't lay down and die when they're behind.

Thursday, Golden State shot a cold 28 per cent the first half against Detroit and trailed 55-43.

But they emerged from the intermission a new ball ?lub, hitting 63 per cent as Cazzie Russell scored 20 points in the third period and Jim Barnett, in a clutch performance, came up with 14 in the final quarter to give the Warriors a 116-106 victory.

FISH AND GAME

After Three Years I Get My Revenge

By AL GIDDINGS

Steelhead season closes in tide water areas of Marin County streams Tuesday. At White House Pool in the tide waters of Paper Mill Creek, the fishing has been slow, although a few steelies are being taken each day. Don Zunino of San Rafael took about seven the past two weeks and Leo Clausen of San Anselmo has taken a fish almost every day. Some of the fish are fresh run, some are spent.

I've got to tell you this story and my sweet revenge:

HOWARD SENNER from Bolinas was in Marin General Hospital with me about three years ago when I had a kidney stone. I'll never forget the doctor telling me that he might take the stone out with a "basket catch," the particulars I won't go into. But, so says the doc, "if I can't catch it I should operate, but it's an 80 per cent chance that I'll catch it." The Doc wanted my signature for the operation. I hesitated, then from the other bed comes the voice of Senner who said, "Go ahead, Al, sign up. Eighty per cent; you can't beat those odds." So I signed. The next day when I awoke from the anesthetic, I can feel that I got the 20 per cent deal. I looked over at Senner who is keeping his head buried under a pillow. He said I called him some rough names.

Anyway, now for that revenge! Senner hasn't been too lucky with those White House Pool steelhead, so one day, Clausen catches a fish, cleans it, then decides to hook it to Senner's line. It took some doing to get Senner away from his outfit, but the act was finally accomplished. The fish even though cleaned, was hooked on to his line, then everyone yelled that he was getting a hit. He came running, set the hook, and got some kind of a fight from his fish with the help of the current. Of course, when he saw the cleaned fish, the fun was over. But he took that fish home and told his wife that he finally caught a steelhead. She never did know the story. She does now!

OTHER FISHING news: The salmon fishing is still good. Would you believe that an estimated 10,000 salmon were taken the first day of this year's season? The average per fisherman was 2.75 fish. Almost everyone limited. The statewide catch opening weeked was probably 14,000 fish, or far more than the 11,600 salmon taken in all of February last year.

Another hot fishery is the smelt fishery at the Fort Baker pier. About 200 anglers were catching smelt three at a time last Saturday. They use balloons as floats with a five or six foot leader weighted below the balloon, and two or three baited small hooks attached to the leader. It's a great place for the kids.

THE WINDS AND slight rains the past few days have kept most of the striped bass and sturgeon anglers in. Washington's Birthday is usually a calendar mark which labels the start of good striper and sturgeon fishing off the pumphouse area and the Hamilton Field flats. Try it the next high, outgoing tide and you should connect. Use shrimp, a 4/0 to 6/0 hook and a sliding sinker just light enough to hold the bottom. That should do the trick.

Up at Tomales, off Inverness, my neighbor Marty Medin is taking easy limits of yellow tail and red tailed perch with an occasional striper. He says some steelheads jump around his boat each day while he's fishing. The White House Pool area could get another run with these steelheads still in the bay.

MARIN SKIN Divers will hold their annual trophy dinner Saturday at Rancho Nicasio. Trophies this year are for largest abalone caught. (9⅞ inches by Carl Kohler), largest fish caught with SCUBA (25½ pounds, also by Carl Kohler) and largest fish free diving (Eugene Conway).

Swim Event To Benefit Marin Club

More than 100 youthful members of the Marin Aquatic Club will be taking to high school pools on March 3, not for pleasure, recreation, or even for their customary workout — but rather as part of a national money-raising campaign known as "Swim-a-thon 1972."

Similar in practice to the various "Survival Walks," the Swim-a-thon raises funds for four distinct causes through pledges solicited by swim members of local Amateur Athletic Union swim clubs.

According to Don Swartz, coach of the Marin A.C., each swimmer (ranging in age from 7-18) is attempting to get sponsors to contribute a given amount of money for every lap done by the swimmer in a two-hour period.

Seventy per cent of all money collected goes to the local team: in this area, the Marin Aquatic Club. Swartz said, "Much of the money our club gets will be used to pay expenses for our senior swimmers at the National AAU championships in Dallas in April, and at the Olympic Trials in Chicago in August."

Twenty per cent of the money goes to the International Swimming Hall of Fame, a swimmer-maintained museum and water safety center in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

International teams that go abroad representing the United States in foreign swim competition will receive five per cent of the money, as will the "learn-to-swim" and life saving programs in Marin County.

This is the second Swim-a-thon for the Marin Aquatic Club, which is itself only in its second year of existence following a merger of the San Rafael and Marin Swim Clubs.

Last year, Swartz said, the Swim-a-thon earned $3,000 for the Marin A.C., but he said that with community and swimmer co-operation, $9,000 is a reasonable goal for 1972.

Among the top Marin A.C. swimmers participating in the Swim-a-thon are Rick DeMont, 15-year-old flash who has been setting distance freestyle records in recent weeks, Jo Hislop, Denise Ham, and "as many as 10 national-caliber competitors", according to Swartz.

Persons interested in sponsoring a swimmer with a tax-deductible contribution should contact Dick Dunn of No. 9 Manderly Road, San Rafael.

PALACIO, FAULKNER VIE IN GOLF

San Rafael's Mat Palacio Jr. tees off against Joe Faulkner tomorrow at 8:20 a.m. in the San Francisco City golf championships at Harding Park.

The two will meet in upper bracket of championship flight competition in the Roos/Atkins-sponsored action concluding this weekend.

To qualify for this match, Palacio trimmed Craig Smith, 6-5, while Faulkner topped Dean Prince, one-up.

In the women's championship division, Mrs. Tony (Melinda) Bailey, wife of College of Marin's track coach, will face Helen at Harding Park.

NO GENERATION GAP

A Title For Marin Frosh

In freshman basketball at Marin Catholic, there is no generation gap. There is barely an age gap. The players were winning championships while the coach was still in high school.

It's still somewhat of a mystery precisely who imparted a winning tradition to whom, but somebody must have, because the Marin Catholic High School freshman basketball team recently clinched the Marin County Athletic League championship and carried a 12-2 record into the final game of the season.

The coach, Greg Morasci, is 22 years old and in his first year of coaching. A star at Serra High School and College of San Mateo, he was planning to play his sophomore year for College of Marin, but failed to meet residence requirements and turned to coaching instead.

Three of his cagers were playing on their fifth consecutive championship team, including fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth-grade triumphs at St. Raphael Grammar School. They are Chris McCarthy, Mike Mahoney and Jeff Knotts, vital cogs all.

"Mahoney is the leading scorer, averaging about 15.9 points a game," said varsity coach Dave Gonsalves, smiling, since today's frosh stars are tomorrow's varsity heroes.

"McCarthy is averaging 10.1 and has been getting almost 10 rebounds a game," Gonsalves went on. "Mahoney's rebounding average is 8.4. They're both 6-foot-2 now, and they'll grow."

Knotts and Terry Ahern are the guards. Ahern, alas, did not play for the perennial winners at St. Raphael; he played for St. Isabella's, which always used to finish second.

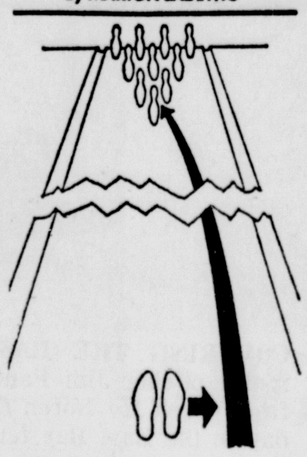

The fifth starter is 6-2 Mike Johnson, and Bob Yetter has been a valuable swing an in reserve.

The Wildcats' toughest competition came from Terra Linda, currently second at 10-4, which was in the race all the way until swamped by Marin Catholic in the rubber game of the triple round robin, 53-35.

It's been an auspicious coaching debut for Morasci, who also coached the undefeated Class C champions last fall. His combined record against league foes is 24-2.

BOWLING TIPS

By MARION LADEWIG

There are few errors in bowling more maddening than finding the pins won't fall because of thin hits. That is, the ball just misses the 1-3 pocket to the right. You keep expecting to get the ball up, but it doesn't happen. Don't wait too long. Move a board to the right for a better angle to the pocket, and you will start scattering the wood.

Sonoma Quintet Smashed

By PAUL DWORIN

The Sonoma State College basketball team must have felt like Londoners during World War II last night, as the Cossacks fell victim to a 14-point blitz by the University of California at Davis to start the second half enroute to a 97-68 Davis victory before some 93 fans.

The loss dropped the Cossacks Far Western Conference record to 0-11 and 3-23 overall with only one game remaining against Chico State College tonight at 8 p.m. in the Sonoma State gym.

After quickly falling behind by ten points in the first-half, the Cossacks staged a comeback shortly before intermission, cutting the lead down to 36-32 at 2:15 on Henry Crawford's three-point play.

Then came the start of the second half and the end to all Cossack hopes of a comeback victory as the Aggies scored 14-points before Bob Ward tipped in an errant Sonoma State shot. After that, the Cossacks were never closer than 12-points, as Davis built up leads of 32-points near the end of the game.

Crawford, who scored on three straight drives during the Cossacks' late first-half surge, played his finest ballgame of the year, scoring 19 points to lead the Cossacks and pulling down 11 rebounds. Ward, an infrequently used 6-5 junior from Mill Valley, got a chance to play when starting center Mark Bucklew injured his ankle early in the game; Ward responded with 16 points and a game-leading 18 rebounds.

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Denny Moyer, describing himself as "just as nervous as a little kid," has departed for Rome and his March 4 world title fight with middleweight champion Carlos Monzon.

Pete Rozelle 'Can't Win' In Duane Thomas Pot Case

NEW YORK (UPI) — Pete Rozelle can't win.

No matter what he decides, no matter what action he takes against Duane Thomas on behalf of the National Football League, he has to come out a loser.

There is no way out for him.

Say he decides to roll up his sleeves and get tough. Say he hangs a one-year suspension on Thomas — or even more. That would be on top of the five-year probation the Dallas Cowboys' running back was placed on by the court this week for possession of marijuana and some people immedaitely would say Pete Rozelle is a sadist, he has no compassion at all.

OTHER WAY

Okay then, say Rozelle goes the other way. Say he decides to have some compassion and imposes merely a token fine or something like that upon Thomas. He'll hear from everybody again. Only this time they'll say he looks more like Bowie Kuhn. They'll say he only tapped Thomas on the wrist for what he did.

Some statesmen believe when you don't know what to do in a tough situation its best to do nothing. Pete Rozelle can't even do that. He has to do something.

The importunations have begun already. From all quarters.

One former University of Texas football star is asking the NFL commissioner to ban permanently all players convicted of drug use as an example to the nation's youth.

R. E. "Peppy" Blount, who played with Bobby Layne at Texas, wrote Rozelle before Thomas pleaded guilty. Blount specifically mentioned Thomas.

"... when the khildren of our neighborhood insist on painting their helmets a cowboy silver and blue stripe down the middle and blue stars on each side and call themselves Duane Thomas, the sport has something more than an ordinary obligation to such fans of young and tender years," Blount wrote Rozelle.

Nobody in the world can quarrel with that. Even Duane Thomas, in the spot he is, could not success ully argue wit what Blount said.

There is no question Rozelle must penalize Thomas in some manner. But what manner? Ah, there's the rub. There's where Pete Rozelle earns some more of that $175,000 he's paid A year.

NO ENVY

"I certainly don't envy him a bit," one NFL coach told me. "I'm just glad I'm not in his position."

It's a rough one.

Rozelle didn't have it nearly as difficult with Paul Hornung and Alex Karras, each of whom he suspended one year for gambling. In their case they violated one of the NFL's consitutional laws. It was right there in the book. Rozelle has no book to go to on this one.

Despite some of the growing clamor in the nation to legalize marijuana, there are still a lot of people against it. Those people include me. I know smoking pot isn't always harmful but that's like saying you don't always get killed falling out the window.

MARIJUANA

I've seen what marijuana can lead to. I've listened to ex-junkies tell me what smoking marijuana can lead to and none of their stories hit you so much as when those who tell them furnish personal illustration.

"See these!" A legless exfighter said to me, pointing to a pair of stumps hanging from his wheelchair. "Hard drugs did this to me. Yeh, hard drugs, but I started on marijuana first.'

IN CORNER

Tom Landry, the coach of the Dallas Cowboys, continues to remain in Duane Thomas's corner although he does not believe in the use of marijuana.

"I think it's wrong," he says. "I feel, that with no more data than we have on it at this point, it should still be banned."

That doesn't mean Landry is abandoning Thomas.

POTENTIAL

"I think he has potential as a person," the Cowboys' coach says about his No. 1 runner. "If I didn't think so I wouldn't put up with him or I wouldn't try to help him as much as I have. Yes, I've spoken with him since he was picked up but not since his probation . You know, no one can really know how a fellow feels with the background that he (Thomas) went through as a youngster. All I'm trying to do is help him. As long as I see the bright spots I'll continue to help him."

Duane Thomas, with all his troubles, is fortunate to have a man like Tom Landry in his corner.

Tom Landry always tries to see the good in other people.

Pete Rozelle isn't that much different. That's what makes it so rough.

PREP LOOP

Petaluma '5' In Playoffs

In a surprising turn of events, the Petaluma School Schhool basketball team, which virtually clinched a top of the Bay Classic spot last week, may face the possibility of ending its season next Monday night before the "classic" even begins.

Last night, a committee of North Bay League high school principals and athletic directors decided, in a 6-2 vote, to determine the league's representatives to the "Classic" in a round-robin tournament between Petaluma, Napa High School and Vallejo High School which all finished with 9-3 league records, barring any upsets tonight, at Hogan High School of Vallejo and Ukiah High School.

The first place logjam was created Tuesday when Petaluma was upset by hot-shooting Santa Rosa High School, while Napa surprises Vallejo.

By virtue of having its name picked out of a hat, Petaluma will play the loser of Saturday night's Napa-Vallejo game at Solano Junior College on Monday night in the Sonoma State College in Rohnert Park.

Petaluma High School Principal Gerald Dadey, who was denied the right to make a proposal, was extremely upset over the decision, and commented: "I'd like to say that in athletics all over the country, — and I've coached at both the college and high school levels, — 90 per cent of all tournaments have seeded teams according to their won-lost record. In this particular situation, with a three-way tie for first and only two spots in the Top of the Bay, Petaluma should have been seeded because it defeated Napa and Vallejo three out of four times this year in league play. The other seeding should have been determined by a play-off game between Napa and Vallejo."

For the season, Petaluma had a record of 20-5, Napa produced a 20-6 mark and Vallejo went 15-8. "If you examine the comparative records, Petaluma couldn't be left out," said Dadey.

Ralph Neely Ends Brief Retirement

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

DALLAS — Offensive Tackle Ralph Neely, who missed the final six games of the Dallas Cowboys' regular schedule and the playoffs through the Super Bowl because of a broken leg in a motorcycle mishap, has changed his mind about retiring.

"I had planned to go into the investment banking business in London," Neely said yesterday, "but with the dollar freeze and what happened to the dollar abroad, it din't exactly work out.

"I'll definitely be back (with the Cowboys). As it stands now, I can still work for the guy in London and continue to play football."

Track

NEW YORK — Speed in the sprint events will be the hallmark as the Amateur Athletic Union track and field championships open tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Top performers include Ron Mulburn, world outdoor record holder in the 120-yard high hurdles (13.0 seconds); Dr. Delano Meriwether, a 9.1 man in the 100-yard dash; Herb Washington, the world's best in the indoor 60 (5.8); and other notables.

Boxing

COPENHAGEN — World middleweight champion Carlos Monzon of Argentina has agreed to meet Denmark's Tom Bogs in a title fight Aug. 19, Danish promoter Mogens Palle said last night.

Ski Safety Probe Proposed In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Charles Warren, D-Los Angeles, wants the state to conduct an investigation into ski safety.

He told the Assembly Rules Committee Thursday that the Division of Industrial Safety has only one employee working parttime to make safety inspections of the state's 350 ski lifts. He asked for additional funds to assure "the safety of the public at large."

Warren, who has skied for 20 years, also wants studies made that will lead to establishment of minimum skill standards for lift attendants.

Fencing Meet Set In Sonoma

Sonoma State College will host the Northern California Intercollegiate Fencing Association Team Championships in foil tomorrow starting at 9 a.m. in the campus gym.

Fourteen colleges will be competing, among which are last year's champions, the favorites San Francisco State; Cal Poly San Luis Obispo; City College of San Francisco and Sonoma State.

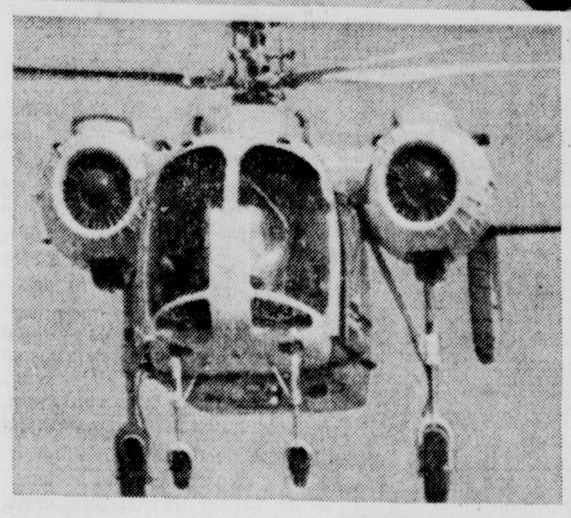

Each school will be represented by three fencers and one alternate in each division who will fence in round-robin competion against two other teams in the preliminary round. In each of the first two rounds, one school will be eliminated from each group with the winners advancing to the next round. The preliminary round will be held in the morning, the semi-final in the afternoon and the final round in the evening, ending around 9 p.m.

Last year, Sonoma State finished ninth in the tournament, but Cossack Coach Bill Gary said "I'm pretty optimistic about this year. We moved from ninth place last year to sixth place in this year's practice tourney and I wouldn't be surprised if we took fourth."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Preferreds Offer Some Good Income

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Could you explain the advantages, if indeed there are any, of investing in preferred rather than common stock? — P.J.

A. Preferred issues — other than convertibles — are income holdings and as such their market action reflects money rates in the manner of bonds and many utility issues. However unlike bonds there is no guarantee that capital will eventually be returned. Common stocks and convertible preferreds on the other hand usually reflect the fortunes of the company whose equity they represent and for that reason have the potential for appreciation or the reverse.

Straight preferred stocks generally enjoy greater dividend security than do common stocks, athough there is no guarantee. While this affords income protection in economic downswings, when business conditions improve the preferred dividend rate remains static. A common shareholder, however, may anticipate periodic dividend increases on rising earnings. Preferred shares are often subject to call. Thus, terms and conditions for redemption should be checked prior to purchase. For the income investor the high — 7 per cent — return available in top quality preferred stocks may overshadow the disadvantages of this investment vehicle.

Q. I am looking for a stock I can hold and add to over the years. I would prefer one selling at a low price but very stable. Dividends are not as important as growth. How do you feel about Ramada Inns? — R.K.

A. Ramada (NYSE) has an established six-year growth record and is now working on number seven. Company is expected to report record-high results for 1971 with sales approaching $106 million versus 1970's $88.6 million and net per share reaching 50 to 55 cents.

While additional good gains are expected for the near future, the price of Ramada shares may be discounting this. The stock is presently selling at all-time high levels quoted at almost 40x 1971's earnings estimates. Mobile Oil or Standard Oil of California — which are both selling at under 10x — offer growth and are very reasonably priced at this juncture.

WEEK'S BUSINESS

Seattle Firm To Be Purchased

An agreement has been reached by Standard Brands Paint Co., which recently opened a store in San Rafael, to purchase for an as-yet undetermined number of shares of its common stock, the assets of Wax and Raines, a Seattle based firm.

Wax and Raines is engaged in selling paint, carpeting and decorating supplies through four retail outlets in Washington.

The acquisition, which is subject to a definitive agreement and the approval of regulatory agencies, is not expected to have any material short term effect on the earnings of Standard Brands.

PACIFIC COAST HOLDINGS, INC., parent company of Bell Savings and Loan Association, has reported a 150-per cent increase in net income for the year ended Dec. 31. Earnings totaled $509,377, compared to $202,945 for 1970. Total operating revenues rose to $7.7 million from $6.6 million for the prior year.

PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC CO. directors have authorized the sale of two million shares of the company's $25 par value redeemable first preferred stock, probably to be offered to the public on March 23. It will be underwritten by a group headed by Dean Witter and Co., Inc. and Blyth and Co., Inc.

J. C. PENNEY CO., INC. reported an 18.9 per cent gain in net income for the 1971 fiscal year on the basis of preliminary and unaudited figures. For the 52 weeks ended Jan. 29 record earnings totaled $135.7 million against $114.1 million for the prior year — amounting to primary net income of $2.46 per share as compared with $2.14 in 1970.

DILLINGHAM CORP. operating earnings for the year ended Dec. 31 were $3.1 million or 18 cents per common share, compared with a loss of $5.1 million in 1970. Revenues were down from $552 million to $527 million.

FAIRCHILD CAMERA AND INSTRUMENT CORP. (parent company of Fairchild Semiconductor), has reported a 1971 loss of $7.8 million or $1.79 per common share on sales of $193 million. For the preceding year the company reported a loss of $19.3 million or $4.40 per share on sales of $219.1 million.

UTAH INTERNATIONAL INC. earned $7.9 million in its first fiscal quarter ended Jan. 31, down 6.7 per cent from earnings of $8.4 million for the record first quarter of 1971. On a fully diluted basis, per share earnings for the quarter were 55 cents as compared with 58 cents from the same period in 1971.

THE EMPORIUM has announced the appointment of William Chleboun to store manager of its downtown San Francisco store, which restructures the organization there on a centralized basis similar to a suburban store. He was formerly store manager at Stonestown and also in Santa Rosa.

FIRST SIERRA CORP., investment advisor to First Sierra Fund, has moved its corporate headquarter offices from San Francisco to Minneapolis. The San Francisco office will be retained for West Coast business purposes.

SONOMA INTERNATIONAL, San Francisco, has reported sales for the six months ended Dec. 31 at $543,989 and earnings of $128,237. For the first half a year ago Sonoma earned $8,048 on sales of $308,628.

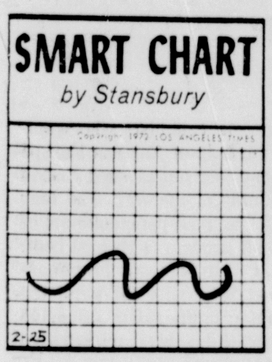

AMERICAN AIRLINES, INC. reported a net loss of $1,991,000 or seven cents a share for the month of January, compared with a net loss of $7,095,000, or 35 cents per share for the first month of 1971. Revenues totaled $107.3 million, an increase of 20 per cent last January.

Wall Street Opens On Optimistic Note

NEW YORK (UPI) —Spurred by news developments, the stock market moved higher today. Trading on the New York Stock Exchange was fairly active.

The Labor Department reported the wholesale price index, on an adjusted basis, moved up 0.4 per cent in January, down from the 0.7 per cent increase in December. On an unadjusted basis, the index increased 0.8 per cent in both months.

Steels, motors, chemicals, oils, rails, airlines and aircrafts were mixed. Aside from Dupont, Eastman Kodak stood out in the chemicals, up 1. Superior Oil gained 3 3-4, Natomas 1 1-4.

Prices also were higher on the American Stock Exchange in fairly active trading. Consolidated Oil and Gas was the most active issue, up 3-8 at 7 5-8 on 46,400 shares.

Copper stocks showed strength. Copper Range rose 2 7-8, Phelps Dodge 2, Inspiration Consolidated 1 7-8 and Anaconda 1 3-4. Anaconda, Phelps Dodge and Inspiration-Consolidated have raised copper prices.

Vancouver Firm Has Earning Hike

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BW) — Macmillan Bloedel Ltd. has reported sales and other income for 1971 of $710,246,346 compared with $651,101,304 in 1970.

Net earnings for the full year were $25,469,025 or $1.22 per share compared with $17,425,816 or 83 cents per share in 1970. Net earnings for 1971 included extraordinary items of $3,440,041.

6-Month Earnings

ANAHEIM (BW) — California Computer Products Inc. reported a 22 per cent increase in earnings and a 29 per cent increase in revenues for the six months ended Jan. 2.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

The Case Of The Long-Term Capital Loss And How To Report

Did you have a 1969 net long-term capital loss carryover to deduct on your 1970 and subsequent years tax returns?

If you did and this amounted to $1,000 or more you may have only deducted $500 for 1970 or you may have merged this into your 1970 gains and losses.

If you did, now is the time to review your 1970 income tax return to see if you should file a refund claim.

Long term capital losses prior to 1970 must be deducted first against ordinary income for 1970 in an amount equal to 1970 income or the amount of the loss, or $1,000 whichever is the smaller.

These prior to 1970 losses are deducted before any 1970 losses are deducted so that if you had a net long term loss carryover from 1969 and you also had a net long term loss in 1970, you would deduct the 1969 loss and carry the balance over to 1971 if it was more than $1,000 or the taxable income or the amount of the loss, and you would deduct this before you deducted any 1970 loss.

Also, this loss can be deducted dollar for dollar instead of only $1 of deduction for every $2 of loss as applies to 1970 and subsequent years losses.

This was not shown on the instructions any place so no doubt many people filed returns and did not claim all the losses they were entitled to.

The Treasury has issued Revenue Ruling 71-195 which was previously released as a News Release No. IR-1122, dated April 6, 1971.

This release was probably too late to be of any help to most people filing their 1970 returns.

If you had 1969 long term capital losses which you deducted on your 1970 return, take a good hard look at them in the light of this Revenue Ruling and if you have a refund coming, file amended Form 1040X or a claim Form 843.

Some Good Questions To Ask Candidates

John W. Gardner, chairman of Common Cause, made an unusual and appealing proposal in his address to that organization's recent membership meeting. "I call upon all presidential candidates," he said, "to make public by March 31 the names of those whom they will consider for vice president."

This, he said, would allow voters, media and party convention delegates to weigh the records and views of these whom the various aspirants for the presidency might choose for running mates. It would help weight the decision on selection of a presidential nominee, and help assure that the vice presidential condidate would not be selected by the "buddy system" in somebody's hotel room.

We doubt that many of the would-be presidential candidates will take up Gardner's challenge, even though it comes from such a forum as Common Cause, which has shown it has political know-how and muscle and can make things uncomfortable for politicians who ignore it. But we wish they would. Our manner of choosing vice presidential candidates certainly leaves much to be desired.

GARDNER HAD SOME other suggestions regarding the upcoming election campaigns that the big majority of citizens — whether or not they belong or subscribe to Common Cause — could well follow.

Commenting on the inadequacies of the recently passed campaign expenditures law, he asked:

"Why should a candidate not be expected (and prepared) to state publicly at any time who his chief financial backers are, how much he has received from them, and the total amount he and committees supporting him have received since the first gift came in?"

It's a good question. We ought to ask the candidates. And we ought not to accept as an answer that they don't know. If they don't, they should find out.

"THE CANDIDATE," continued Gardner, "should say whether he will support controls on lobbies that will enable the public to know precisely what special interest is spending how many dollars for what purpose."

We go along with that. And we agree with Gardner that the present federal lobbying control statute "is a sham and a fraud." The state law is not too much better, either.

Gardner also urged that the candidate "should say whether he will demand an end to the kind of conflict of interest in which a public official has a personal financial stake in the very matters on which he is legislating."

THAT GETS RIGHT down to the nitty-gritty, as the saying is. We have had a financial disclosure law thrown out in California. But whether or not it is required by law, the candidate for public office has a duty to lay bare his financial interests — so the public can consider whether his official actions may be influenced by the sources of his non-governmental income.

Let's try asking the candidates such questions. Sure, it will embarrass them. But it could result in getting better government at less cost. We need that.

Biennial Legislature Looks Very Good In Retrospect

By EARL G. WATERS

Although there is no strong sentiment among legislators for a return to biennial sessions, the shortcomings of the annual sessions make such a change worthy of serious study.

The advantages of a Legislature meeting only every two years would seem to outweigh other considerations.

TO BEGIN WITH, it would set a better climate for business by lending some assurance that laws would remain stable for at least two years.

It would also greatly benefit the public by permitting the focus of attention on matters under consideration. As it is now, with the annual sessions, measures introduced at the start of the year drag along in such a manner the public cannot maintain vigilance. Even when proposals have been killed, they have a way of being reincarnated in the same session. With the sessions now extending the entire year, even the failures of one session are right back in the hopper the next month at the start of the new session.

Meeting only every two years, the Legislators would approach the sessions with a different attitude than now displayed. The annual meetings have become a bore to many. There is a lackadaisical attitude. If it can't be done today there is always tomorrow. This is evident in the growth of absenteeism in both sessions and committees.

WHEN THE LEGISLATURE met for only six months and was away for 18 months, members arrived with enthusiasm. They were faithful in attendance. Sessions were marked by spirited debates. Committee hearings were well attended by the members and the public.

Working under the pressure of a session scheduled to last only six months, the members buckled down to business. They not only met every weekday, but often on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. They held night committee meetings to avoid conflict with the sessions.

And, odd as it may seem to those who were not around in those days, bills generally received more consideration than is now given under the annual session program.

One of the reasons was that the committees were not burdened with reviewing so many defeated proposals. And since each session brought in new members, the measures were new material to them even when they were replays. Today, almost every defeated bill is right back in the hopper the next year. And the retread bills must be given the same process as brand new ideas and must be scheduled for committee hearings.

MORE IMPORTANT, the biennial sessions permitted almost 18 months for interim studies. This process saved many hours of hearings during regular sessions since the spade work had been done and conflicting ideas had been ironed out.

It has been suggested that the members will never approve a return to biennial sessions because they would lose out on the daily expenses now paid almost year around.

This is shortsighted and need not be the case. If the time between sessions were spent on interim studies, expenses would still be paid.

President Knows Where He Is Going

At sight of the picture of President and Mrs. Nixon and Premier Chou En-Lai standing at attention while the national anthems of their two countries were being played, a sudden and unexpected feeling of pride overcame me. The tears rolled.

All this after the long, barren period over some years past while our country seemed not to be getting anywhere in particular. As for Mr. Nixon, I've always been "for" him because he appeared to be "the best of the lot." Now, however, he carries a light. I believe he knows where he is going. A proven leader of men!

Council Members Too Long In Office

My personal opinion was expressed by Dr. Lifschiz in his letter ("Readers Say," Feb. 22) regarding the San Rafael City Council action on signs for Montecito Shopping Center.

The city taxpayers paid public servants several thousands dollars in addition to many hundred man-hours to come up with a proper and fair sign ordinance, and then Councilmen Jensen, Barbier, Bettini completely ignored not only the ordinance but thorough study and recommendation from its own planning commission.

After watching several errors made by San Rafael Council, not only in the above matter, but how they handled the sale of Francisco Boulevard property, the courthouse square, poor relocation corporation yard, to mention but a few, I as a taxpayer and concerned citizen feel these individuals have been on the council too long, they have shown lack of imagination, creativity and above all they lack the interest toward their people they represent. I'm for a change in personnel and will work toward this end when time comes.

Hike For Help Will Assist Many Agencies

The Marin County Hike for Help, Sunday, Feb. 27, will aid more than 10 local agencies and directly aid more than 2,000 people.

It is a positive effort on the part of approximately 5,000 young students, thus effectively belying the myth of "irresponsible youth".

The Hike for Help is a venture which deserves the support of all Marin County citizens.

Too Much Noise In Novato Library

I am writing in regard to the condition of the Novato Public Library. It seems absurd to have to bring up the question of quietness when speaking of a library, but that is exactly what has been puzzling me since the opening of our library. Being a young college student, I often try to escape the common sounds of our environment (people laughing and talking, dogs barking, noisy automobiles, etc.) so that I can concentrate and study. Where is a better place than the library? At least this was my impression unti I settled down to begin my studies one evening. Yes, here in our brand-new, carpeted library there were children running and laughing, teen-agers socializing out loud, and all with the librarian at hand. The same thing has happened each time I have visited this library. I realize that this library gives off much more casual vibrations than the one before in Tresch Triangle, and the one before that on Grant Avenue, and I realize that librarians aren't the strict, "hair-in-a-bun" type anymore, but is the quiet library forever lost too?

Much money was spent building this beautiful structure with its ample collection of books. It certainly would be a waste if the structure were not used advantageously. I am sure there are others who would like the "old-fashioned" quiet atmosphere to remain in our new library and I hope it doesn't take a "Keep Our Library Quiet" campaign to obtain it.

Real Constitutional Issue Lies Beneath Furor Over Busing

(Reprinted from Wall Street Journal)

In principle we find much to be said for a constitutional amendment outlawing the use of racial quotas in schools and elsewhere, and in the end that step may yet prove necessary. Yet we are given pause by the timing of, and in some cases the spirit behind, the antibusing amendments now offered in Congress.

President Nixon apparently has pledged to put the administration's weight behind the movement against busing to achieve racial balance, and is now considering whether a constitutional amendment is the best method of doing so. Alternatives include supporting antibusing legislation or directing the Justice Department to intervene in court suits on behalf of the anti-busing position.

We find it hard to fault the administration for wanting to do something to recognize the growing public opposition to busing for racial balance.

THE REALISTIC WAY to frame the problem is not in terms of stopping the reaction against busing, an impossible task, but in terms of channeling it in reasonably healthy directions. This means that if the administration is to take an anti-busing initiative, the important thing is to shape it in a way that is intellectually and morally respectable.

Among the distinctions this requires is a sense of what is constitutional timber and what is not. The mechanics of busing or attendance zones or school financing, these are not matters a sensible nation deals with through constitutional amendments. But underneath the "busing" debate, and underneath the court decisions requiring busing, there is an issue of truly constitutional sweep: whether government policy ought to be colorblind, or ought to require some form of racial quota.

ON THIS ISSUE the high ground belongs, at least as a matter of logic, to the "anti-busing" side. Certainly the higher ideal is a state where pluralistic racial and ethnic groups coexist under a law that takes no formal notice of their differences. Far higher than the "ideal" of a state that parcels out members of a racial group by quotas, with the ultimate implication that the misery of their company must be spread.

Clearly it is the pluralistic-colorblind state that we should ultimately be trying to create. That's why it's possible to conceive of an entirely respectable "anti-busing" position. That is also why, if the courts actually do follow the recent drift of their logic to the conclusion that the Constitution requires at least loose racial quotas, it's possible to conceive of a constitutional amendment writing the colorblind position into the highest law.

Amnesty For Draft Evaders Will Come — But In What Form?

WASHINGTON — There will be amnesty for the Vietnam deserters and draft dodgers soon after the U.S. involvement in the war is over.

There should be. There always has been — after every major conflict in American history.

Today there are about 75,000 young men who are either in jail or in exile abroad because they refused for one reason or another to fight. They would face a sentence of five years in jail and a fine of $10,000 if they returned under present circumstances.

A majority in Congress favors amnesty. So does President Nixon, who recently cited Abraham Lincoln's act just before his assassination giving amnesty to anyone who had deserted during the Civil War if he rejoined his unit and served out his period of time.

The only question today is not whether there will be a Vietnam amnesty but what form it will take.

THERE ARE THREE kinds of amnesty which are possible and each has its advocates:

1 — Total absolution without any qualification or condition for all deserters or violators of the draft law whether in jail, at large or in exile.

Such broad amnesty has considerable support among the presidential candidates. Sen. George McGovern makes it a plank of his nomination platform. Recently a group of 650 Protestants, Roman Catholics and Jews, called Ecumenical Witness, came out for this kind of amnesty.

2 — Conditional amnesty. This is what Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, and Rep. Edward I. Koch, D-N.Y., propose — amnesty to all those who would accept three years either in military or nonmilitary national service such as the Peace Corps, veterans' hospitals and the like.

This would be more generous amnesty than Lincoln provided after the Civil War.

3 — Finally, there is a special kind of amnesty-in-reverse advocated by the more militant draft avoiders now living in Canada and elsewhere. They hold — and perhaps you have listened to them on television news shows as I have — they don't need amnesty, should not be insulted by being given amnesty, and wouldn't accept it. Their view is that they should be rewarded for having resisted an "immoral" draft law and that those who "immorally" yielded to it and served in Vietnam should be deemed war criminals and brought to trial.

THERE IS NO WAY as yet to know the extent to which these militants speak for other draft escapees abroad. But their view will not have much, if any, support in Congress.

The controversy will come over whether there should be unconditional or conditional amnesty. In Congress and in the country there will be an emotional instinct to "forgive everything" when the war is over. This is a worthy instinct and it comports with the verse and psalm which commend "gracious" and "full compassion."

But it is presently uncertain whether Congress will want to endorse the precedent that citizens can decide which laws they want to abide by and which to evade with impunity.

This is why the Taft-Koch bill, which requires some service to the nation in return for a complete erasing of all draft offenses, is winning widespread backing.

It seems to me that sincere draft avoiders should welcome a period of humanitarian, nonmilitary service to help build the better America they proclaim to be their goal.

Russians Within Kremlin Walls Turn Fortress Mentality East

MOSCOW — It was quiet in the predawn here in Moscow when Mr. Nixon's entourage touched down far to the east in Peking. The offices in the Kremlin were dark. The soft floodlights below the high yellow walls gave the fortress the aspect of strength worn but enduring, as if it would stand yet another 600 years. In that light, at that hour without the bustling traffic of daytime, it has a patient look remindful of the stoicism of the Russian people, celebrated in national songs and poems.

The fortress mentality is deep in Russia, long predating the offensive doctrine that followed the revolution. The word Kremlin means fortress, and the one beside the Moskva River is only the most famous in the country. At Yaroslavl, Smolensk, dozens of other ancient Russian cities, the centerpiece is another Kremlin. They face in all directions from the center, ready to defend against tribes that threatened from Sweden, then from Poland, Turkestan, eventually from France and Germany. And Russian, and later Soviet foreign policy has been like that, sometimes sounding bombastic in its stated designs on the rest of the world, but most serious, thus credible when swearing defense of the motherland.

NEARLY 10 YEARS AGO when Khrushchev put his offensive missiles into Cuba, Mr. Nixon was an out-of-work politician trying unsuccessfully to become governor of California. The breach between China and the Soviet Union was just beginning to open. The main enemy here, attacked day in and day out those 17 years after World War II ended, was still Nazi Germany.

Never mind that the Nazis were no longer in power — their heirs, by local description, were revanchists who wanted to redraw the map of Eastern Europe the Russians had laid out at such cost in the closing months of the war. The fear was real — all the most populous part of great Russia had known the Fascist boot. It required very little domestic propaganda to keep that fear alive. It persisted while the clumsy, halfhearted, offensive experiment in Cuba was withdrawn quickly under pressure.

That offensive potential is still here and growing, but when it is tested it is because dogma dictates that it should be. The defensive creed, however, is not out of a book, no matter how sacred. It is inborn.

YET, WITHIN that broad truth, things change. This week the chancellor of West Germany is on the list of highly approved world statesmen here. Transportation officials have just lifted a toast to new twice-a-week commercial flights between Moscow and Frankfurt. There has been a Four Power agreement on Berlin. Treaties are in the works between Bonn and both Moscow and Warsaw. The geographical facts have not changed. The broad invasion corridor from Germany still lies short and flat through Poland. But from the triangular Kremlin fortress, eyes now turn in the other direction.

Off to the east, beyond the estimated million Russian troops garrisoning the Chinese border, Mr. Nixon is having tea and conversation with the man who has replaced Hitler as the most frequently excoriated villain in the flexible folklore of official Moscow. His visit would not have been watched live on television here if it had been on local prime time instead of while the capital was sleeping. That it was shown some 17 hours later surprised many of us. Most of what the Russian people know about it is told in tones very much like those used to revile the Germans in the recent past.

The crimes in Indochina are being committed with the factual connivance of Peking, the radio says. It suggests that the United States and China are concocting a deal directed toward the split of the international Communist and workers movement and the national liberation movement of the nations.

FOR THE MOMENT, the forthcoming Moscow visit of Mr. Nixon, who was snubbed by the Kremlin's leaders when he came here as an out-of-work politician, is not yet being dinned into the Russian people. As that event approaches, describing it positively will demand yet another exertion of the history rewriters so gainfully employed here. And when and if that turn in the official line takes place, its authors will be skillful indeed if they can give it the ring of sincerity that is heard in the protests against the alleged Chinese-American plot being laid in Peking.

So the arrangements are made with the erstwhile villains in Rome, and trade accommodations with Japan grow in volume, and the mat will be out to talk with Mr. Nixon, now that he has a job again and especially now that he has been in Peking. That alone may be what made the leadership receptive to the American President after so many earlier summit suggestions from him and his predecessors were shunted aside. The fact of China underlies everything.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By GEORGE NEVIN

This Credibility Gap Didn't Wait Until After Election

If newsmen and politicians often seem at odds, it's because their ends frequently don't coincide.

The politician seemingly has a dual aim, to reach goals he thinks worthwhile and to make himself look as good as possible.

The newsman, on the other hand, is looking for stories, both to inform the public and, once again, to make himself and his newspaper look good.

The two lock horns when the politician knows or does something he doesn't want publicized and the newsman goes snooping for a story.

AS A CASE in point, consider the candidacy of Allan N. Littman, who is running for the Tiburon City Council.

As early as last November, when the Tiburon City Council approved a 112-unit moderate income housing project at the Hilarita site, rumors flew that Hilarita opponents would run one or more council candidates who, if elected, would attempt to overturn the project's approval.

Two men, Littman and Herbert E. Wenig, both residents of Rolling Hills, which lies above the Hilarita sites, and both vehement opponents of the project, were asked if they knew anyone in their neighborhood who was going to run for council. They said no.

They also were asked about rumors that Rolling Hills residents planned to file suit to halt the Hilarita project. Once again, they said no.

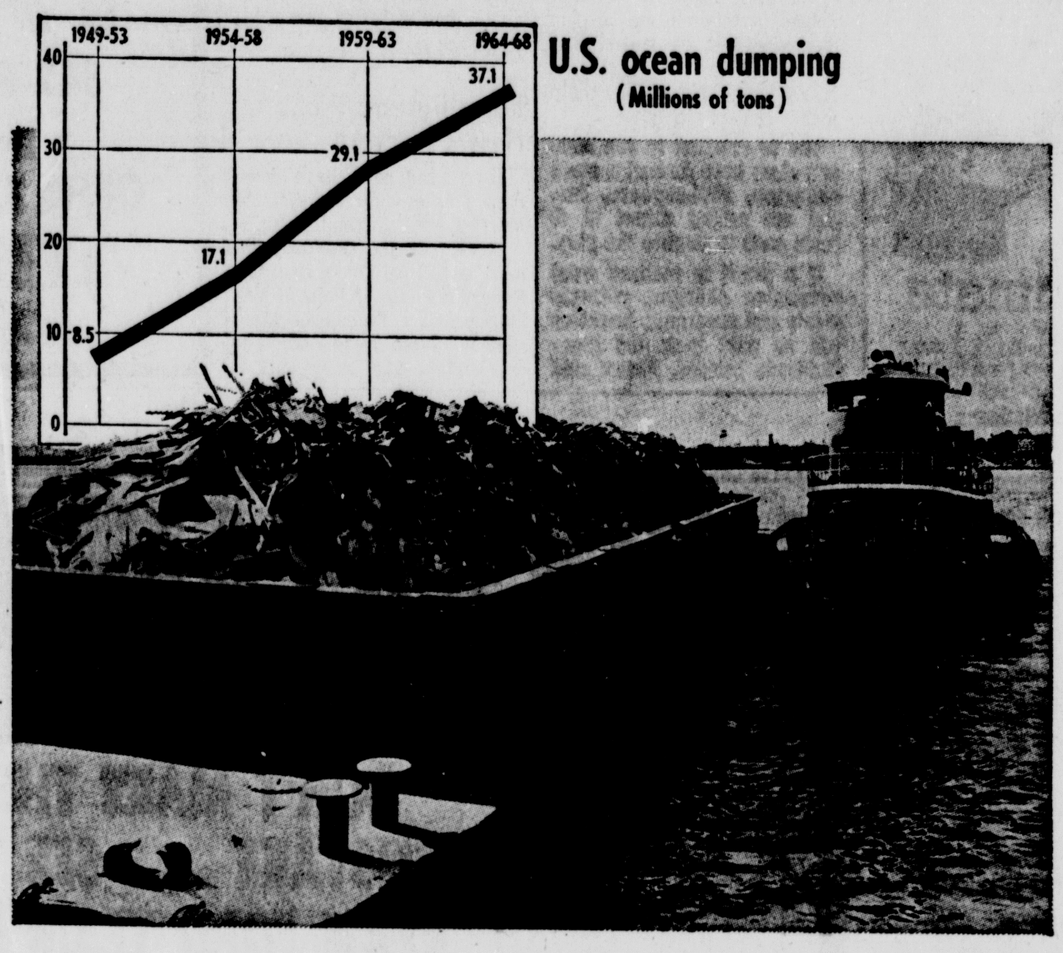

EARLY IN JANUARY, this reporter again approached Littman and Wenig about a Rolling Hills candidate and both again denied knowledge of such, though Littman said an announcement of the subject would be made when filing opened.

Lo and behold! Who turned out to be the Rolling Hills candidate but Littman himself!

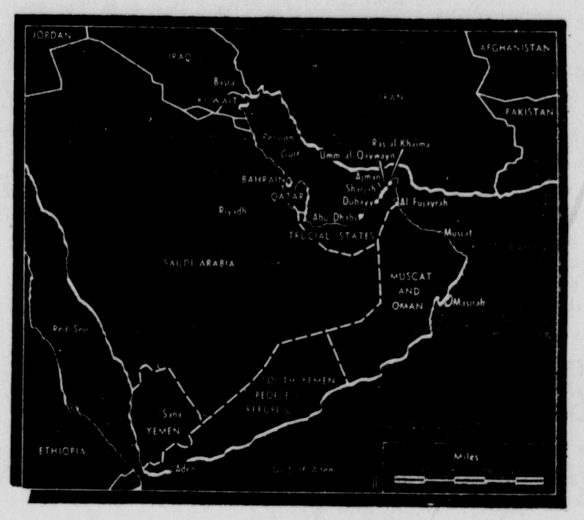

City hall observers —those who follow council campaigns closely — say Littman began planning his campaign as early as December, and was definitely in the running even while he was denying it.

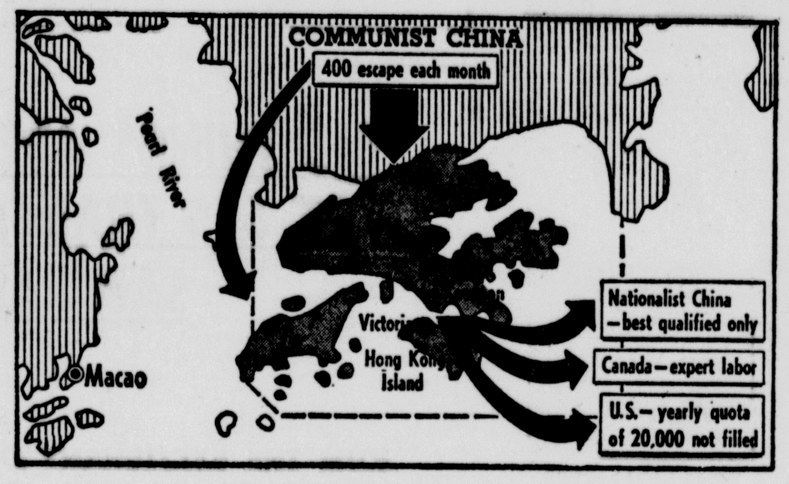

And on Feb. 1, Wenig and six others —with Littman conspicuously absent —sued to halt Hilarita, an action also apparently in the works for months but kept under wraps for maximum impact.

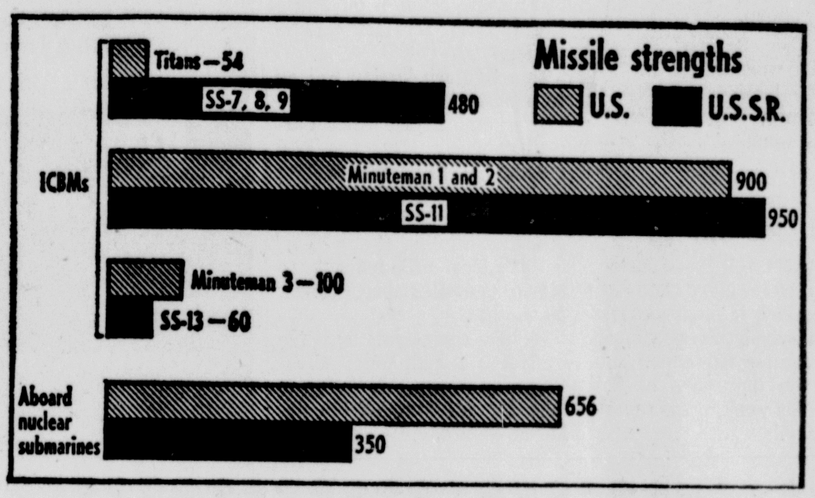

THE POINT IS that Littman evidently knew both about his own candidacy and the Hilarita suit long before they were announced but chose to keep quiet, denying their existence.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Some Taxing Practices Should Apply To All Property Owners

In this column on the 11th of this month, I wrote, "I believe there should be a careful calculation of just what the impact would be on the homeowners before this board of supervisors tries to have legislation passed which would lower the years of grace on delinquent taxes from five years to two.

"Board Chairman Arrigoni was quoted as saying, 'Nowadays large land owners are stalling their tax payments and using the money for other purposes more cheaply than they could borrow the same amount of capital'. There are certainly more homeowners than there are large land owners."

THOSE OF YOU who read the letters to the editor probably noted that a lady said this indicated a misunderstanding on my part. She said that this would apply only to large landowners and not to homeowners, that homeowners would still be allowed the five years.

It has always been my understanding that all properties should be assessed and taxed in the same manner. I think we should be supplied by the lady with language of the proposed legislation and also a legal opinion as to the validity of the proposal to separate types of property for taxing purposes.

NOW, A FURTHER WORD about the increased cost of the present county medical-health set up for the seven months ending Jan. 31, '72 as compared with the preceding seven months (before putting the entire operation under one man.)

If they should get all the revenues they are depending on, the past seven months would still be costing you over a quarter of a million dollars more than before they ordered the grand manner of operating. Yes, the board's face should be red.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT in the I-J that Supervisor Michael Wornum would seek a second term had an illuminating couple of paragraphs: "He teaches at the University of California at Berkeley and is an associate in a city planning consulting firm," and:

"Besides being supervisor, he is a commissioner on the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, a director of the Golden Gate Bridge District, and a member of the Association of Bay Area Governments Committee on Solid Waste Disposal."

If he continues with the same appointments by the board of supervisors in event of his re-election, it will mean a nice little kitty of 17,400 for that part of his activity.

Naturally with all that no man would have time available to get first-hand knowledge of the departments — his first and fundamental obligation. This is one of the reasons you are loaded with the expensive administration costs that now prevails.

A personal word, if you will: I haven't been able to write and answer and thank you folks for your kindness in sending me the pile of holiday cards and letters. You were wonderful. Please know how grateful I am.

Alien Law Is Unconstitutional

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A new state law which penalizes employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens was declared unconstitutional Thursday by a Superior Rourt judge who said the law lacks guidelines.

Judge Charles Church issued a permanent injunction barring state authorities from enforcing the statute, a section of the State Labor Code, which would have become effective March 4.

The jurist said the law imposes an unreasonable burden on employers because it provides no guidelines to aid them in determining who are aliens entitled to live in the United States and who are not.

Cranston Helped In Housing Plea

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., says 13 other senators —including four Republicans —have joined him in an appeal to President Nixon to free $3 million for housing for migrant farm workers.

The release of the funds, frozen by White House budget officials, was requested in a letter to the president Thursday.

Western senators joining in the appeal were John V. Tunney, D-Calif.; Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore.

Senate Committee Approves Kleindienst

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Judiciary Committee today unanimously approved President Nixon's nomination of Richard G. Kleindienst to succeed John N. Mitchell as attorney general. Senate confirmation appears certain.

The committee chairman, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said he expected the nomination to be reported to the Senate floor "next Tuesday or Wednesday." It then would be up to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield when the nomination would be voted on.

Insanity Plea In Shootings

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A 21-year-old unemployed janitor who said he shot two policemen because he was "against the system" pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity Thursday on murder and assault charges.

Junious Poole allegedly pulled his car to the side of the street in the Mission District last month and opened fire on two patrolmen.

Sgt. Code Beverly, 32, was critically wounded in the gunfire and later died at a hospital. His partner, James J. Bailey, 30, was wounded in the abdomen.

Slides Kill 14

JAKARTA (UPI) —Fourteen persons were killed and five were missing in landslides and floods which struck two villages in the remote Kintamuni subdistrict on the island of Bali earlier this week, press reports said today.

Scholarships Being Offered

Marin high school seniors who are children or grandchildren of members of several Marin County labor organizations are eligible to compete for four college scholarships totalling $2,750, according to C. E. Murfin, chairman of the Marin County Labor Scholarship Committee.

One $750 scholarship will go to a student related to a one-time member of former Carpenters Local 1710; two $750 scholarships to kin of members of Carpenter's Local 35 or Millman's Local 2095, and a $500 scholarship to kin of any member of a local affiliated with the Marin Central Labor Council, Murfin said.

Eligible contestants must file by March 20 with Murfin at 544 Browning Street, Mill Valley, to take the examination the following Saturday, he said.

Shakespeare Play Set By Fifth Graders

The fifth grade at Bel Aire School in Tiburon will present Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at 7:30 p.m. March 23 at the school's multi media center.

The 28 children in Jon Huber's class have formed a stock company, Shakespeare, Inc. and are selling shares at 40 cents each to finance the play.

If a profit is realized from admission charges, refreshments and programs, investors will be paid back and given dividends besides. Huber said investors in last year's play received a 7-cent return on each share. So far, 326 shares have been sold this year.

Huber will direct the play and each of the 28 children in his class will participate, either as a cast member or as part of the stage crew.

Farm Bureau Picks New Directors
